Set 2 Meetings

Take First Steps on Sewer Referendum

The first steps for disseminating information on the necessity for the upcoming sewer bond referendum were taken this week by the Arlington Heights village board of trustees. Also, the village attorney began investigating the possibility of holding a special voter re-registration day in the village.

The village board scheduled a meeting with the Chamber of Commerce and Paddock Publications for November 1, and a meeting with a group of citizens who will be the nucleus of a citizens' advisory committee.

Purpose of the first meeting will be to review the recent engineering report which strongly recommends a comprehensive program of storm sewer construction in the village, and to answer any questions which may arise.

THE SECOND meeting will be to formally organize a citizens' advisory committee which will work in conjunction with the village board to bring the sewer bond issue to the attention of the public and explain the ramifications of approval or disapproval.

The possibility of a special voter re-registration day was discussed at an informal meeting of trustees, Village Manager L. A. Hanson, and Village Attorney Jack M. Siegel Tuesday night at the village hall.

It was brought out that the statutes require all registration to be stopped 28 days before an election. This would prevent the village clerk from opening her office for registration on November 21 as otherwise would be the case.

RE-REGISTRATION is necessary because an act of the legislature voided the previous registration lists.

Two special registration days already have been held, at which an estimated 87 per cent of the previously registered voters in Wheeling township re-registered.

The trustees indicated the majority of them felt this high percentage of registrants guaranteed a representative majority of the village residents will be able to vote on December 9 in the special referendum.

HOWEVER, Siegel said, there is a possibility the statute does not apply to special elections such as the referendum, in which case village residents would be able to re-register at the village hall between November 21 and the time of the referendum.

In any case, residents are able to re-register at the county clerk's office between 9 and 12 a.m. until November 11. Persons not re-registered cannot vote on the referendum.

Siegel is investigating the possibility of holding a special registration day in the village prior to November 11 in order that the greatest number possible may take part in the referendum.

THE REFERENDUM will determine whether or not the village can undertake a comprehensive storm sewer construction program at a cost of $3.3 million.

Approximately half of the cost would be financed by sewer and water bonds which would not affect a resident's taxes, nor result in any increase in his water and sewer bills.

The other half would be financed through general obligation bonds which would result in some increase in taxes, the exact amount now being computed.

THE REPORT on which the trustees based their decision to undertake the storm sewer construction program states that the flooding problem in Arlington Heights is far worse than should be tolerated, and correction of the problem does not lend itself to a "piece-meal" program.

The project consists of construction of a major trunk sewer from the northwest part of town to the outflow point at Weller Creek in the southeast part of town, and a series of lateral sewers in sections now inadequately drained.

SOLEMN CEREMONIES were held last Saturday as the new $3-million St. Viator's high school in Arlington Heights was dedicated. Presiding over the services was Albert Cardinal Meyer; the benediction was given by the Superior General of Clerics of St. Viator, the Very Rev. Michael Sudres, C. S. V., who came from Canada for the ceremonies. An estimated 800 attended dedication of the school, which is located at 1213 Oakton st. Principal of the school is the Rev. Francis E. Williams, C. S. V.

Author Miller Asks $300,000

Police Chief L. W. Calderwood of Arlington Heights was one of 10 suburban police chiefs named in a $3-million injunction suit filed this week in federal court as a result of suppression of sales of the Henry Miller novel, "Tropic of Cancer."

The suit was filed by Miller and his publisher, Grove Press.

A previous injunction suit filed by a Northwestern university professor and a Morton Grove woman is in abeyance. It named the same 10 police chiefs.

When the earlier case came before Chief Justice Samuel B. Epstein in Superior court last Wednesday, Arlington Heights village attorney Jack M. Siegel presented a motion for dismissal on the grounds the plaintiffs had no legal cause for filing a complaint.

Siegel, who was joined in his argument by the Lincolnwood village attorney, said there was no allegation in the suit that the plaintiffs had ever been denied access to the book in Arlington Heights, and that they had no right to file suit on behalf of the general public.

SIEGEL AND Frank Riley, Lincolnwood attorney, were the only village attorneys who had filed answers to the suit.

Judge Epstein determined that none of the defendants had been served summons, although they had received notification of the suit.

Joel L. Sprayregen, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union which backed the plaintiffs, said he would not press for an injunction until all the defendants had been served summons and been given the opportunity to file answers.

JUDGE EPSTEIN then said he would not entertain the suit until the proper summonses were served. These were served late last week and attorneys have 30 days from the date of service in which to file answers.

At last week's hearing, the attorney for Miller and Grove Press asked to intervene in the case as an interested party.

Siegel objected and was joined in his objection by Sprayregen. They said intervention would change the whole nature of the case.

THE SUIT specifically did not seek to determine whether or not "Tropic of Cancer" is obscene, it only asked the court to order the defendants to refrain from suppressing sale of the book, claiming that the plaintiffs' rights were being denied.

Judge Epstein denied Miller and Grove Press the right to enter the case.

The new suit they later filed seeks $300,000 damages from each of the police chiefs in 10 suburban villages, including Arlington Heights, Des Plaines and Mt. Prospect, and also from the former acting police chief in Skokie, and a John and Mary Doe.

IT CHARGES the police violated "the rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States."

It adds that "freedom of the press and speech has been abridged, unlawful searches and seizures made, commerce interfered with, and property taken without due process of law."

It asks the court to restrain the defendants from preventing sale and distribution of the novel.

THE BOOK was suppressed by suburban police officials acting under their respective village's anti-smut, or obscenity ordinances. In general, the ordinances state that it is illegal for anyone to sell obscene material within the village limits.

As to what is obscene and what is not, the ordinances generally do not specify and this question usually is a matter for the courts to decide. This becomes a sensitive question since freedom of the press is guaranteed by the Constitution.

The Constitution does not protect obscenity, however, so the matter again involves a definition of "obscenity," and the question of who shall be the judge of what is and what is not obscene.

SIEGEL SAID most village ordinances are not very good, because of the Constitutional aspects and because they are not specific enough. He has been working on a new ordinance for Arlington Heights and other village attorneys also are known to be overhauling their anti-smut ordinances.

The Arlington Heights attorney said the Chicago ordinance is a very good one and has been upheld in Municipal court and is now on appeal to the Illinois Supreme court.

The Illinois Supreme court has adopted the definition of "obscenity" promulgated by the U.S. Supreme court, which states that to be obscene, a work must appeal to prurient interest in such a preponderance as to outweigh its literary value.

UNDER THIS definition, "Lady Chatterly's Lover" was judged as not obscene some months ago, and it was this definition which prompted the Justice Department this year to declare "Tropic of Cancer" not obscene.

"Tropic" was written in 1934 and published in English in Paris. It has been banned from the United States until the Justice Department's ruling this year.

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

We never realized until now how unimportant we are in this world of 2¾ billion people.

A computer figured it out this way — Imagine a town of 1,000 people which was representative of all the people on this earth.

There would be 60 Americans and 940 other people, yet the 60 Americans would have one-half the income of the town. The other 940 would have to share the other half.

In the town there would be about one-third white people, and the other two-thirds colored — yet the white people would possess nearly all the power. Most of the 940 non-Americans would always be hungry, ignorant, poor and sick. Only about one-half of them would be able to read or write. Of the 60 Americans in the town, 37 would belong to Christian Churches, along with 279 non-Americans — a total of 316. But there would be 30 convinced Communists who in turn control another 310 of the town — or a total of 450.

Half of the people of the town never would have heard of Jesus Christ or what he lived and died for. On the other hand, more than half would have heard about Marx, Lenin and Stalin, and what they promised.

The lowest income among the Americans would be better than average for the rest of the town. The Americans would be spending about $850.00 per capita for armaments during the year. The 37 Christian Americans would be spending about $3.50 a year to share the Christian Faith with its great emphasis on Peace and Good Will among men.

We are frequently told that our influence is becoming less and less; also that at some future date within the lifetime of many adults of today, there will be hardly living room for the billions that will be living on this earth by 1980 or 2000.

You will say, "it can't happen," but the population increase is serious. Regardless of American principles today, we must do some planning about future living on this planet.

We are spending a day at the United Nations this Friday, if the UN is still in existence by the end of this week. We are not attempting the role of mediator between Khrushchev and the West.

We hope we will bring back with us, for the benefit of our readers, some facts that never appear in the nation's newspapers.

Interviews we have had with returned visitors to Europe have almost convinced us the staff members of many daily papers are not reporting the truth.

They pad their stories and reports, which may sell newspapers but also create increased apprehension over what is about to happen in the near future.

This is the opinion of a local man who recently returned from a visit to Europe. His office had been instructed to save, during his absence, the Chicago newspapers.

"Our newspapers," he said, "are doing a great disservice to the American people."

Celebration Balloon Travels to Michigan

High over Chicago, across Lake Michigan, over the neck of the Michigan peninsula to Saginaw Bay a balloon winged its way recently carrying a card bearing the name of Susan Daminano, 1120 Pine st., Arlington Heights.

Because Susan's balloon traveled farther than any of the others for which cards were returned, she will receive a $50 U. S. Savings bond as winner of the Lions club balloon contest held during the village's 125th anniversary celebration earlier this month.

SUSAN AND all the other youngsters who entered the clubs kiddie parade Oct. 1 signed their names to cards which were attached to helium-filled balloons.

The balloons were released and the card which was returned from the farthest distance was to determine the winner of the bond.

Three hundred miles away in Au Gres, Mich., on Saginaw Bay, Susan's card was found by Edwin Knepp, who mailed it back to the Arlington Heights Lions.

Vic Biesler, chairman of the kiddie parade contest, said the returned cards indicated the balloons were carried on a southwesterly wind. A few of the balloons landed in suburbs northeast of Arlington Heights; many crossed Lake Michigan and dotted the Michigan peninsula toward Saginaw Bay. Susan's went the farthest, 300 miles.

A FEW MILES south in Pinnconning, Mich., the balloon of John Griffith of 625 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights, landed, putting him in second place.

Tied for third place were Nancy Avila, 1133 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, and Tim Brandt, Palatine, whose balloons both landed in Midland, Mich.

Susan's 150 bond will be presented to her at the next meeting of the Lions club on November 7.

Choir to Present Parody on Paar

"The Sub-Paar Show," a satirical production based on the popular but controversial Jack Paar television show, will be presented by the Chancel choir of the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights next week.

The show is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, in the church social hall, 1903 E. Euclid.

The Chancel choir's own "Jack Staar" will headline the show, which will feature caricatures of other Paar show guests and regulars — Hugh Downs, Genevieve, Charlie Weaver and others.

THE FIRST Methodist church choir has presented a number of musical and comedy shows in seasons past, all of which met with enthusiastic acceptance. Proceeds from the shows are used for choir musical education needs.

Mrs. Dianne Scherer, spokesman for the choir, said this production is another "delightful combination of satire, music and comedy."

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Scherer, CL. 5-8018, or any member of the Chancel choir.

Girl Scout Fund Drive Begins Here

The 1961 Girl Scout fund drive will be carried out in Arlington Heights beginning today, Thursday, and running through October 30.

Drive chairmen Robert Stark, Frank Currier and Jack Kearney remind residents that the door-to-door canvass must raise $10,000 for the village's share of the Northwest Cook County Girl Scout council's budget for 1962.

The funds will be used to train leaders, provide direction for troops, and maintain camping facilities, the chairmen pointed out.

Hot Delivery

An Arlington Heights pizza delivery man was charged with indecent exposure this week when a woman complained he exposed himself as she attempted to pay him for a pizza. He was released on $500 bond.

Turn Clocks

Clocks will be set back an hour when Illinois' Daylight Saving Time ends at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 29.

The Second

Slate Hearing On Boundaries

A second public hearing on the proposed new boundary lines for high schools in Arlington-Prospect district 214 has been set for Monday, Oct. 30, at 7:30 p. m.

Slated for the Arlington high school Little Theatre, the meeting will include an illustrated presentation by school administrators of the proposed boundaries.

This will include the boundary plan recommended by the school administration.

Lists of projected enrollment figures will be used to show probable future attendance divisions to evenly proportion students among the three high schools of the district.

NEW BOUNDARY lines are required by the projected opening of the Forest View high school south of Arlington Heights next September. The new school, rated for a student capacity of 2,500, is under construction on Goebbert rd. in the area northeast of Algonquin and State rds.

The original hearing October 10 was attended by almost 200 people. The majority lived in the south Arlington Heights area where rumor had indicated the north boundary of the new school would run, dividing students between Arlington and Forest View high schools. The administration recommendation did not include this division.

The meeting Monday is expected to include a large number of objectors from the Mount Prospect area south of Weller creek. This section is slated for inclusion in the Forest View high school district. The area is closer to the new school than to Prospect high school where students now are assigned.

IN ORDER TO include this area in Prospect high school, the boundary line in Arlington Heights would have to be shifted north to either Park or Grove st. according to a statement by school administrators.

This would put some students who are walking distance from Arlington high school in the Forest View school district.

Under the administration boundary recommendation, all present junior students would stay in their present schools. This would permit junior students from all areas of the district to graduate from the schools where they now are enrolled.

IT WOULD MEAN that Forest View high school for the first year of operation in 1962-63 would be a three-year school only.

Final decision on the boundary question is not expected for another month according to statements by school board President Daryl Oldaker at the last public hearing.

Chamber to Stage Monte Carlo Night

Big bankrolls and high-rolling gamblers will invade Arlington Heights Saturday night when the Chamber of Commerce stages its annual "Monte Carlo Night."

The bankrolls will be bogus money of course, available at the door of the American hall where the "casino" will be set up. The festivities are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

IN ADDITION TO the Monte Carlo operation, there will be dancing to a combo and a bountiful midnight smorgasbord.

For the "gamblers" who manage to win the smile of Lady Luck, there will be an auction at the end of the night.

ADMISSION, dancing and the midnight dinner are all included in the ticket price of $3.50 per person. Refreshments will be available.

Dismissal of Teacher Okay

The dismissal of Joseph Tomlinson, 47, an Arlington Heights eighth grade teacher and former assistant principal, was upheld at a meeting last Saturday of the board of education.

The board acted after study of the transcript of a public hearing held late in September. Tomlinson had been dismissed, mainly on charges of various forms of insubordination, by the board last June, the dismissal to take effect November 2.

AT THE HEARING, school administrators testified in support of the dismissal action; several former students and parents of students testified in Tomlinson's behalf.

The administrators said Tomlinson was consistently tardy to school, failed to cooperate with the school administration and was insubordinate in various ways.

The students and parents testified Tomlinson was a good teacher, and that they were not aware of his difficulties with the administration.

Tomlinson's attorney said the hearing itself was illegal because law requires a public hearing, if demanded, within 60 days of a dismissal action. He said the hearing was held some 65 days after the action.

TOMLINSON HAS not been under salary since the dismissal action, although he is technically under contract to the school district until November 2.

Tomlinson this week did not wish to comment on the school board's action in upholding the dismissal, since he still is under contract and any comments could be construed as "insubordination." He said his attorney is taking further action, probably to have the public hearing declared illegal. (AF

Laseke Truck Overturns

A truck owned by the Laseke Disposal co. overturned at State rd. and Thomas st. early Tuesday afternoon, but no injuries were reported.

The truck was driven by Franklin D. Brackett, 915 E. Miner st. He told police he was going east on Thomas st. when a front wheel struck gravel on the side of the road, pulling the truck into the ditch and causing it to overturn.

Set Distribution Of Fallout Book

Arlington Heights Civil Defense wardens this week began distributing fallout shelter booklets designed to assist homeowners in building or contracting for home shelters.

The booklets, entitled "The Family Fallout Shelter," were prepared by the national office of civil defense.

They will be distributed to every area of the village represented by a neighborhood warden, according to chief warden Bernard T. Clark. The wardens will be prepared to answer questions about Civil Defense, and also will be recruiting volunteers to help staff the 900-man local organization.

HOMES THAT do not receive the booklet within the next week will be covered as soon as a warden volunteers from the neighborhood, Clark said.

A six-week basic Civil Defense course will open next week at Arlington high school, according to Mrs. Ruth Clabaugh, director of the CD training division.

Anyone interested in enrolling should leave his name with the village Civil Defense operator at CL 3-2340. Those who enroll will have a choice of either Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday evening classes. Each session will last two hours. (AF

Peru Village Aid Program Gains Steam

Steering Group Is Organized

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce plan for assisting the Peruvian city of Pampa de Comas gained momentum this week as representatives from a dozen groups in the village met with Wayne Brennan, originator of the project, and formed a temporary project steering committee.

The group met at Lauterberg and Oehler funeral home and following a screening of th CBS film, "The Other Americans," discussed the next step in the project.

Brennan, whose idea for the project stemmed from a viewing of the CBS documentary, gave a progress report and threw the meeting open for discussion.

He listed the preliminary steps taken, including letters to various agencies and to the principal of the school in Pampa de Comas, and offered suggestions as to specific goals which might be considered in the project.

THESE INCLUDED shipment of textbooks and formation in the Peruvian city of reading groups to help diminish the residents' illiteracy, family-to-family contact with exchange of letters and pictures, pen pal programs, and various other exchange projects.

One of the more interesting proposals was a result of a coincidence discovered by Brennan's contact in the East, a representative of a municipalities association.

Richard Oakland, the association representative, told Brennan in a telephone conversation that by a coincidence, the city of Pampa de Comas had requested the assistance of the U.S. state department in securing used busses.

BRENNAN suggested this might be a suitable project for the village of Arlington Heights: Perhaps financial donations could be used to purchase used busses, volunteers could paint the busses, mechanics might donate some time to repairing them.

The state department would provide free transportation to Peru for any busses secured.

Most of the persons attending the meeting were not authorized by their organizations to commit themselves, but many volunteered to aid the project on a temporary basis until their organizations formally endorsed the project and assigned a representative on a permanent basis.

OTHER organizations in the village will be contacted and asked to appoint a representative to serve on the steering committee, which will decide what type of a project should be undertaken. The committee will be composed of one representative from each organization endorsing the project.

The Arlington Heights project has been endorsed by President Kennedy and UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson as imaginative and worthwhile in personalizing this country's relations with Latin America and cementing friendships.

The CBS network is watching the project with interest and is expected to take an active part if it appears to have the backing of village residents and organizations.

FRANK REYNOLDS, narrator of the CBS film, said Pampa de Comas, a city of shacks squatting at the foot of the Andes mountains, has been described as the worst slum in the world.

But, he said, the incredible thing is that there is no stench usually associated with slums, the children are clean and alert and well-mannered, and the city is one of the most inspiring places on earth because of its residents.

The residents, although poverty-stricken, refuse to give up; they will not live like animals; they have that most enviable of qualities, human dignity.

PAMPA de COMAS, a city of 50,000, has no industry at all; the men who are able to find work do so in Lima, a few miles away. This, presumably, is why the city needs busses, to provide transportation to and from Lima.

The only modern building in the whole city is the school. It educates some 600 youngsters, girls in the morning and boys in the afternoon. One principal and three teachers are the only instructors. All four volunteered to teach in Pampa de Comas.

The bright, alert youngsters, who might be expected to be unusually disorderly because of the lack of supervision and large classes, are just the opposite. Reynolds said he had never seen more orderly classes, or youngsters more eager for an education.

"WHO WILL be the hero of these youngsters?" Reynolds asked. "It might be Abraham Lincoln — or it might be Fidel Castro. The answer depends to a great extent on us."

The steering committee is scheduled to meet November 6 to discuss the next step in the program to aid Pampa de Comas.

Persons attending the meeting Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Jones; Mrs. Douglas G. Schinke, representing Toastmistress club; Howard S. Styron; Robert Y. Paddock, Chamber of Commerce; Clark Landers, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Denny Fitz-Patrick and Dick Daeschner, Arlington Heights high school student council; Eleanor Ball Jr., Woman's club; D. F. Rice, Arlington Acres Civic association.

FRANCES ANN Duda and Elaine Detweiler, Arlington Nurses club; Mrs. Benjamin Carns, Woman's club; Manuel R. Lara of Palatine, who volunteered his services as interpreter; Mrs. F. Marks, League of Women Voters; Mr. and Mrs. John G. Woods, Village of Arlington Heights; village trustee Eugene Schlickman; the Rev. John Lane of St. James Catholic church; Carol Swanson and Kay Lash, school district 34. (AF

Week's News in Summary

PROSPECT HEIGHTS — Jerrold Allaire, senior planner for the American Society of Planning Officials, referred to Prospect Heights as a "satellite community . . . in something of a tight spot" at a meeting attended by 250 citizens last week.

"Now please, don't throw anything at me, but this area would be much better off if it were part of Chicago," he added. Allaire was the first speaker in a series of programs planned by the Prospect Heights Improvement Association to pinpoint local problems and needs. The community is an unincorporated area of 6,000 population.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — Steps are being considered by the village to clean-out Salt Creek of weeds and debris in east Hoffman Estates. This would relieve drainage problems, which have worsened as the area has developed. State aid will be sought for the project.

SCHAUMBURG — The Village plan commission Friday will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. in Schaumburg Junior high school to discuss a proposed new comprehensive zoning ordinance.

PALATINE — Merits of the controversial film, "Operation Abolition," were debated Tuesday night at a PTA meeting in Palatine. Discussants were Rev. Tyler Thompson, board chairman of the Illinois chapter-American Civil Liberties Union, and Alexander MacArthur, Republican precinct captain. Thompson attacked the film, which attempts to prove Communists provoked student riots against the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1960, as "distorted." MacArthur said HCUA records and FBI reports support the movie's contention. The debate attracted 220 citizens to the meeting.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — The village's controversial apartment zoning issue reached new heights of contentiousness this week when, after 3-and-a-half months of meetings and study, officials voted 5 to 1 to accept the zoning board recommendation (made July 13) and approve rezoning of a 37-acre site to permit construction of apartments.

Opposition forces who, two months ago, submitted a petition signed by 1,250 residents asking that zoning be denied, said this week they may seek an injunction against the village board approval. Grounds for the action would be that the petitioner has not shown or proven that A-2 zoning is "the highest and best use of the (subject) land."

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Police Chief L. W. Calderwood was one of 11 suburban police chiefs sued this week by the author and publisher of the 1934 novel, "Tropic of Cancer." The lawsuit demands $300,000 from each chief for allegedly damaging the plantiffs by suppressing sale of the book.

Village Attorney Jack Siegel has 30 days to file an answer to an earlier injunction suit filed by a Northwestern university professor and a Morton Grove housewife, which named the same officials as defendents.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Family fallout shelters have been authorized by city council. A feature of the ordinance includes the right of the building and zoning officer to make semi-annual inspections of the shelters to prevent violations which might affect "city welfare."

MOUNT PROSPECT — In an out-of-court settlement, Mount Prospect park district Monday accepted an offer of $1,208,900 from owners of the Mount Prospect country club. The sale includes 110 acres of land, an 18-hole golf course, and clubhouse facilities. A condemnation suit for the club and land was to be heard Monday in Superior court. The owners made their sale offer an hour before the scheduled hearing.

Authority for public purchase of the country club was authorized earlier this year in a special referendum.

WHEELING — School district 21, plagued with financial troubles and the highest tax rate in Illinois, is contemplating steps to inform all prospective home buyers of the school tax dilemma. The district serves both Wheeling and Buffalo Grove as well as surrounding area.

It has been learned that builders are possibly "misrepresenting" the predicament, which is a low tax base per pupil. Erection of highway billboards was suggested as one method of informing newcomers of the school problem.

The need for informing home buyers was stressed at a joint meeting of the school board and the plan commissions of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove. (AF

Lady Loses Purse, United with Chum

A lost purse found by an apparent stranger in Argo, Ill., recently united Mrs. Harold Nebel, 203 S. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, with a girlhood friend she hadn't seen for 25 years.

Mrs. Nebel, nee Buckmeier, was visiting her mother in Argo when she lost her purse while shopping at a supermarket.

Although she reported it to the police, the purse contained more than $30 in cash, charge plates, bank and check books, and police offered little hope of its recovery.

THE PURSE WAS found, however, by Mrs. Helen Woods, nee Rubel, who lived about three blocks from the Buckmeier home. The conversation when Mrs. Nebel went to the Woods home to get her purse went something like this:

Mrs. Woods: "My best friend in grade school was June Buckmeier; are you related to her?"

Mrs. Nebel: "That's me!"

Mrs. Woods: "I'm Helen Rubel!"

Conclusion: A person does change a little in 25 years.

Plan Annual Grid Games For Friday

The fourth annual Midget Football review will take place Friday at the Arlington high school field when 10 teams participating in five games will put on their mightiest efforts for parents and friends.

Wally Kehe, chairman of the Elks committee which is sponsoring this event, and Ken Hood, president of the midget football league, report that the first game under the lights will begin at 6:30 p.m. and that the scheduling of five games will give an opportunity for a greater number of boys to participate.

TICKETS FOR the games, proceeds of which are being used to raise funds for future teams, are being sold by team members.

Refreshments and snacks will be available at the field for those fathers who may be coming directly from work. Hood says this is the highlight of the midget football year when these youngsters can perform under the lights. (A

County's Bicycle Training Effort Pays Off in Safety

No bicycle fatalities have occurred during the past four years among the 170,346 elementary school children of Cook county who have taken the training and passed the bicycle safety program tests given by the Cook County Traffic Safety commission, President John J. Duffy of the county board announced this week.

For their participation in this bicycle program the officials of 112 public and parochial elementary schools in the west and north sides of the county outside of Chicago will be presented with safety awards at the annual dinner to be given by the safety commission Monday evening, Oct. 30, at the Villa Venice, 2855 Milwaukee ave., Northbrook.

"WHEN THE bicycle program was started by the county in 1954, with only one instructor," President Duffy said, "14 children in the county outside of Chicago were killed while riding bikes.

"In 1955, however, when the safety commission's bicycle training staff was increased to 16 men, working in teams of four men each, the number of fatalities among young bike riders began an immediate drop."

Four young bike riders have been killed in the county—outside of Chicago during the past year, but all of them had just moved here from elsewhere and had had no opportunity to take the training, Duffy explained.

"SO SUCCESSFUL was our bicycle program in the elementary schools," Duffy continued, "that our safety commission this year instituted in the high schools of the county an auto driver education program that supplements the driver training programs already being taught in these schools.

"Before the close of the present school year, we expect to have given this course to all 35 high schools within the county. Our safety commission experts are finding that the high school students who took our bicycle training program in the grades are showing more proficiency in auto driving than those who did not have the bike training."

SAFETY AWARDS also will be presented at the meeting to chiefs of police of 38 cities, villages, and state and county police districts where traffic fatalities for 1960 were lower than for 1959, and to six civic and boy scout groups that carried out safety programs.

In addition, a representative of the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police will present to Duffy a citation for recently establishing the National Police Driving school, the training site of which is the Meadowdale auto race track near Carpentersville.

John J. McCleverty, executive secretary of the safety commission, said this week that the school districts and schools that will receive bicycle safety awards in the northwest suburban area are:

Dist. 15 (Rolling Meadows)—Cardinal Drive, Central Road, Kimball Hill schools.

Dist. 21 (Wheeling)—Sandburg school.

Dist. 59 (Elk Grove)—Grove Junior high, Ridge, Rupley schools.

Immanuel Lutheran school, Des Plaines.

St. Mary's school, Des Plaines.

St. Stephen's school, Des Plaines.

Queen of the Rosary school, Elk Grove Village.

Immanuel Lutheran school, Palatine.

St. Theresa school, Palatine.

St. Peter's Lutheran school, Roselle.

Wandering Poodle Still Avoids Earnest Searchers

by MARIANNE SCOTT

It's still a cruel, cold world for Peppy, the little lost poodle who has been eluding police, children and dozens of housewives for the last five weeks.

The once-coddled, little white dog, freshly bathed, slipped away from his new owners September 21 and though he has been seen in all sections of the village, he is too bewildered and frightened to approach the well-meaning residents who are trying to help him.

Chased by big dogs and narrowly escaping death in the maze of heavy highway traffic, he has apparently returned to the quieter areas of the village to forage for food and water and seek shelter from the frosty nights.

MRS. GLORIA Glenn, 1215 N. Walnut, reports that Peppy has had one good, square meal, the beef stew she had planned for supper.

Several days ago, Mrs. Glenn spotted the hungry, dirty and very shaggy little dog in her back yard. Calmly and quietly she began to set a trap by placing bits of the beef along the sidewalk leading to her opened back door and into her hallway. As Peppy entered the hallway, Mrs. Glenn slipped out another door hoping to sneak behind him, shut the back door and trap him in her kitchen.

But Peppy heard her approach and quickly darted back outdoors.

"I CAN STILL see his frightened little face when he saw me and then dashed over the prairie and through the mud toward the old people's home," said Mrs. Glenn.

Peppy's owner, Walter Bowman, 908 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, is offering a $50 reward to anyone who can catch and return the dog. Bowman can be contacted during the day at his business, CL 3-9660, or evenings at home, 259-1174. (A

Q. How long a time should properly elapse before answering a letter?

A. Of course, prompt replies are the surest and most interesting way of handling correspondence—but if you're TOO prompt, it can put a strain upon the other person. Perhaps setting aside an evening every week or two for social correspondence is advisable, in order to space your letters so that they are neither a boomerang nor a stale accumulation of a couple of months' activities.

Q. When a guest at a large wedding reception is ready to leave, should he seek out any of the principals of the wedding party in order to say good-by and thank you?

A. At a large reception, this is not necessary.

The Stardust West-Ho-Rama card party sponsored by the auxiliary of the Holy Family hospital Friday, Oct. 13 at O'Hare Inn in Des Plaines was hailed as "a tremendous success," by its sponsors.

THE BEST OF TV

by ED LANDWEHR

You might think that your TV set is giving you the best picture possible, but are you sure?

Often, on new customer calls, we find tuners on relatively new sets that never were adjusted properly from the start. Station adjustments sometimes are not reset after moving a TV set around. We have even found loose tubes and wires that caused interferences and were tolerated until something else wore out to make it necessary to call a TV technician.

Your phone call to CLearbrook 5-0700 will give you the electronic service of an organization that is qualified by training and the facilities of modern, efficient equipment to give your TV set the complete maintenance job. And you'll happily find out that LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights charges no more, often less.

Handicapped Children Learning at Church

Classes Are Open To Every Faith

by JOHN REDDY

Handicapped children in the Arlington Heights area are finding another door opening for them.

A special program at the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights is making it possible for deaf, blind and mentally handicapped youngsters to receive a Christian education.

The program, part of the Church's Christian education department, was officially started this summer, but the concern for the handicapped children first was manifest five years ago.

That was when Mrs. John R. Hoover, 943 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, first took more than a cursory interest in a 6-year-old boy identified by other teachers in the program as a "problem child."

"There was something about that little boy's frightened look that kept bothering me," recalls Mrs. Hoover. Since then, "All I've done is use my heart and my head."

NOW THE WEEKEND program for the handicapped children who seek Christian teachings has been made a distinct part of the Sunday curriculum.

Eight handicapped youngsters are currently enrolled in the program, which is non-sectarian and opened to handicapped children of other faiths. Some 1,000 are enrolled in the education program.

Mrs. Hoover recently was made superintendent of the special program for the handicapped. Prior to that, she had cared for the several handicapped youngsters in her regular Sunday school assignments.

ACCORDING TO the Rev. Eldon C. McKie, head of the Christian education program, families of handicapped children benefit from the service in a multiplicity of ways.

"The children now can participate in Christian Education classes and the parents are appreciative of the opportunity."

Rev. McKie also said the children associating with the handicapped youngsters and the adult members of the congregation also learn through the program.

Said the Rev. McKie:

"THE PROGRAM attempts to provide a Christian up-bringing for the handicapped child and offers other children in the class an opportunity to learn there are people who are handicapped and who need their understanding and assistance."

While handicapped youngsters now participate in the program with other youngsters, who are especially selected to participate in the classes, the program may broaden and develop to where special religion classes will be conducted during the week for the handicapped students.

Nevertheless, youngsters and parishioners have opened their hearts to the program, explains the Rev. McKie. One strong point of the program, according to Rev. McKie, is that through it "I think we can develop understanding of the children and of the problems they and their parents face."

PARENTS OF handicapped youngsters are understandably sensitive about publicity, explained Mrs. Hoover. But, she said, they have indicated real interest in this program.

Mrs. Hoover led development of special projects for students at Clearbrook school for handicapped children for two and a half years.

Although Mrs. Hoover has received no formal education in connection with instructions for handicapped children, she "reads everything I can get my hands on."

THIS INCLUDES the same publications used as texts and for research by teachers and administrators of special education programs in the public school systems.

Explained Mrs. Hoover, "I always go to the child's teacher at school to learn as much about how I can help as possible. It really helps in working with them when they are in the Christian education classes.

The program, while its primary purpose is to provide a Christian education, also offers another social outlet for youngsters who otherwise mix with other children only at school or under supervision in their homes.

BUT THERE are more and more activities opening up fo the handicapped child. In the northwest suburban area, they have been known to participate in scouting and other youth activities. One handicapped youngster has participated in an organized sport with other children of his age.

The Rev. McKie stressed the importance of having teachers willing to work with the handicapped youngsters and indicated the services of such persons is an all-important factor in making the program succeed.

(B-8

TYPICAL of the special education classes that are distinguishing the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights is this one being conducted by Mrs. William Stephens and Supt. Mrs. John Hoover. Church's Christian Education program offers handicapped and normal youngsters an opportunity to receive religious training.

The Lutherans

Engage in education.

The Lutheran Church concerns itself with education for Christ's sake.

Christ is at the center of all education that takes place in all Lutheran schools—church schools, day schools, colleges, seminaries.

Education is only valid for the Christian because it enables the individual Christian to love his neighbor in the midst of life, using the best of his talents.

God expects man to use—to the fullest extent possible—all the faculties given in creation.

Map Second Followup Of Study on Cancer

Volunteer researchers of the American Cancer Society in Illinois will begin to take up their duties once again for the second followup of the Cancer Prevention Study, a six-year nation-wide project to learn why some people are more likely to get cancer than others.

Eugene Di Blasi, chairman of the Northwestern Suburban chapter, noted that all 109 units within the Illinois Division, including the Northwest Suburban Chapter, are participating in this study.

In Illinois, 4,721 volunteer researchers are involved, and in the first year of the survey contacted 80,845 individuals who filled in the questionnaires which were forwarded to the society's office in New York.

LAST YEAR these same researchers reported on the status of these individuals and in October they will again contact these people to obtain information needed for this important epidemiological survey.

DiBlasi pointed out that the Northwest Suburban chapter has 77 volunteer researchers conducting this project.

These researchers questioned 739 families, and join nearly 70,000 trained volunteers in 1,121 counties throughout the country who are checking on more than 1,100,000 Americans.

THE STUDY, begun in October, 1959, will continue for another four years. In the first followup, completed last year, volunteers succeeded in tracing all but six tenths of one per cent of all the men and women enrolled in the study. Approximately 8,200 deaths were reported.

This year, in addition to reporting whether the enrollees are alive or dead, the volunteers will be asked to submit to subjects in the study a short supplementary questionnaire relating to sicknesses, if any, since October 1, 1959, and air pollution in areas where they live and work.

This year and for the next four years the volunteers will continue to report if each participating member is still living. If the volunteer reports a death, the statisticians will seek its cause from the death certificate, medical records and supplemental information from the attending physician.

THE STUDY is the largest medical statistical survey ever conducted in the United States, according to Di Blasi. The Cancer Prevention Study, if done without volunteers, would cost the American Cancer society a prohibitively large amount of money.

Volunteers who make this saving of dollars possible are in effect saving lives. It is through such efforts that cancer eventually will be brought under control. (B8

October Beauty is Background for Autumn Socials

During the past week an autumn-lovely background for our town's brisk social life was created by the sweet smog of burning leaves and the clean sparkle of just-washed storm windows. For some reason, the least socially inclined were members of the oh-my-achin'-back, singed-eyebrow set who provided the October scene of beauty.

Weekend visitors in the Peter Galdoni home, 704 S. Kasper, were Mrs. Galdoni's grandmother, Mrs. Edith Morray of Mt. Carmel; her aunt, Mrs. Helen Faust of Santa Monica, Cal.; her father and 12 year-old sister, Susan of Detroit.

Far from being an ordinary 2-day get together of relatives, it was a wonderful reunion of long-separated family members. Mrs. Faust had never seen her niece, Susan, Mrs. Goldoni hadn't been with her grandmother in over six years and it was the first time in 15 years that Mrs. Morray had both her son and daughter with her.

She and Mrs. Faust arrived here by train Saturday from Mt. Carmel where Mrs. Faust had been visiting and they were joined later in the day by the Detroit branch of the family. Mr. Morray and Susan motored here and took the senior Mrs. Morray back to Detroit with them Monday after Mrs. Faust had left on her return flight to California.

MRS. DON Gieseke, 131 S. Patton, entertained longtime friends who are fellow members of a birthday club at a luncheon in her home last Thursday afternoon. The club's schedule depends upon the birth dates of its members and since each one entertains on or near her own birthday, parties sometimes come in bunches.

Another October hostess was Mrs. Della Lemke who received congratulations early this month from Mrs. Gieseke and the other members, Mrs. Richard Boeger, Mrs. Julius Vogel, Mrs. Alex Stonefield, Mrs. Elmer Busse, Mrs. Walter Haberichter, Ms. Arthur Bentz and Mrs. Tommy Thomas.

CARROLL Kephardt received birthday congratulations a week ago Saturday at a "pigskin party," held partly at the Glenbard-Arlington football game and partly in the Kephardt home, 801 S. Evergreen. Carroll and seven girl friends lunched and cheered at the game and returning here, concluded the fun with cake, ice cream and girl-type chatter. Carroll was 13.

Brice Bauske, 102 E. Orchard, was 2 years old last Wednesday and being a mite young to coax for a party, left it up to his big brothers, Brent and Brooks. They had nine neighborhood guests rounded up among the current crop of 3 and 4-year olds almost at the moment Mom okayed a celebration, then tactfully suggested an after-school affair so they'd be handy "to help."

They helped admirably with eating the birthday cake which, in the Bauske household, is always extra-ordinary. Brice's cake was an angel food clown with a cupcake face and ruffles polka-dotted with M & M's and gum drops. If big eyes and a face-splitting grin are indications of a 2-year-old's delight, Brice was delighted with his cake.

MR. AND MRS. Howard Steifenhoefer, 926 S. Vail, returned over the weekend from a 2-week autumn vacation in Springfield and Hot Springs. They divided their time evenly between the two places and had ideal weather with golfing opportunities to match both weeks.

The Arthur Komareks, 802 S. Evergreen, hosted 25 area couples at a cocktail party Saturday evening before attending with their guests, the Cotillion dinner dance in Inverness country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Black are home at 701 S. Chestnut after a recent week's drive through New Hampshire, Vermont and New York state. It was the first time they went some place purely to look at the scenery and Mrs. Black reports that an autumn color tour of the New England area is well worth a "just looking" jaunt.

They considered the Catskill and Berkshire mountains pretty until they came to the White mountains and Green mountains which are but poorly described, Mrs. Black says, with such words as "spectacular" and "breath-taking."

RECENT visitors in the K.N. Hull home, 713 S. Dunton, were Mrs. Hull's sister and brother-in-law, the C. D. Palmers of Austin, Tex. The Palmers spent a week here and a week with Mrs. Hull in Carthage, Ill., the "old home town" of the sisters. The Palmers left for Texas from Carthage as Mrs. Hull returned here after a delightful time of revisiting old haunts and renewing old friendships.

Three-year-olds might only be little nuisances to some big sisters but not to Cheryl Hansen who recently planned and managed a fine birthday whoopde-do for her sister, Joyce. The 9-year-old hostess reigned happily and with ease last Saturday at a completely successful afternoon party for eight in the Hansen home, 229 S. Yale. Mom says Cheryl did everything and Mom ought to know.

THE LEWIS Browns, 509 S. Chestnut, returned last week from a 3-week business and pleasure trip that overflows with adjectives. It was a cotton-pickin', rain-free, magnolia-wafted, 11-state, 4000-mile tour that included weekends of relaxation in Hot Springs and Biloxi. Wherever they drove throughout the south it was cotton-picking time and cotton-pickers ranged from little mammys and their young 'uns to mammoth machines.

Depending upon the size of their plantations, owners hauled their cotton to the gins in everything from mule-drawn carts to trailer trucks. Over little plantations and big ones alike a bumper crop of magnolias spread their fragrance. The Browns left here on a rainy afternoon and returned on another one, and it took a little effort to be glad to be home.

The Arthur Nyquists, 714 S. Mitchell, returned over the weekend from an annual week's vacation in Kentucky for the Keeneland race meet. They had their usual exciting time and brought back greetings to friends here from former Arlington Heighters, the Robert Stewarts.

PAULA Carstens was eight years old Friday and celebrated with eight friends at a Saturday afternoon party in her home, 1014 N. Evergreen. ore

In the Arthur Ekberg home, 2108 N. Chestnut, a lot of autumn birthdays have started to pop and one family dinner party October 14 on Lee Ann's eighth birthday did double duty.

Mrs. Ekberg received a share of the congratulations and advises against having a birthday the day after your daughter's if you intend to ignore the march of time. She doesn't, so welcomed the best wishes of the senior Arthur Ekbergs and the Robert Miller family, all of Mt. Prospect.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duda, 117 S. Windsor, sharing a mutual October 17 birthday, celebrated at a family dinner party in their home on the double-duty day.

THE ROUND of pre-nuptial parties for Miss Anne Pietrolonardo, who will be married Saturday, was climaxed Sunday with a shower given by aunts and cousins of the groom, Driscoll Drew, son of Mrs. Millard Grubb of Sheffield. The party was held in the legion hall of Bradford, near Sheffield, and there were several hostesses whose signature on the invitations read simply, "The Committee."

The bride-to-be was presented by the most cordial "committee" to 30 neighbors, friends and other members of the groom's family and showered with miscellaneous gifts.

Miss Pietrolonardo and Mr. Drew will be married Saturday in St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights and will make their home here.

Mrs. C. H. Mills, Arlington Heights dollmaker, was one of the speakers featured on the program of the annual regional meeting of the United Federation of Doll Clubs held in Chicago last Saturday.

Her subject, "The religious significance of dolls," was illustrated with her own and Mr. Mills' woodcarvings, many of which have won awards at national conventions of the federation. Mrs. Mills began making dolls only a few years ago, but has become a recognized expert in the use of widely varied media for making dolls.

Her collection of more than 600 dolls includes over 200 which she has made. Among them are dried apple, wax, ceramic and porcelain, as well as woodcarvings and those made of composition.

Mrs. Mills is past director of region 10 of the federation, which includes a total of seven organizations in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin. The meeting, held at Stouffer's restaurant in the loop, attracted 110 participants, including a number of the national officers of the federation.

OCTOBER 21 also was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Mills and they chose to celebrate with a family gathering at their Drury lane home.

With a total of 12 gathered around their family table, they spent the evening with their children and grandchildren. Their son, Edward L. Mills, is also a resident of Arlington Heights. Their daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Childs, and her husband and two sons, came from their home in Dearborn, Mich., for the occasion.

The Mills' eight grandchildren, ranging in age from 20 to not-quite-4, include two college students, Patty Mills at Macalester college and Bob Childs at Purdue university. Next oldest is "Bud" Mills, Arlington Heights high school senior; his plans for a future career in the field of culinary service made Bud a major participant in the preparation and serving of his grandparents' anniversary dinner.

MR. AND MRS. Edward Smith, 221 S. Wilshire, gave a cocktail party Saturday before the Cotillion dinner dance at Inverness country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Carey, 103 S. Derbyshire, spent the weekend in East Lansing, Mich. They were joined by Mr. Carey's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey of Sheboygan, with whom they attended the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game and visited the latter's son, Peter, a freshman at Michigan State university.

Seventeen-year-old Michael Barton was named one of the semi-finalists in the national merit scholarship examinations. Michael, a senior at Loyola academy in Wilmette, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barton, 321 S. Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Burnett, 317 S. Derbyshire, gave a party October 14 to celebrate the first birthday of their grandson, Michael David McNamee.

Among family members present were the child's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNamee of Wheaton, and their two daughters, Lynne and Connie.

MRS. G. Mitchell Kendrick, 921 S. Beverly, was hostess at a dessert bridge Monday for eight alumnae sorority members of the Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect area. It was the first of a series of monthly dessert bridge parties to be given by the sorority.

Out-of-town guests of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Kleisner, 602 E. Park, were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Bona of Denver. So that the Bonas could visit all members of his niece's large family during their brief visit, the Kleisners planned a progressive dinner party for them Sunday.

Beginning with cocktails at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, the James Sheerins of Park Ridge, and dinner here with the Kleisners, the party concluded with dessert at the home of her sister and family, the Edmund Hayes of Edison Park.

Joining the Kleisners for the family dinner party were her mother, Mrs. May Sheerin of Edison Park and Fr. John Hayes, pastor of Our Lady of Humility church of Zion.

MR. AND MRS. Larry Kussow, 815 Burton, and their youngest son, Jimmy, spent the past weekend in Green Bay, Wis. where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Kussow's cousin, Miss Mary Ellen Eiler, to James Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strathearn, 720 Bristol, and their children, Julia and Don, were dinner guests Sunday at the Brooksfield, Wis. home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Knorr, 405 Bristol, had as their weekend guest, the latter's brother, Noel Stocker of Arlington, Va., who is here to attend a series of management conferences at O'Hare Inn.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Gregory, 710 Mayfair, were among 1500 parents who went by special train to Winona, Minn. for parents weekend at St. Mary college where their son, Ralph Jr., is a freshman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bolas, 630 S. Beverly, returned Sunday from a 2-week stay in California. They spent a week at the Coronado hotel in San Diego attending directors meetings of the American Association of Advertising agencies, after which they took a 4-day holiday in Beverly Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Clabaugh, 510 S. Beverly, were in Cedar Rapids for the parent's weekend at Coe college and to visit their son, Jim. They attended the football game Saturday at which Coe beat the undefeated Grinnell college team. Leaving Coe college, the Clabaughs went to Carbondale, where they attended the 2-day meetings of state school administrators at the University of Southern Illinois.

MR. AND MRS. Lowell F. Christy, 505 S. Belmont, spent three days in Iowa City visiting their daughter, Linda, a sophomore at the University of Iowa, and attended the university's homecoming festivities.

Terrell Anne Myer celebrated her 10th birthday Saturday with a cinema party for 17 friends. Terrell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Myer, 644 S. Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schwank, 526 S. Dryden, were hosts to their former Scarsdale neighbors, the Robert Bohl family, who were visiting here Friday from their home in Racine.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ryan have moved from their home in Scarsdale and are settled in their new home on Reuter dr. in Westgate. (A watch check-up now!

Here's why it's so important to get a check-up by a qualified, professional watchmaker. A good watch is made to work constantly, for years. But jarrings, dust, dirt or humidity can sometimes throw off its intricate, hard-working mechanism. Of course, your watch may be working fine, but if you bring it in for a check-up now you may avoid possible costly damage later.

ROLLING MEADOWS:

Troop 666 hiked through Deer Grove October 14. The scouts are working on their second class rank and while trekking through the woods the group fulfilled two requirements of this badge. Nosebag lunches were brought and the girls conducted the singing, game and trail laying themselves. They were chauffeured and supervised by Mrs. Hal Cress, leader, and co-leaders, Mrs. Alex Mitchell and Mrs. Alvin Estrella.

Brownies of troop 732 and 774 met early in October for an afternoon of bowling. Since it was a first time for most of the scout, the scores were fairly low, but the experience was invaluable. Respective leaders are Mrs. Charles Newman and Mrs. Arthur Poyer; co-leaders are Mrs. W. Gerken and Mrs. Z. Bell.

SOUTH MT. PROSPECT:

Mrs. Helen Beck, Girl Scout district advisor, was present to answer questions when a new senior scout troop was organized in South Mt. Prospect October 17. Assigned no number as yet, the new group is meeting Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. at the home of the leader, Mrs. Harold Drew, 907 Golfview. Representing Prospect high, Arlington high and St. Viator's were these six charter members: Jo Boswell, Kathy Appleton, Gail Hendricks, Linda Crandall, Jane Rae Balkey and Judy Odom.

A new Brownie troop also emerged October 17 in South Mt. Prospect. There were 19 girls present at the initial meeting in South church. Mrs. William Schroeder, leader, and Mrs. Earl Marsh, co-leader, were assisted by five Girl Scouts from troop 597: Patty Long, Patty Dibling, Nancy Gedman, Rhonda Stockton and Karen Glyman. Scouts taught the Brownie Promise, the Brownie Smile Song and a game, as well as presenting a skit based upon the Brownie story. The new Brownie troop will receive assistance from Girl Scout troop 597 during its first six weeks.

BROWNIE troop 708, meeting October 16 in Lion's Park field house under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Prochaska, splattered paint on leaves they had gathered to make 40 placemats for the hospital. Terry Morris, a transfer, joined the group, of which Mrs. Robert Kern is the new troop committee chairman.

Sixth grade members of Girl Scout troop 559 divided into groups to work for badges at their October 16 meeting at Lion's Park field house. Apples were baked by those working for their outdoor cook's badges, while those earning their adventure badges learned the proper use of the knife and worked on a fuzz stick, used for fire-building. Mrs. Frank D. McDade, leader, reports Mrs. Joseph Schneider is serving as her co-leader.

Troop 474 with its leader, Mrs. Strother, recently visited the Salerno Cookie Co., where the girls watched both crackers and cookies being made. At the end of the tour each girl received a box of cookies to take home. The troop also went to Deer Grove to work on second class outdoor requirements. Each girl brought a nose-bag lunch and the leaders provided the beverage and dessert. Two new girls were welcomed by these fifth grades at a court of awards; Mary Murphy and Kathy O'Brien.

Troop 294 welcomed nine new girls into their troop. They will spend the weekend of October 31 at Camp Pine working on secnd class requirements. Preceding their camping trip the girls will work on bed rolls, firebuilding, first aid and the use of the jack knife. (B9

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

When Jack LeBeau, 906 N. Yale, made a rush 3-week business trip to Europe recently, he managed to take in a little sightseeing on the side. Spending a weekend in Rome made him want to go back. He stopped in Italy, France, Austria and Germany.

Last weekend was a busy one for the Glen Rubenkings, 948 N. Fernandez, who went to Champaign. Besides a special interest in the 4-H house that Glen designed and built last winter close to the University campus, they also enjoy seeing many of the alumni who return to the university.

Next Saturday they plan to meet Glen's mother at O'Hare field when she will fly here from Frankfurt, Germany. Glen and Barbara have received enthusiastic letters from his mother telling of her stay in Bonn, Germany with another son, Gordon, and his family, with special emphasis on side trips to such places as Switzerland and Sweden.

MRS. R. E. GIVEN came from Ripley, Tenn., in time for granddaughter Tina's seventh birthday, October 22. Besides the family helping her celebrate, children arriving Saturday afternoon for a party were Nancy Fleming, Karen Munsen, Jody Grabow, Diane Jessogne, Sheri Wolff, Susie and Sheila Spiel, Marjorie Phillipp, Debbie Danes and Janice and Robbie Balfour. Games were forfeited for Richard the Magician who kept the children entertained for over an hour. The children then found place card bracelets at the table showing them where to sit for ice cream and cake. Tina is the daughter of the Charles Harringtons, 1212 W. Northwest hwy.

Friends and neighbors of the Philip G. Brackes, 1007 N. Patton, extend sympathy in the death of his mother, Mrs. Katherine Bracke, who died October 21. Mrs. Bracke had made her home with the Philip Brackes for several years.

Christine, daughter of the Bill Cokashes, 906 N. Illinois, celebrated her fifth birthday October 15 in three stages. A family party Sunday started the celebrating. The next day she brought cookies to kindergarten at Ridge and after school that same day the following children arrived to wish her "many happy returns of the day": Cheri Fogarty, Joan, Jim and Jeff Almdale, Kim Hatch, Debbie Blackburn, and Christine's sister, Karen and brother, Kenneth.

MRS. VIVIAN Anderson of Fort Dodge, Iowa, paid her daughter and her family, the Bill Frosts, 1225 W. Oakton, a 4-day visit prior to Bill and Eleanor's departure for Miami Beach and the National Wholesale Drug association convention. Bill and Eleanor were gone 10 days.

Shirley Garrison, 716 N. Kaspar, is home after having spent three days in Peoria attending the United Lutheran Church Women's convention.

When Susan Groh went to the Notre Dame high school football game Friday she also had the homecoming dance to look forward to the following night. She attended the dance as the guest of Jim Basak. Two other couples joined them for the evening. Susan is the daughter of the Bill Grohs, 912 N. Chicago.

The James Kunnens, 1016 N. Fernandez, went to the Ball State college homecoming in Muncie, Ind., over the weekend. This is home to Mrs. Kunnen who visited her parents while Mr. Kunnen took Jeff to the game.

WHEN THE T. Merle Pauls 815 W. Oakton, were in DeKalb Saturday they saw Northern Illinois play Western and cheered lustily when they beat Western by one point. Dick's being a sophomore at Northern accounts for their prejudice. Ardeth drove up from Dixon for the weekend. The game was over early enough so they were able to drive to Harvard to the home of her brother and sister-in-law to celebrate her mother's birthday.

The Dick Platts, 806 N. Kenicott, drove to Barrington Sunday to the home of the Leo Rembowskis for a farewell get-together for the senior Platts who left for Florida Monday.

This is birthday - celebrating time at Janet and Dave Bone's home, 704 N. Salem. Christopher was five Thursday and proudly carried 23 cupcakes to school that morning to celebrate. Luckily, there are only 23 in his room, because brother Bobby spied the 24th cupcake that morning and promptly ate it. That afternoon the following children arrived for a basement party: LeAnne and Nancy Niell Ricky Vickery, Susie and Greg Inselberger, Marjorie Phillipp, John Oertel, Todd and Patti Shumate, Randy and Cheryl Geisler and Vicky Slater. Christopher's brothers, Jonathan, Bobby and Danny, were also included.

FROM SHERWOOD

The Herb Conners, 1117 W. Burgoyne, were a long way from home this year when they celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. They were due to be in Miami Beach at the Coca-Cola convention October 8, which was also the date of her mother's birthday. By way of celebrating Mrs. Franz' birthday, they took her out to dinner.

October 11 the convention ended, but before everyone went their separate ways, Harry Kipke, chairman of the board of the Coca-Cola Bottling company of Chicago hired a bus to take 60 people out to Pompano Beach to the home of Mrs. Franz, and another daughter and son-in-law, the George Peters, where a party was waiting for the Conners. Cocktails were served beside the pool at the Peters' home and right next door, at Mrs. Franz' a buffet supper was ready. The joining yards were decorated in Hawaiian motiff with lanterns strung around the yards and guests wearing leis. To add to the fun, the guests brought the Conners ridiculous gifts that afforded many laughs. One gift produced some excitement as well as laughs when Mrs. Conner opened the box and discovered a live crab. (A

Sellers may price articles themselves or receive help; the PTA will keep one third of the purchase price as its share.

THE PUBLIC is invited to participate in the project, either as sellers or buyers. Because of limited space in Park school's multi - purpose room, only skates, boots and rubbers and sporting equipment will be accepted.

GEORGE HARRIS

I do not believe that I am profound in my thinking, but lately I have been thinking about what makes most businesses succeed. I believe that the one thing that is most important is SERVICE.

A friend of mine (yes, I have one left) recently purchased a new car, and the salesman promised him that the car would be serviced expertly before it was delivered. That same afternoon he had to be pushed to a service station. I know that lots of things can happen, but the chances are that something was not done. In our business we try to give you the best service possible. Naturally, being human, we make mistakes, but we are not allowed any margin for error in our Prescription Department. That is where perfect service must always be the watchword. It is not only making a new customer that counts but keeping that customer is more important.

Be sure and read the "Harris Huddle" next week and wait for the "pearls of wisdom" to be dropped like flakes of snow.

Engineer Proposes 2 Solutions to Crisis

The chief engineer for the Cook county health department has proposed two solutions for controversial sewage treatment plants which serve two shopping centers in Prospect Heights.

Robert DeJonge suggested in a letter to the Cook county board of commissioners Tuesday that either the shopping centers, located on the north and south sides of McDonald rd. at Illinois 83, rehabilitate existing treatment plants or build new ones or else band together with Old Orchard Country club to insure the running of a sewer line to connect with an interceptor sewer at Illinois 83 and Rand rd.

DeJONGE said he favors the latter plan since continued improvements have been made to the treatment plants upon recommendation of the health department only to have the systems fail again.

The engineer also requested, through the State's Attorney's office, plans of a new clubhouse being constructed at the Old Orchard Country club.

DeJonge identified the shopping centers by their original developers. The shopping center on the south side of McDonald rd. was referred to as Ehler and Wenborg, and on the north side as Smith and Dawson.

DeJonge said he discussed the matter with an engineer from the Metropolitan Sanitary district. He said he was informed that the district has no plans or appropriations at present earmarked for use on the problem but does have the situation under study.

The matter was brought to the attention of the county board by Commissioner Charles Chaplin (R., Northbrook), who had visited the site. (B8

New Bids Sought On Grade Schools

New bids based on revised specifications have been asked for construction of two elementary schools in Arlington Heights.

The board of education received bids on the original specifications on Sept. 19, but all were substantially higher than original estimates.

The board then had the architect prepare alternate specifications and asked the four low general contractors and the four low contractors for the other prime contracts—electrical, heating and plumbing—to submit revised bids based on the alternate plans.

THE NEW BIDS were opened Oct. 3 and at the board's meeting Oct. 18 it considered the bids and found them unsatisfactory.

Roger Burke, board president, said new bids have now been requested from all interested contractors, based on the altered specifications. These bids will be opened publicly at 2 p.m. Nov. 3 in the administration building at 301 W. South st.

The board presumably will act on these bids at its regular meeting Nov. 7. (A

Suburban Girl Joins Peace Corps in Asia

by JIM DAVIES

It might be interesting to watch 24-year-old Cynthia Tice of Arlington Heights the first time she tries to wrap a "sari" around her waist to cover her legs, then winds it around her bosom and up over her left shoulder.

Although her initial contact with the national costume of the Near Eastern female may pose some problems, Cyndy should become an expert in the art during the next two years because she's a member of the first Peace Corps mission to Asia and left this week for East Pakistan.

Adoption of the customary costume of the country and forsaking shorts and slacks and dresses with low-cut necklines in deference to the Moslem conception of modesty is but one of the ways in which Cyndy hopes to win the friendship of the people she will live with and work with during her period of Peace Corps service.

AS FAR AS can be determined, Cyndy is the first resident of the northwest suburbs to undertake a Peace Corps mission, and early this week as the time for her departure grew nearer, she was excited but unmistakably conscious of the responsibility she will bear as an unofficial ambassador of the United States.

Like other members of the Peace Corps she has met, Cyndy has idealistic goals, yet there is nothing of romantic idealism or the "knight on a white charger" concept in her outook. Her reason for joining the Peace Corps is simple:

"Because I believe in this kind of international relations —the person-to-person approach, technical assistance rather than just financial aid."

EAST PAKISTAN, where Cyndy will practice her person-to-person diplomacy, is primarily an agricultural country of about 54,000 square miles, an area slightly smaller than the state of Illinois. Most of the population is Moslem, the national language Bengali.

To prepare for her mission, Cyndy underwent an intensive training program in Putney, Vt., where her schedule was divided into five areas:

Pakistan studies (cultural heritage, history, etc.); United States studies (government, American history, etc.); language (Bengali); physical conditioning (rigorous, but not overstrenuous); and personal adjustment (preparation for the change in mode of living.

After six more weeks of training in Pakistan, Cyndy, a 1961 graduate of the Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital school of nursing, will begin utilizing her professional knowledge to train nurses at the medical college in Rajshahi.

OTHERS in her group will become instructors on the university level, assist in community development projects, or work with the Pakistan government in the department of education. One of the instructors at the University of Rajshahi will be Mike Sidor of Cicero, who will teach physical education.

Cyndy believes fighting for the peace is as important as, or more important than preparing for war, and involves aiding countries to develop their resources, particularly their human resources.

Once the people are trained, Cyndy believes, they will develop the other resources of their native land, thus raising the standard of living and allowing the country to take a more equal place in the family of nations.

"When there is not such a difference between the 'haves' and the 'have nots', unrest both within the country and between it and other countries will be reduced," Cyndy said.

THE PROBLEM of Pakistan in particular is one of insufficient trained personnel in various fields. There are not enough teachers, for one thing, to train the people, and this is part of the mission of Cyndy's group.

"They have the enthusiasm and the plans," she said, commenting on the people of Pakistan, "but they don't have the trained personnel to execute their plans."

The government, cautiously described as a military dictatorship, is actively trying to educate its people, and education is free and compulsory, with adult education encouraged.

"Calling it a 'military dictatorship' is misleading," Cyndy said, "because although the country is under martial law, free elections are provided on the grass roots level."

Thus municipal and state officials are elected, which provides training in the democratic process. Through this training, Cyndy said, the government, under the leadership of President Mohammed Ayub Khan, is preparing the people for complete democracy.

DURING THE next two years, Cyndy will augment her academic knowledge of Pakistan and its people with the personal knowledge and insights which come only through direct contact. From her Putney courses, she has gained a basic knowledge of the Bengali language, and more formal language training is scheduled for her in Rajshahi.

Material gains do not figure prominantly in the Peace Corps picture. Cyndy will live in the medical college nurses' quarters during her two years, and will receive a living allowance based on a Pakistani nurse's salary.

In addition, $75 will be placed in trust for her each month, but she cannot draw on this money. It is available only upon her completion of her two-year contract, and, in effect, comprises $1,800 separation pay.

While living may not be plush or the pay high, the government guarantees Cyndy a sufficient diet to maintain her in good health, she will have 30 days leave a year to be spent within the country, and she has included one party dress in her wardrobe.

MORAL SUPPORT will be provided (through the mail) by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tice of 626 N. Douglas, and her sister, Nancy Jo. Oh yes, and by a senior girl scout troop in Madison, Wis.

Nancy Jo, who is studying for her doctorate in American history at the University of Wisconsin, was responsible for enlisting the support of the scout troop she supervises. The girls are extremely interested in the Peace Corps, and have adopted Cyndy is their "project," promising her any assistance they can provide.

Her father, Fred, concurs. From their comfortable home in Arlington Heights, the Tices contemplated their daughter's imminent departure for Pakistan and somewhat wistfully agreed they would have jumped at the chance to participate in such a project when they were young.

HER BACKGROUND, training and attitude indicate that Cynthia Tice will need little assistance in bearing the responsibilities she has voluntarily shouldered.

And if her mission is successful, when she returns home in the fall of 1963 she will bring with her a store of experience and knowledge which will enrich her own life, and leave behind a host of friends and a corps of trained nurses who will help their countrymen enrich their lives. (B8

STRANGE NAMES of strange (temporarily) places are pinpointed on a map of Pakistan by Cynthia Tice of Arlington Heights, who left this week for East Pakistan as a member of the first Peace Corps mission to Asia. Cyndy is believed the first resident of the northwest suburbs to undertake a Peace Corps mission. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Tice, 626 N. Douglas st. (B8

Health Inspections Slated for New Law

by DICK HOFFMANN

The licensing subcommittee of the Cook county board of commissioners' finance committee met Tuesday to consider an ordinance which would give the county department of health authority to make inspections of restaurants and taverns on a regular basis.

The fact that the health department did not have these powers came to light last week in a letter to the board from Dr. John B. Hall, health department director.

(Hall was admonished by Board President John J. Duffy for implying that the commissioners had neglected the issue, drawing from Hall the admission that he had not brought the matter to the board's attention.)

A MODEL ordinance prepared by the health department was turned over to the State's Attorney's office to have the legality of its contents checked.

The State's Attorney's office is to resubmit the matter to the board.

The health department, however, does have the authority to inspect food handling establishments upon receiving complaints. Restaurants which violate health standards and fail to comply with health department recommendations can be referred to the State's Attorney's office for legal action. In cases involving taverns, the county liquor commission can be notified to have the establishment's license revoked.

But legislation is required in order to give the department powers to inspect establishments on a regular basis, and have the authority to grant and withhold licenses.

Robert DeJonge, chief engineer of the health department, said that to his knowledge the state does not require health inspection licenses either. He said he thinks this function, however, would fall under the jurisdiction of the state Department of Agriculture.

DeJONGE added that special legislation would not be required to pass the licensing inspection requirement. "The State's Attorney feels the law can be passed under the health powers granted our department."

He said he was not asked for a recommendation on fees but thought that it probably would be established on a graduated scale of fees according to size.

DeJonge noted that the health department has conducted three to four training courses for restaurant employees, and that it has assisted communities in training inspectors for them.

There are approximately 1,400,000 persons in Cook county who come under the jurisdiction of the county health department.

THIS INCLUDES many municipalities. The exceptions are Chicago, Stickney township, Berwyn, Oak Park, Evanston, Glencoe and Winnetka, which have their own health departments.

DeJonge said he thought inspections could be set up on a two per year basis: one to be held in conjunction with the issuing of a license and the other to be conducted at some other time during the year. He conceded, however, that in some instances inspections might have to be conducted on a monthly basis. (B3

Riverside's junior-varsity Bulldogs rallied from a halftime deficit and edged Arlington high school 7-6 Monday afternoon

The visitors scored on the first play of the fourth quarter on a pass and a line plunge netted the important extra point.

Coach Dick Ohl's Cardinals had taken a 6-0 lead in the first half thanks to a first period tochdown.

Arlington's JVs, now 0-6 for the campaign, will terminate their season next Monday, Oct. 30, when they travel to York.

Knights' Frosh 'B' Unit Wins

In a game marred by the playing conditions • Prospect high's frosh "B" football team blanked West Leyden 13-0 last Saturday morning.

Playing in a pool of mud, the young Knights used line plunges and end runs in racking up another victory.

Rick Lytle scored the first touchdown on a 10-yard run and also added the extra point. Marty Ryan tallied the second when he intercepted a pass and raced 40 yards for a score.

Don Greco, Lytle, and Ryan turned in strong games on offense but the coaching staff praised the entire team in the victory.

Prospect's frosh "Bs," still unbeaten this season, will travel to Proviso West this Saturday morning, Oct. 28, for a contest at 9:30. (Sp

ALLAN F. BENSON Jr., 8, of 305 E. Wayne pl., Wheeling, received the 2,500th hand puppet from the Service League of Lutheran General hospital, Park Ridge, when he was a patient there recently. He was handed the puppet, named "L. G.," by Mrs. James J. Foy, of Arlington Heights, as Miss Patricia Anderson, pediatrics department supervisor, looks on. Mrs. Louis Larsen, workshop chairman of the League, said it took 12 women, each working 200 hours, to produce the first 2,500 puppets. They used 340 yards of "cheery cherry" colored material for the main part of the puppets' suits, 36 yards of white for ruffles, 48 spools of red thread and 36 spools of white, and 80 pounds of cotton to stuff the heads and shouders.

Prospect Sophs in 13-6 Win

Prospect high's frosh-soph football Knights waited until the second half last Saturday before pushing over a pair of touchdowns that resulted in a 13-6 victory over West Leyden.

Jim McMillan collected the second on a seven-yard end run.

West Leyden's Knights, unbeaten before meeting Prospect, had scored in the first period and held a 6-0 halftime lead Saturday.

Coach Ted Wissen praised the Prospect defensive platoon with the line, in particular, showing well.

Reporter Edwards Asks:

Will Apartments be 'Suburban Slums'?

Officials Are Responsible

by TOM EDWARDS

(Fifth and last in a series dealing with the construction of apartments, duplexes and row houses in relation to residential development of the northwest suburbs.)

Will multiple dwelling development in the northwest suburbs be a credit or discredit to the area?

Are villages heading for a building fiasco? Or in years to come, will present public officials proudly point to the apartments and row houses constructed during their regimes as landmarks of attainment?

And will the builders, in years hence, take their friends for Sunday drives to show them the humanitarian good that they have wrought?

Or are we following in the footsteps of Chicago? Will today's multiple dwellings someday result in condemnations or welfare officials demanding that absentee, high living and anonymous landlords make their buildings livable?

The answer probably lies with the present, with the public and its officials, and zoning and building regulations.

Most villages are asking low paid public officials to cope with developers who have fortunes at stake, who have studied and learned every hook and crook of the business, every loophole they can.

BUT USUALLY an elected official must pound out his living by day and work for his community for practically nothing after a harassing day at the office. When he would prefer to relax in the comfort of his home and the company of his family, he heads for the village hall to listen to various harangues of special interest groups.

Most elected officials serve from a sense of public duty—(although there are profit motivated exceptions). Like most of their neighbors, they could be leisurely watching television or doing a little extra work at home to push ahead in their companies, add to their incomes, or both.

Proper rewards should be offered to attract competent village officials—for a community's progress and future depend a great deal upon them. It might be far cheaper in the long run to pay them decently for their services.

For builders are professionals who get highly professional advice. They spend days and weeks preparing for their parleys with village boards and planning commissions.

Too many are simply working out feints, fakes and subterfuges, threats and cajolements, pretty plans for shoddy construction—ways around anticipated village board questions rather than plans for sound developments.

Too often officials and the public find out that they have been faked out of their positions, left standing in their tracks while the builder has carried his ball for a touchdown.

BY THE time dedicated officials have learned "the ropes," they may have to retire from office to tend to their somewhat neglected families and personal lives. (Wives often violently oppose their husbands constant absence due to meetings).

Or because of a mistake or two, the public replaces its officials for a new green batch that campaigned on those mistakes—then proceed to make the same errors all over again.

For communities almost invariably, when faced with initial development, repeat the mistakes already made in many other communities, and do so over and over again for years.

By the time officials brace for one end run play of builders, they find them running around the other end—or right through center.

Though many try mightily, village officials are normally guilty of being too insular, looking only at their own little island and not benefiting from the vast experience gained by other communities.

About every newspaper reporter who has had contact with several communities can tell of how he has referred officials of one community to another's who have experienced a problem being dealt with by the first.

BUT IN almost 100 per cent of the cases, no contact is ever made with the other community. Its solution is ignored—and the reporter may wearily write another story about the same mistake he had reported upon previously in the other community—and suffers the same vilifications for reporting a mistake.

"Our community needs good publicity, not bad," he is told. If he bothers to answer, he would probably say as before, "Would you have me manufacture good publicity? Wouldn't it be better to earn it?"

Hoffman Estates' village board approved a rezoning for about 450 apartment units last week on a 4-3 vote. Those dissenting evidently were asking for a little more time to study the project.

For a village the size of Hoffman (11,000 population), such a project is a big undertaking. But even more, it will set a precedent for multiple dwelling construction. As long as there was some uncertainty in the minds of some trustees, it should have been resolved before approval was given.

For a great many faux pas have been made because a building proposal was not looked into thoroughly and deeply.

Frequently builders will plead that "time is of the essence." Actually, this is probably a pressure gimmick. In Wheeling this plea has been heard so often that two trustees asked, "How come almost everybody that comes before us needs immediate action? Why did you wait until this 'last minute'?" The builder has probably been planning his project for at least a year and wants village action in the space of a few weeks.

BUILDERS in the northwest suburbs have been pressing for permission from public authorities to put up row houses. Those shown above are part of Brickman Enterprises in Mt. Prospect. They contain about eight individual dwelling units per building. View here shows the most attractive face of the development, that of the front.

IN ALMOST every case, such pleas by builders might better be ignored by village officials—or even viewed with suspicion. The builder has only himself to blame for any financial consequences he may incur by waiting until the last moment to present his plans. It is for him to organize his own time with due allowance for review by village bodies.

The consequences he incurs for not doing so are most likely of absolutely no concern to the public. For the public should never be the one to lose from a development—and almost always it is the public that suffers when its representatives make hasty decisions.

Reporter Edwards-36 Bold Cen

Every aspect of a proposed project should be investigated and weighed, and officials probably shouldn't hesitate to add ideas of their own. If a builder doesn't like it, let him go elsewhere. (But competition between villages to be bigger than the other usually prevents such mature decisions.)

The builder should remember that village officials only have a few evenings a week to do their work, whereas building is his main occupation. It may well take village bodies more months to approve plans than it does the builder to prepare them — and many times it should.

When a builder says time is of the essence, he could be trying to railroad something through unnoticed.

In Wheeling last spring, a developer of a row house project asked the board to hasten its decision because one of his financial commitments had to be renewed on the basis of this project. The board hastened.

Yet this builder did not begin actual construction until almost six months later. But by quick action, he got in under a zoning ordinance the board had hastily past just previously, only to find months later that it was preposterous. So he is building about 100 units rather than about 60 he probably would be able to build now — while some grimly watch.

THREATS OF builders, especially to go to court, usually unnerve village officials. Yet there is a U.S. Supreme Court decision (Berman vs. Parker) which has been reported as giving communities the complete sole right to plan themselves.

Sometimes officials are too credulous. They would rather think everyone is on the up-and-up, taking many persons at their word when they shouldn't.

Also, they are often too shy with builders in asking for enforceable affidavits, written statements, guarantees and assumptions of liability. Developers don't hestitate to get what they need in writing.

Another trouble seems to be that village boards too often sit as a jury or court, judging and leaning toward the well-prepared, professional deliveries of builders or their representatives. Although they may sometimes sit in this capacity, it perhaps should be to a very limited extent.

A board's main duty is to work as an active agent in behalf of the public it represents, as a solicitor, defender, lobbyist or whatever else happens to be required.

An Arlington Heights resident last week criticized its officials for acting in behalf of developers rather than the public. Arlington, which has long prided itself on its community in comparison with its neighbors, is suddenly finding with some degree of shock that its zoning ordinance structure and ideas (or lack of them) of development are wanting.

PROPERTY values are in danger, millions will be needed to correct drainage problems—and the builders are usually free and clear of any responsibility there.

Elk Grove is faced with its first apartment project, a huge one. Time has been spent looking into it—this week should determine how well.

The Elk Grove public has been investigating and protesting the project, even retaining an attorney to take its case before village officials. (It's strange that the public found it necessay to retain an attorney to get itself properly heard before its own officials.)

The project has been recommended for passage to the board of trustees by the planning commission. Yet after approving it on the basis of existing ordinances, one member of the commission seemed aghast to learn that the village regulations were probably the lowest in the northwest suburbs.

Wheeling has been in the throes of trying to upgrade and update its ordinances (that is, some officials are). The village is rather typified by pre-fabricated homes and small lots, and its multiple dwellings are apparently comparatively unimaginative and crowded together.

One thing the village does have is plenty of open space for development, some of it among the most scenic in the area. Yet lots have remained small and Wheeling's zoning regulations are easily the most inadequate in the area. Worse, the scenic beauty is being destroyed rather than added to.

CONSTANTLY heard there is the statement, "The type and kind of development Wheeling can expect." What is being definitely alluded to is that the village can't expect any better development than it already has, that "this" is Wheeling.

But the people that keep telling the community this are almost always the very ones that are making money by maintaining the status quo. The ones that would "hold it down" are the very ones that are "raising themselves up" by doing so.

In general, throughout the northwest community, ordinances governing construction are most often thought of as fixed regulations. Maybe they should be thought of as living, growing outlines for development, always subject to change, based on rationality and foresight, with reason the criteria of their enforcement and variation.

And maybe it would be well if this reason were always founded on the idea of producing the greatest amount of beauty in humanity as possible.

Most ordinances were prepared by some attorney who never built a house or dealt with community planning. He probably compared a few ordinances from older communities and asked the village fathers if they had any special ideas.

The village fathers may have replied, "We don't want anything like what they've got in Podunk or anything higher than that big house John's grandfather built."

THIS SEEMS naive. Yet if the fathers had bothered to expand upon their thoughts and feelings, they might have been able to compile words of reason that would have more strength in court than a legal sounding document containing scanty construction knowledge.

If they had translated their ideas through a combination of competent engineers, planners and attorneys, in that order, a broad basic and logical ordinance might have been forthcoming.

That is, providing the village fathers weren't dominated by landowners who were anxious to subdivide farms they probably inherited from their fathers, and businessmen who simply wanted more population no matter how. That is, if the dollar sign wasn't the main vision of the future.

Village officials have a good idea of the kind of building in which they would like to live or have their sons and daughters raise their families. Perhaps if they thought in terms of providing as well for all, building problems would be few.

Permanency, adequate space, esthetic design, an overall environment conducive to their well being—this is what they would want. But that farm house that grandfather built with his own sweat and with the help of his neighbors (all with little specialized experience) may still be standing long after some of today's subdivisions are tumbling down.

Ordinances cannot ever cover the multitude of variations in building. In trying such, they may become so detailed that they will be burdensome, unwieldy, impracticable and unenforceable. Or they could become so restrictive as to quash progressive thinking.

THEREFORE, perhaps they should be composed with the intent of putting the burden of proof of the merits and reasonableness of a project on the builder. Perhaps the emphasis should be put on the best judgment of village officials, and this made the criteria of enforcement.

It seems that it would be best if all communities adopted building regulations to get what they want, including allowances for variations.

In almost every instance, northwest area villages have set minimum standards of building, below which builders are not supposed to go.

The builders in almost every instance follow the minimum since it generally results in the highest return on the dollar invested. If they can squeeze below the minimum, the dollar return is still higher. Often they ask for permission to build below standards, and often it is granted.

Total result is that villages are getting the bare minimum of what they want.

For example, if for two zoning classifications a village requires minimum lot sizes of 10,000 and 6,000 square feet, that's what they will get, but mostly 6,000 square feet.

WOULDN'T it be better to set 12,000 and 8,000 square foot minimums, halfway between the maximum and minimum the village actually hopes for. Variations of 2,000 square feet could easily be granted—provided that it could be proven that the minimum sized sites would be to the best interest of the village.

Locally, between villages there has been little mutual cooperation, with the end result that all are harmed by unnecessary competition. Quality is probably more desirable than quantity. With that in mind, quality perhaps should be sought in quantity.

There was competition between Buffalo Grove and Wheeling over which would have a certain subdivision. Evidently, the developer used this competition as a lever, playing one against the other.

The villages should have been able to sit down and decide in which the subdivision most logically should be, then let that one do the negotiating. They didn't, and both suffered.

But considering the two boards at that time, it is unlikely that either was mature enough to do so. They may be now. (B 8

Inadequacies In Local Law

Ordinances of northwest suburban villages governing multiple family dwellings are only beginning to be tested. Some will prove quite inadequate.

Some points on which questions may be asked are:

(1) Duplexes (two family dwellings) are generally more desired than are row houses. Yet the requirements for duplexes are generally considerably higher, an important factor which definitely tends to encourage more row houses and few duplexes.

(2) Should the number of people that may live in an apartment unit be limited?

(3) Often village officials have to deal with representatives of an unknown group of builders. The builders know whom they are dealing with; village boards can also expect to know—and perhaps should require affidavits stating ownership.

(4) If building and zoning requirements are set according to the minimums desired, the minimum is what the village will get 90 per cent of the time. Perhaps it would be better to set optimum requirements. After all, the builder always has recourse to ask for a variation.

(5) Verbal promises often prove to be a farce. All building agreements of any kind probably should be in writing, however onerous it may be. Also, rather than the builder putting what he wants in writing, maybe the village should think in terms of putting what it wants in writing for the builder to agree to.

(6) Floods are a continuing problem in all area villages —and an expensive one. Villages have not given enough thought to exonerating themselves from liability for floods and providing for indemnities from builders whose developments are directly responsible for flooding, or even a contributing factor.

(7) Maybe lot sizes would be less important if park and playground areas were judiciously provided throughout developments. One area homeowner said, "I moved from the city so my children wouldn't have to play in the streets—and they still do."

(8) It is almost always thought that small buildings need only small lots. Isn't it possible that some people just might prefer a small dwelling with a large lot?

(9) When you have seen one mass development, you have seen a good example of them all. Could villages avoid this egg crate construction by zoning some areas for individual custom-built residences only, where a family could choose its own lot, its own home and its own builder?

(10) The actual fronts of apartment buildings often face the side yards, which are narrow. Practically windowless sides face the street front and back yard. Since one of the reasons for back and front yard requirements being greater than for side yards is to allow light and air, shouldn't different provisions be made for buildings whose fronts face the side yard?

(11) Sale of individual row houses probably should be forbidden.

(12) Annexation of new land should be handled with extreme caution.

(13) Lastly, the new state municipal planning act gives communities comprehensive powers. A village can hardly afford not to have a master plan. Also, besides a planning commission, a planning department is provided for. Perhaps it could be used to form an unlimited citizens advisory group to the commission.

Plan Dinner To Honor Otto Maleske

Otto Maleske, township chairman for the Elk Grove Regular Democratic party, will be honored by a testimonial dinner in his honor on Saturday, Nov. 18.

The testimonial banquet will be held at the Maitre d restaurant in the village at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are now on sale from members of the Regular Democratic party at $5 apiece.

The entree will be prime rib of beef, and entertainment will fill the evening out as well as a short speech.

IN CONJUNCTION with the banquet, a program is being published, and advertising is being sought. William Pritz is chairman of the banquet and Kenneth Hass is the treasurer for the event. Earl Keegan is handling the publicity.

Keegan can be reached for further details at HE 9-1730.

Age.

It is perhaps the most important single fact to the man or woman growing close to retirement. It is a fact that too many people treat lightly.

Here are the people who are getting into trouble over their age . . . along about 60 or so:

1. The man who said he was two years older than he actually was when he went off to enlist in World War I—and got stuck with the error.

2. The woman who began falsifying her age after her 25th birthday and has kept at it, only better, ever since.

3. The man who had a chance to get a fine 38-year-old job when he was 44. He trimmed his eyebrows and got it and has been six years too young ever since.

4. The men and women who have never had anything but artificial evidence of their age—the word of Mama when they were 4 years old that this was their fourth birthday. They've been building on that for a lifetime. Maybe Mama was right. But in 50-odd years the remembrance might have gone astray.

5. The men and women who just don't know their age—because a doctor wasn't there at birth, because no vital statistics were kept then; because the courthouse burned down; for all sorts of reasons.

There are others who are now in a quandary about their age. But these five groups cover most of them. In the order given above, here are some factors for them to consider:

1. The man who is two years older than he is—your life insurance policies are fouled up; so are any annuity policies you have. (You've overpaid on both.) Your Social Security account is out of kilter. So is your pension account with the company. Furthermore, you'll be retired two years too soon.

2. The woman who is two, five, or maybe eight years younger than she is—You probably have nobody depending on your insurance or retirement income except yourself. Your crisis is whether you need to retire at your normal age or need to work until your falsified age comes up.

3. The man who is six years younger than he is—You are in fine shape on compulsory retirement if, like most men, you never want to retire. You're in a mess on everything else. You've underpaid on your insurance. You'll overpay on your pension. You'll lose six years of Social Security you could have.

4. The men and women who THINK they know how old they are—For all concerned you would be wise to prove what you think.

5. The men and women who just don't know how old they are—You should contact the County Clerk in the county where you were born to see if he has a record of your birth. If so he can give you a photostat of your birth certificate. If there is no official record of your birth, contact anybody who was present at your birth—a midwife, doctor, aunt, older brother or sister. Ask one of them to give you an affidavit on your birth.

'WAY BACK WHEN'

Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz — Phone CLearbrook 5-9078

60 Years Ago—Oct. 19, 1901

Arlington Heights: Henry Bolte has put in an acetylene gas plant to light his show store, the Post office, the bank and Frank Weber's barber shop.

Postmaster Bolte has moved the post office one door south where he has more room, better light and more attractive quarters.

The trotting stallion, Bay Wilkes, 21093 by "George Wilkes" and one of his last surviving sons, died at his home Spring Brook Stock Farm, Arlington Heights, Ill., Oct. 16, 1901. He was 28 years old and sound except for one eye which he lost by accident when young. This horse leaves to the world a great number of sons and daughters, of great value to their owners as bright active and fast road horses.

Palatine: August Bollenbach now of Kingfisher, Okla., sent the editor a sample of the apples grown on his place. It was eleven inches in circumference, nearly four inches thick and tasted delicious.

The milk train now runs fifteen cars and coins money for the railway company.

McCall's magazine and this paper both for one year only $1.65.

Wheeling: Vitruvius Lodge, A.F. & A.M., celebrated the 50th anniversary of their organization at Wheeling Oct. 10 and closed with a banquet and dance. It was an elite affair.

Schaumburg: Henry Menke has sold his house and ¾ acre lot to Herman Troyke for $2,000.

H. Salge sold 4 cows to Henry Dohl at $40 apiece.

One of Henry Nerge's corn shocks was struck by lightning last Friday, and went up in flames.

Arlington Heights: Advertisement: Furniture Moving. When you want to go anywhere, safe and quick, call at Bradley Livery. We have well fed horses and good rigs, single or double carriages for weddings, funerals, etc. We have a first-class feed stable with plenty shelter for horses and rigs.

Schillo Bros. have paid $9,450 for pickles delivered at their Arlington Heights factory this season; beside several carloads of cabbage. They made 1,700 barrels of sauerkraut here last year and have bought 3,500 barrels of kraut since January 1st and have sold all of it. They used 90 tons of salt this season. They have 21 tanks, 14 ft. in diameter and 8 ft. deep, that hold 45 tons apiece. (Note: The Schillo factory was north of the present Arlington Seating Co.).

Palatine: Excavation has started for the new Seip Building.

Carloads of sugar beets are leaving for the sugar refinery at Janesville, every other day and the harvest looks very good.

Schaumburg: John Fenz is having the foundation laid for his new $10,000 mansion.

Itasca: We all enjoyed the band practice Thursday evening, but most of the audience did not show itself owing to the cold.

40 Years Ago—Oct. 21, 1921

Roselle Rumbles: The northside villagers are busy putting up septic tanks to kill the germs.

The Salzman plant is a big improvement and is rapidly progressing. It will light your home, run all kinds of power, buy and sell cream, furnish ice for the hot days in summer. Speed her up!

Bensenville: William Dunteman is one of the most patriotic citizens of Bensenville. He built 3 good frame houses and sold each for $5,000. He also built six handsome brick bungalows on his south side subdivision and sold each of them for $6,800. All these houses are finished inside with oak and maple, and are thoroughly modern, including running water, hot air furnace, gas and electricty on a choice lot, 50 x 150 feet. He sells them on liberal terms, $1,000 cash and $50 a month to good citizens, who thus, soon have a fine home all their own for what they would otherwise have to pay for rent.

The Catholics of Bensenville, though few in number, are very patriotic for a place of worship. They have already put up a neat edifice, for their temporary church until they increase in membership and wealth, when they will build a large substantial church and use the present building for their parochial school.

Arlington Heights: October 2—not any frost to kill garden truck in the meadow.

The Peter and Volz Co. (Arlington Seating Co.) are building a large addition on the east side of their present factory.

Don't dodge the "drive" ten days, ending Oct. 24. Object to raise a fund to support a community nurse for this place.

30 Years Ago—Oct. 23, 1931

Arlington Heights: the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winkelman (Matilda Hoppenstead) was held Saturday evening Oct. 17 at St. John's church. They were married Oct. 20, 1881.

Depression comments: Miss Jackson (the village community nurse) told Mrs. Hayne's of "Observer's Notes" that Mr. Redeker had donated the use of one of his store rooms, where the Welfare workers are to furnish one meal a day for the hungry, needy children, who would otherwise go unnourished. "No parents need apply," the children served are to be the really needy. This is only one of the activities our community nurse helps to forward. Why doesn't Arlington Heights, a city of 5,000 or more inhabitants, pay this splendid nurse and welfare worker a sufficient salary, so she has no worry to wait for it from some other source? Strong, efficient, kind and conscientious, never one better suited to our needs. Let us keep her as our own.

Schaumburg: Mr. Henry C. Redeker died October 16, in his home near Des Plaines. He was born in Schaumburg on the old homestead on Medinah highway May 7, 1859. He married Miss Johanna Busse, sister of Commissioner William Busse, June 16, 1887. Four sons, Louis Henry, Fred and Ernst, and three daughters, Sophie, Amanda and Emma, blessed this union.

Palatine: Henry H. Deverman, born May 2, 1875, in Palatine township, died early last Saturday morning after a short illness. He was a respected and admired citizen, having always taken a prominent part in all village affairs.

20 Years Ago—Oct. 24, 1941

Arlington Heights: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Firnbach celebrate their 55th anniversary Sunday. They were married at Buffalo Grove Oct. 19, 1886. Mrs. Firnbach was born at Aptiakisic March 15, 1864, and Mr. Firnbach was born in Arlington Heights April 14, 1865. Mr. Firnbach has been employed at Arlington Seating Co. since he was 16 years old, making his employment 62 years at one location. Seven children blessed this union—John, Mrs. Albert Goedke and Mrs. Ross Davis, (deceased) Henry Jr., Renader, George, and Mrs. Michael Saar.

Mount Prospect: Herbert Kirchhoff left for service Saturday, going to Ft. Francis, Wyoming, and Jack Weber went to Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

Wheeling: Private Melvin Becker is home on furlough from Oregon, Fort Stevens. He looks as if army life has agreed with him, or else it is his friendship with the mess sergeant. Arthur Miller Jr., stationed aboard the U.S.S. Salt Lake City left the port of San Francisco last Monday. His folks were on their way to see him, but they will enjoy the scenic beauty of the trip to the west coast. Sergeant Eugene Meyer writes of his new duties at Shepherd Field, Wichita, Texas, where he is stationed with the medical corps.

Wood Dale: It may be October 25, but spring is in the Wood Dale air. There are strawberry and violet plants in bloom in the woods.

Q. Can an elopement or "runaway" marriage later be properly announced by means of the customary engraved card?

A. Yes; the announcement of this kind of marriage can be made by the bride's parents, just as it would ordinarily.

Kerner Asks New Effort On Lake Use

Gov. Otto Kerner is urging technical exploration as a basis for working out mutually agreeable ways of meeting common problems between the states and Canadian provinces in the use of Great Lakes water.

In a letter to the governors of Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and New York, the Illinois chief executive wrote that it is highly desirable that "we should do everything in our power to seek a solution to our problem at the state and provincial level with a minimym sacrifice to the centralizing tendencies that are so frequently the result of frustrated local efforts."

The governor commented on the long history of litigation over Lake Michigan water diversion and said no matter what decision the U. S. Supreme Court reaches, the essential problem of efficient and equitable management will remain.

Q. If a girl has tickets for a dance or some other social function, and she has asked a boy to go with her as her escort, does she hand in the tickets herself, or does she give them to the boy to hand in?

A. It is generally considered better for the girl to hand the tickets to the boy, and let him pass them in.

Urges New Ministry

Church Leader Asks Attack on Poverty

"If only our people had as much zeal as the Communists!"

With these words, the Rev. Dr. Ray Gibbons, New York City, director of the Council for Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ, appealed for an all-out attack on poverty to strengthen democracy against its enemies on the Left and Right.

Dr. Gibbons spoke to ministers and laymen of the United Church of Christ from 19 states who held their midwest regional meeting in Grand Rapids, Mich., last week. Representatives of northwest suburban congregations were in attendance.

He warned the churchmen that "Communism appears as the champion of social justice when the churches turn toward individual piety, other worldiness, or institutional preoccupations."

HE CITED THE problems of migratory agricultural workers whose wages average less than $1,000 a year, "the truly forgotten people in our society."

"Who will bind up the wounds of these people left bruised and half dead on the Jericho Roads of our country? You cannot do it by 'passing by on the other side,'" he said, recalling the parable of the Good Samaritan.

Dr. Gibbons called for an early end to the importation of Mexican labor which, he said, depresses the situation of domestic agricultural workers.

He urged the churches to support legislation for registration of crew leaders, education of migrants' children, and for adequate coverage of migrants under minimum wage laws, social security and workmen's compensation.

CHURCHES CAN also help by sending workers to lead children's recreation programs and help the mothers with health problems, he said.

"This is a ministry to people in need and to democracy in America," Dr. Gibbons said. "It is a positive, constructive alternative to communism."

The social action executive deplored the distrust of democracy shown in the emergence of the John Birch Society and the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade.

The John Birch Society, he said, "represents an attack by the privileged upon the people who want to share their privileges - the widening, strengthening Middle Class."

He charged that the organization attacks "equality of opportunity which is the essence of democracy when translated into economic and social terms."

THE SOCIETY'S founder, retired candy manufacturer Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Massachusetts, instructs his followers that democracy is "merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perennial fraud," Dr. Gibbons pointed out.

"Our Christian faith has been the fountain head of religious and civic freedom. Freedom among men is a by-product of freedom in Christ," the United Church leader declared.

He called on the churches to "nourish the roots of democracy" by studying and acting to help solve America's social problems.

"We will not strengthen democracy by using either the methods of communism or the John Birch Society: lies, accusations, fronts, suspicion-spreading, and hysteria. The proper medicine for communism is democracy, the use of constitutional methods, the strengthening of democratic institutions," Dr. Gibbons said.

Here's a Preview Of November Mag

What happened when the famous author of Lust For Life and The Agony and The Ecstacy decided he wanted to build—and live in— a Greek Temple of his own?

This is only one of the many lively features that you'll find in the November issue of Suburbia Today, which will come to you in the November 9 edition of Paddock Publications.

Then there's an article about a facet of Shirley Booth's personality you never knew existed. The Academy award winning actress is a do-it-yourself fan who is very much at home with a tool kit when there are screens to be mended or wallpaper to be hung.

ALSO, THIS month, Suburbia Today examines the rash of abuses of shared telephones and finds that 34 states have legislated stiff penalties for refusal to yield a party line in emergencies.

"Alas For The Nouveau Poor," says Peggy Clifford. They're a new sort of underprivileged class created by taxes and the rising cost of living—the children of the rich who are finding it very difficult to start off on their own with far less than they had at home.

The fashion pages, this month, display a collection of "important little dresses" in silk and wool and tartan and lace, to be worn at every dinner or opening or party throughout the winter.

VEGETABLES, according to food editor Melanie De Proft, are to be stuffed, combined, baked, broiled, creamed, curried, and, most of all, enjoyed.

She proves her point with an array of kitchen-tested recipes for Baked Onions with Mushroom Stuffing, Tuna Stuffed Eggplant, Creamed Vegetables in Green Pepper Cups, Lima Beans with Water Chestnuts, Delectable Spinach Casserole, and Hot Curried Chicken in Tomato Shells.

Garden authority Dorothy Jenkins recommends you decorate with house plants. Grown in soil or water, hardy foliage plants lend warmth, lushness, and color to your house and add to the joy of living anywhere.

Intersection Mishaps Account for Injuries

Traffic signals were indicators to several accidents on northwest suburban highways.

In one incident, at Palatine rd., a mile and a half north of U.S. 45, Wilbur E. Johnson, 45, of 6627 N. Knox, Lincolnwood, and Roger W. Klein, 18, of Mundelein, had stopped for a red traffic signal.

IT WAS 9:10 p.m. on October 17. As both drivers responded to the green light and were beginning to proceed south again, a car, driven by Paul A. Lang, 43, of 1972 Central, Northbrook, struck both vehicles in the rear.

Injured were Johnson and Lang, who were taken to the Holy Family hospital. Damage to the first car was $600; to the second, $100, and to the third, $600.

Lang was charged with driving too fast for conditions.

In a second instance, on Illinois 83 at Foundry road, Julia Rowader, 62, of 1205 Palatine, Arlington Heights, according to state police, disobeyed a stop light.

IT HAPPENED at 8:35 a.m. on Oct. 20. Her car struck a car driven by Kenneth T. Bjertnes, 42, 1800 Park pl., Arlington Heights. Rainey's car then struck a third vehicle, driven by John F. Rainey Sr., 45, of 10 W. Cedar, Arlington Heights.

Injured were Bjertnes and Rainey. A passenger in the Rainey car, John F. Rainey Jr., 392 Pleasant, Hoffman Estates, was not injured. The injured were taken to Northwest Community hospital.

Damage to the first car was $560; to the second, $800, and to the third, $300. The first driver was charged with disobeying a stop light.

Failure to yield brought about another series of accidents, including one on Illinois 72, a quarter mile east of Illinois 53, at 7:35 a.m. on Oct. 17.

Here, Edward Olinski, 49, of 3855 N. Sawyer, Chicago, was making a U-turn on Illinois 72 and didn't see a westbound car, driven by Barbara Vesneske, 16, of Rand rd., Box 324. The first car was struck by the second one.

Miss Vesneske and Georgean Brestanski, a passenger in the Olinski car were injured. Not injured was Olinski, and passengers in his car: James Kelly, 58, of 3068 Davlin, Chicago; Wilbur Brestanski, 33, of 4343 N. Ozanam.

DAMAGE FOR the first car was listed as $250; for the second, $300. Olinski was charged with failure to yield.

On U.S. 12 at Palatine road, at 8:55 a.m. Oct. 19, Penelope M. Trinski, 20, of 8500 N. Waukegan, Mt. Prospect, was heading north.

Going south was Albert Gorr, 52, of RR 2, Lake Zurich. When the first vehicle began making a left turn in front of the second, the cars collided. Both drivers were injured and taken to Northwest Community hospital.

Damage to the first car was $450; to the second, $500. The first driver was charged with failure to yield.

When Martin Tinka, 76, of 5832 N. Marmora, Chicago, started to cross Quentin road on Colfax ave., a quarter mile south of Illinois 14, his vehicle was struck.

The car was smashed by a car driven by Hilda S. Hillesheim, 44, of 622 S. Plum Grove, Palatine, and a passenger in the Tinka car, Kathern Tinka, 73, was injured and taken to her own doctor.

Not injured were both drivers, and passengers in the second car, Steven Hillesheim, 1, and Phyllis, 28. Damage to the first car was $50; to the second, $200. Tinka was charged with failure to yield.

ON FOUNDRY road, about a mile north of Illinois 58, at 9:10 p.m. on Oct. 21, another accident occurred.

Carol A. Garrett, 19, of Toledo, Ia., according to state police, made an improper left turn to go north on Wheeling road and her car was struck by a second vehicle.

This was driven by Donald G. Whetstone, 17, of 1612 Sherman, Des Plaines.

Both drivers were injured. Also hurt were a passenger in the Whetstone car, Beth Clements, 15, of 706 Main st., Mt. Prospect, and passenger in the Garrett car, Leola Chamberlain, 37, of Toledo, Ia.; Linda Lahmon, 13, of 608 Hackberry, Mt. Prospect. They were all taken to Holy Family hospital.

Damage to the Whetstone car was $1000; to the other, $800. First driver was charged with making an improper left turn. (A-14

Arlington Again Tops Area Suburbs' Sales

Arlington Heights again paced northwest suburban communities in Cook county in the amount of municipal sales taxes collected for August with a total of $16,031.

Bensenville led DuPage county's northwest suburbs with $5,607.

Throughout the state, the sales taxes collected in August on July tax liability grossed $4,505,617 and county sales taxes for the same period totaled $269,499, the Illinois Department of Revenue reported this week.

THE COLLECTIONS from 1,140 municipalities and 57 counties represent a tax of one-half per cent on retail sales. Gross collections from cities and villages were reduced by $179,905, the state's four per cent administration cost. Payments paid under protest totaled $4,684, of which $2,968 is included in the amount certified and $1,715 is under jurisdictional order and withheld $4,317,742.

Gross collections from counties were reduced by $10,779, the state's four per cent administration charge. The net amount certified was $258,719.

In the northwest suburban area of Cook county, communities placed in this order in the amounts collected: Arlington Heights, $16,031; Mount Prospect, $10,800; Palatine, $6,664; Rolling Meadows, $6,035; Wheeling, $4,261; Elk Grove Village, $2,255; Hoffman Estates, $1,617; Schaumburg $540; Buffalo Grove, $53.

IN DuPAGE county's northwest suburbs, the municipalities took this positioning: Bensenville, $5,607; Addison, $3,343; Roselle, $2,320; Itasca, $1,619; Wood Dale, $831; Bartlett, $598; Bloomingdale, $378.

Chicago's sales taxes collected for August amounted to $1,726,158, Des Plaines reached $19,525, and Barrington's share totaled $6,444. (A14

Pilots Warned of Winter Weather

Illinois pilots have been warned by the Illinois Department of Aeronautics to maintain a close watch on weather conditions when flying during the coming winter months.

According to J. E. Wenzel, director of aeronautics, cold fronts sometimes move from 40 to 50 miles an hour during winter months, causing hazardous flying conditions. A cold front will drop ceilings below 1,000 feet in an area 50 to 75 miles wide, Wenzel said.

PILOTS SHOULD make use of U. S. Weather Bureau flight briefing services before undertaking flights during winter months, Wenzel said. "The cost of a phone call to the nearfice is small compared to the cost of encountering severe weather during a flight," he said.

Wenzel also warned pilots that critical icing temperatures range between zero and minus 10 degrees centigrade with humidities to 80 per cent or higher. (A-14

Racial Problem Grows

Expert Traces Area's Dilemma

by JOHN REDDY

Restricted growth, the problem of absorbing a new generation, burgeoning Negro population, strength-sapping suburban migration, an area-wide spread of blight and the emergence of a solution of the "race problem" — these mark population changes in the Chicago area.

Since its founding, "Chicago has been continuously facing some kind of a population crisis," declares Dr. Donald J. Bogue, University of Chicago sociologist. "The northeastern Illinois area is undergoing some very dramatic population changes right now, and is due to experience some more."

Speaking before area planners and civic officials at a seminar conducted last week by the University of Chicago Downtown Center, Dr. Bogue stressed the necessity of understanding forces behind the changes.

"PLAN FOR the necessary adjustments; guide the social, economic, and political changes so that they take place with as little upheaval and strife as possible." He stressed cooperation on an area-wide basis in research and planning and the need for a step-up in the quantity and quality of research planning.

"Chicago needs to acknowledge that it has a genuine high birth - rate problem among Negroes, low income southern whites, Puerto Ricans, Mexicans and other special populations.

"It needs to realize that these populations desire smaller families and need and want help in achieving them."

DESCRIBING THE trend toward a solution of the "race problem," Dr. Bogue cited average educational level of Negroes in Chicago has risen "dramatically." According to Dr. Bogue, the average Negro income level has improved substantially. Negroes are now in occupations that only 10 years ago were closed; school attendance rates have improved, with larger numbers of better-educated Negroes joining the labor force yearly.

"The social differences between Negroes and whites in terms of values, behavior and home life are diminishing .... there is greater family stability, greater interest in welfare and upbringing of children, greater interest in owning a a home and furnishing it well, greater interest in civic and community affairs."

DR. BOGUE described the high Negro birth rates, which are only a few points below that of the most economically backward nations of the world, as representative of a fertility that "is not willful overbreeding."

A recent survey, "Problems of Living in the Metropolis," reveals "conclusively that a very high proportion of Negro couples want to have smaller families and are trying unsuccessfully to control family size. They are failing for the lack of knowledge and community service in fulfilling this need."

Dr. Bogue said population growth at the center of the city will remain almost zero or decline even further because of

1—Slum clearance;

2—Freeway clearance;

3—Laws against overcrowding urban renawal.

4—Fall in birth rates and decline in average size of household.

THE CENTRAL city lost 658,000 white migrants to the suburban areas in the past decade while gaining 157,000 nonwhite migrants, Bogue pointed out.

"The nonwhite population grew almost as much by natural increase as by net migration." He indicated that Chicago had a substantial growth of white natural increases, but "it was more than drained off by white out-migration to the suburbs."

Although data is not yet available, Bogue said when it is they will show that suburban areas are accumulating a sizable stock of obsolescent and less desirable housing, and that slum and blight symptoms are striking ever stronger at several older suburban cities.

"As the supply of cheap housing in suburban areas increases with increasing numbers of factory jobs, service jobs and retail jobs being in the suburbs, the result can only be a rapid growth of suburban Negro population, deconcentration of the nonwhite population.

"In the 1970's we may find that the low-income public housing is being built in the downtown areas of outlying suburbs, and that much middle-class and high rent housing is going up along the naturally beautiful sections of the lake shore. (A14

MELODY SQUARES

The Friday the 13th jinx was either overlooked or overwhelmed by the hi-jinks of the Melody Squares at their regular second Friday night dance this month; nobody reported any bad luck, only good dancing. Round dancing sarted at 8 p.m. with the group learning "Clarinet Caper" and by a quarter to nine everyone was rarin' to get squarin' up for the calls of their favorite maestro, Walter Meier.

Walter and his wife, Vera, are now in their 12th year of teaching beginner square dancing in the Arlington high school and many local dancers and callers are alumni of a Meier class.

During the summer some of the Melody Squares worked in exhibition dances for various groups, among them the Mt. Prospect Senior Citizens. A picnic supper for the Seniors preceded the dancing that was held in the recreation hall on the Jack Walter's farm, and the real night dancers as well as spectators had a ball.

THE MELODY Squares dance the second and fourth Friday nights of every month in the Pioneer Park field house, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. Round dancing starts at 8 o'clock and all rounds are requests of the group. Easy or hard, the club masters them all and enjoys each one in its turn.

The next dance will be October 27 and the club extends an open invitation to "join us for an evening of fun and see if we can scare up a few spooks before Halloween." Halloween dress is optional but a good time is guaranteed. Anyone wishing further information about Melody Squares may call VAnderbilt 4-4286.

PALATINE SQUARES

Saturday, Oct. 28 is party night again and a bumper crop of goblins are expected to materialize about 8:30 p.m. at Paddock school in Palatine. That's where Art Mathews and Don Finfrock have been calling a real cool beat the second and and fourth Saturday nights each month. Jerry and Dot Daniels have charge of the round dances and teach a new one each night.

Saturday's wing-ding is not a costume dance but the Jerry Dot will prance around in one of their beautiful exhibitions. Cider and doughnuts will be on the house.

The club announces that all tickets are sold for the Max Forsythe dance, at the same time warning area dancers not to procrastinate regarding New Year's eve plans. Palatine Squares annual New Year's eve supper dance has been growing in popularity and dancers had to be turned away last year.

This year, tickets for the holiday dance will be sold at Palatine dances only and will be offered for sale for the first time November 11. Art Mathews and Ed Hemphill will be on stage December 31 to call out the old and ring in the new year.

A complete supper will be served at midnight, then dancing begins for the first time in 1962 and goes on until about 3 o'clock in the morning, or as long as dancers or caller or both hold out.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

Spirits of days gone by, visions of days to come, ghosts, goblins and just plain people are expected at the Arlington Squares annual Halloween party to be held on their regular dance night, Friday, Oct. 27. Bill Clarke will be calling for this strange group and his wife, Marie, will be leading the circle dance. The Halloween hoop-la starts at 8:30 p.m. in the South Junior high school, Arlington Heights.

The party committee says that prizes are scheduled for the best costumes, there will be cider to wet the whistles between squares and refreshments will be served when the dancing is over.

Friendly ghosts in the area who like to square dance and are not regular members of the Arlington Squares can make arrangements to join them for the evening by calling the Edelblutes, CL 3-0291.

BUCKS AND DOES

The Elk Grove club issues the last call to amateur callers. Saturday night's hard times party is also amateur night for all non-pros in the calling game. They're invited to come to Higgins school, Higgins and Touhy, Elk Grove, and give the gang a sample of their best calls. They are asked to bring their own records.

Guests who would like to round out the square, or even square up the rounds, are invited to join the club membership at all dances. Bob Lewis, the club's regular caller, will start the good time for the hard times at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

DUDES AND DOLLS

The next dance of the Dudes and Dolls Square Dance club will be held at Schroeder Memorial Park in Broadview Friday, Nov. 3, at 8:30 p.m. Caller for the club is Bill Clarke, whose wife Marie, teaches the round dances.

The two dances held in October proved to be a huge success, according to members who reported a good turnout. The October 20 dance was a costume affair and refreshments were served.

Decoration chairmen are Art and Irene Fraley. (B9

New Pest 'Bugging' Area Locust Trees

A new plant pest is adding to the woes of the Dutch elm disease.

It is the mimosa webworm which attacks honey locust trees, according to the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

The bug made its appearance on mimosa trees in the southern part of the state a few years ago, the department reported. Since then it has advanced rapidly into the central and northern parts of the state where it has become a destructive pest of the honey locust.

THE LOCUST is one of the trees that has been recommended to replace the elms that have been stricken with the imported fungus that has ravaged elms throughout the country.

William T. Larkin, a superintendent of the state division of plant industry, suggests that all locust and mimosa trees that begin to show signs of infestation should be immediately sprayed with either lead arsenate (four pounds per 100 gallons of water) or one quart of 50 per cent malathien emulsifiable concentrate in 100 gallons of water.

Lead arsenate was used as a bug eradicator long before the advent of the "miracle" poisons such as DDT. It has proved, when properly used, to be quite harmless to other forms of life. (A14

Begin Save Plan Now: Financier

If you're planning to send your youngsters to college, you had better get busy now in a program to save the large amounts of money you'll need later on to pay the steadily rising costs of college tuition and living expenses away from home.

This is the advice of Frank T. Sedlacek, president of the $81 million Olympic Savings and Loan association, Berwyn, as contained in a statement issued in connection with National Thrift week, Oct. 15-21.

THE AVERAGE cost of sending a child away to college for one year ranges from $1000 for the smaller colleges and state universities to $2500 and more for the large eastern universities, bringing the total cost for tuition and room and board to $4000 to $10,000 per child over a full four year period.

These are substantial sums, even for a high income family, in that they represent a huge cash expenditure over a relatively short period of years.

Autumn Artistry Is Thwarted by Weather

Fall Colors Are Dulled by Damp

The master artist — autumn — has been frustrated in his efforts this year.

This is usually the time when the woods are fired with color, and the bold strokes of the season are splashed unremittingly against a canvas of blue sky.

But this year's annual eruption of sensory satisfactions is in ecpilse.

The combination which creates the annual spectacle — dryness and frost — has been absent, Roland Eisenbeis, chief conservationist of the Cook county forest preserve district, explains.

THE RESULT has been the debut of a drab and ordinary enchantress whose incantations have consistently summoned rain.

"This is more rain than we've had in many years, with the consequence being that everything has stayed green much longer," Eisenbeis said.

It takes cold nights and dry, warm days to inspire autumn's many moods, he pointed out.

"We haven't had the warm, lazy days. This is the only time of the year we have climate; the rest of the year all we have is weather. I feel cheated," the conservationist groused.

But he added that the unseasonal rains which have had autumn's watercolors running have contributed something. "We'll enter the winter months with ample moisture. This is good for fall planting; the fire hazard is down to nil in the forests; the lakes and sloughs are full."

EISENBEIS SAID the heavy rains have only delayed the forest preserve's planting of seedlings by about a week.

The elms, hawthrones, crab apples, locust, and populars' leaves have already yellowed and slipped from their branches to pad the forest floors, Eisenbeis observed.

But the maples still appear as if they have been kindled by hot coals, the oaks are now assuming hues which sometimes flush deep purple, and the sumacs sometimes stun the senses with their garish robes of reddish maroon.

But Eisenbeis warns that this coming weekend will probably be the last opportunity forest preserve visitors will have to observe these nuances of nature.

THE FAMILIAR V formation flights of disciplined geese have been passing overhead on their way to southern climes; the warbler species of birds have departed, and sparrows and juncos are arriving to establish winter residences here.

In the woods of Elk Grove and Deer Grove, chipmunks, ground hogs, and ground squirrels are fattening on fall fruits in preparation for the months of hibernation.

Eisenbeis says, however, that the Des Plaines River Trail nature center located on the south side of Milwaukee ave. and east of River rd., and the Little Red Schoolhouse nature center situated south of 95th st. and Willow Springs rd., will stay open all winter. "The trails will be kept open and marked," he volunteered.

Eisenbeis commented that this transition from one thermometer extreme to another once "stirred man to start storing a winter larder."

NOW, HE observed, his energies turned to equipping the car with antifreeze and putting up storm windows.

This wet, often dismal fall, brought an early observance of this rite. (B-8 AUTUMN, despite its disappointing rains and washed-out colors this year, did have its moments as recorded above by Paddock Publications photographer Larry Cameron. This scene from Camp Pine shows the Euclid ave. bridge spanning the Des Plaines river. (B8

Suburbanites Eye 'Mass' Fallout Shelters

Private Industry Leading the Way

by MELDA LYNN

Group rather than individual family fallout shelters are gaining recognition from housewives, business and industrial executives, and Civil Defense officals.

That thinking has turned to mass shelter is evident throughout the nation by the number of mass shelters being built and planned.

The Illinois State Office of Civil Defense Mobilization (OCDM) stated this week that "hundreds of industries and institutions, such as hospitals, are presently turning in blue prints for constructing shelter facilities."

Women delegates from 50 states of the nation who attended McCall's fifth annual Congress on Better Living, held in Chicago in September, showed through opinion polls that they preferred neighborhood bomb shelters rather than individual family shelters.

SEVERAL OF the women said they would rather put $1,000 in a kitty for a neighborhood shelter than to spend the money for just their families. They believe that since the families might be scattered at the time shelter would be needed, the neighborhood shelter would provide the answer.

This idea has already been carried out in a few parts of the nation. In Glendo, Wyo., community residents pooled their resources and turned a potato shelter into a disaster shelter to take care of 1,000 people.

Business and industry started to set the pace for providing mass shelters for their employees. Many are not only thinking of their own employees, but are cognizant of what they can do to help others in their communities become aware of disaster needs.

IN THE northwestern suburban area, the Charles Bruning company, Mt. Prospect, believes industry should play an important part in Civil Defense education.

The company has provided the service of one of its executives to work as a co-ordinator for the village to help set up a Civil Defense organization to work under the direction of the Civil Defense director, Harold G. Appleby, who is also Mount Prospect village manager.

O'Hare Inn has announced its intention of building the nation's first fallout shelter in a motel. Construction of the shelter is being incorporated into blueprints for a $2½ million addition to the motel's present facilities, according to Dan Pavis, executive vice president of the inn.

THE SHELTER will be able to accommodate guests from the 385 rooms of the inn if a bomb drops.

Construction of the shelter began this week. The 6,000 sq. ft. shelter will cost $50,000. It will be stocked with canned goods and supplies of drinking water, first aid equipment, radio, flashlights and the other equipment essential for survival.

"We believe it is best to be prepared — and we believe it will be reassuring to travelers to know that even though they may be miles away from home they have a safe place to stay if a bomb should drop," said Pavis.

CONSTRUCTION of an underground bomb shelter in the new $16 million executive offices and stewardess training center of the new United Airlines development is now a[illegible] at the intersection of Algonquin rd. and hwy. 83.

The shelter will have a capacity for 1,700 employees.

The roof of the shelter will be made of 17 inches of concrete and have walls 14 inches thick. This will protect employees if a one megaton bomb is dropped within five miles of the development.

According to Larry Murphy, one of the chief engineers for the Illinois Civil Defense organization, among the industries and businesses in the Chicago area which are presenting plans for fallout and blast shelters are International Harvester, Illinois Bell Telephone Co., Stewart Warner, Western Electric and National Tea Co.

THE NATIONAL Tea company is not only considering shelter for its employees in individual stores, but also for its customers.

International Harvester and Illinois Bell Telephone plans are not only for their Chicago operations, but other national facilities.

This trend towards mass, rather than individual family protection is causing Civil Defense authorities to pause in their educational programs in regard to family shelters.

THEY HAVE been following the national program set up in 1958 which has been advocating family shelters. A booklet, "The Family Fallout Shelter" was published in 1959 and has been given wide distribution throughout the land.

Now that there has been a change in national administration, new officials who have new thoughts on the subject have been placed in the OCDM program. The new administration is taking a long look at the present program. It is comparing mass shelter versus family shelter.

While no official statements have been made, it is evident that a new program for survival, possibly financed at least in part by the government is forthcoming, probably within the next 30 days.

OCDM OFFICIALS are not going out on a limb at the present time to either advocate the old program or to tell citizens to wait.

Their statements are of a "guarded nature" and leave the impression that they would like to advise people to wait a few weeks before making individual fallout shelter plans, but can not do so as they have no official authorization to issue any kind of a definite statement at this time.

Suburban Civil Defense officials are apparently soft pedaling the individual shelter plan at this time. They are suggesting that individuals study the situation and make their own decisions until some new OCDM announcement is made.

MOST OF THE local officials are urging that residents concentrate in stockpiling necessary preparedness items such as food, first aid and communication facilities at the present time.

The question of man's right to defend his family shelter from intruders is being replaced by another controversy due to the change in disaster preparedness thinking.

Already people are taking sides to voice their opinions as to whether mass shelters are the responsibility of government, industry or resident cooperation. (B8 O'HARE INN ANNOUNCED plans for the nation's first fallout shelter in a motel last week. Excavating for the $50,000 shelter began this week. The shelter will be 60 by 111 ft. and contain 6,000 sq. ft. of space. (B8

Area Boy Scouts Attend 'Campout'

Boy Scouts and leaders from 23 troops in Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Elk Grove Village participated in the annual camporee this past weekend.

Dean Mann, Mount Prospect, who served as camporee chairman, announced over 500 were at Herrick Lake in DuPage county to compete in the trail problems and prove their outdoormanship by living comfortably under adverse conditions.

THE CAMPOREE was based on a western theme and the trail problems simulated a trek to the west starting in Chicago and concluding in San Francisco.

THE TOP 12 patrols received ribbons for their patrol flags. The winners were the Rebel patrol, troop 155, Mount Prospect, and the Raven patrol, troop 166, Arlington Heights.

Other top place winners were the following patrols: Apache of troop 160, Otter of troop 133, Chicasaw of troop 53, all of Mount Prospect; Dan Beard of troop 7, Panther of troop 135, Buffalo of Troop 57, Crow of troop 37, Black Widow of troop 158, Otter of troop 135 and Rover of troop 57.

OVER 50 Webelos Cub Scouts participated in a special day of activities at the camporee on Saturday. Each Webelos tied all of the tenderfoot Boy Scout knots, showed how to bandage his own finger and branded his own leather patch to wear on his shirt as a reminder of the event.

Following a general Protestant service and a Roman Catholic field mass the camporee was officially concluded Sunday. (B8

Reveal Penalties For Area Drivers

The office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier announced last week the revocation of 234 and the suspension of 622 drivers licenses and privileges, based on local court convictions and police reports.

In addition, 280 persons whose licenses were suspended earlier have been granted probationary permits to drive.

Gergario Sandoval, 1351 W. Algonquin, Arlington Heights, and Celsus N. Stahl, RR 1, Box 158, Roselle, had their licenses revoked for driving while intoxicated.

NORTHWEST suburban area residents whose privileges were suspended for three violations are Earle W. Anderson, 1143 Stratford road, Arlington Heights; Eric H. Hasbrook Happenings

Hazel Peck — CLearbrook 9-0688

Hasbrook's 600 youngsters are preparing for that fabulous Halloween party, Saturday, October 28. There'll be an outdoor parade in the afternoon for the small fry, then in the evening the teenagers will cut their capers at a Masquerade Hop in Wilson school multi-purpose room.

Three of the juvenile population not planning to attend are Michael Joseph McEnerney, Elizabeth Helen DiCola and Linda Donahue in favor of an afternoon nap. You see Michael was born October 1 in St. Anne hospital to James and Ceil McEnerney, 1727 N. Chestnut. Elizabeth recently made her bow in Grant hospital, Chicago. She's the daughter of Marilyn and Vincent DiCola, 1811 N. Chestnut ave. Linda's a new addition to the family of Joseph and Edith Donahue, 1515 Fernandez pl.

FOOTBALL IS the fashion even though some get no closer to a game than the TV sets. However, Gary and Dottie Johnson, 1809 N. Chestnut, were luckier. They attended that exciting game between Minnesota, Gary's alma mater, and Northwestern university.

Bo and Nancy Elder, 1529 N. Ridge, and Bo's parents, who were weekend guests, made up a party for the Ohio-Northwestern game in Evanston. Curt Swinehart and Jim Riemenschneider took advantage of the lovely weather on Sunday and put in an appearance at the game between the Bears and the 49'ers.

Off with the war paint and the grease paint for Walter Neval, 1533 Fernandez pl., who played an Indian in "Annie Get Your Gun" last weekend.

Betty and Bob Zimmerman were in Milwaukee for a few days attending a convention.

All those Hasbrook residents who witnessed an accident at the railroad station last week are singing the praises of Ed Stein who stepped in to offer first-aid. "Be prepared" is the Boy Scout motto, and prepared Ed — Hasbrook's Scout leader was when his help was needed.

WALTER AND Audrey Kramer, 1620 N. Chestnut, are just back from two weeks of pleasant visiting and sightseeing that took them to Long Island, through New England, into New York and to Pennsylvania. Their full schedule included several days in Long Island with Walter's brother, a stay with his sister in Schenectady and some time with Audrey's relatives in New Salem, Pa. They were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Fisher, Walter's sister.

It's child play to figure out that the only thing better than one birthday is two, and when both are tied up into one party package there's bound to be a good thing going. The Ruggeris and the Kendalls, next door neighbors on Thomas st., joined forces for a party Wednesday to celebrate Jami Ruggeri's fifth birthday which fell on the same day, Oct. 25.

Joan and Paul Anderson, 418 Mitchell ct., had some excitement on a recent weekend in Michigan. They left Carl, Peter and Abby with Paul's sister in Jackson, then went on to Detroit to see friends and to attend the game between Michigan State and the University of Michigan. Unfortunately for Joan and Paul, university graduates and staunch rooters, the game went to Michigan State.

JAYCEES IN Arlington Heights have completed tabulation of their community development survey, a project they began more than a year ago to determine what residents of the village consider the most important questions confronting the village. Results of the survey will appear in future issues of the Herald. At one of the tabulating sessions were (from left): Jim Ward, JayCee vice president; Jan Behrens, community development chairman; Pete Baensinger, Royal McBee representative; Frank Precillio, JayCee state director; Don Sweeney, JayCee president. May Revive Badminton For Winter

In recent weeks a renewal interest has been shown in badminton and Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation, said the Arlington Heights park district intends to revive badminton as part of the district's winter program.

Appleby said anyone interested should contact the park district office, CL 3-0602, and register. When enough register, a club will be formed and a playing schedule arranged.

APPLEBY SAID a person does not have to be an expert, but only needs the desire to play. Beginners will be put in groups which contain creditable players, and will quickly pick up the game, he said.

Equipment will be furnished by the park district, or players may bring their own. (A

Radio 'Stars' to Attend Historical Society Meeting

The 18 Arlington Heights citizens featured on FM radio station WNWC prior to the village's 125th anniversary celebration will be guests of honor Friday night at a meeting of the Arlington Heights Historical Society.

The citizens will be introduced by Bob Atcher, station owner, who will also present the broadcast tapes to the historical society. It is hoped that a steel cabinet can be provided for storage of the tapes.

The 18 broadcasts stressed the history and development of the village. In order that the material can be used in the future, R. E. Clabaugh has offered to furnish typewritten copies.

A. F. VOLZ has mounted in a bound book the pages that appeared in the tabloid souvenir edition, "The Span of 125 Years," published by the Arlington Heights Herald. The book will make possible easy reference for future research.

Mrs. Louella Volz is program chairman for the Friday meeting at 8 p.m. in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

The Arlington Heights Historical Society was organized five years ago and played a major role in the village's recent anniversary celebration. The society maintains extensive archives collected under the direction of its curator, Mrs. Milton Daniels, who is assisted by A. F. Volz and other members.

The society hopes to secure museum quarters in the future which will be adequate for storing and displaying the historical data tracing "the story of Arlington Heights." (A

Minor Fire Calls Are Answered

Two fire calls were answered last week by the Arlington Heights fire department, both of them of a minor nature.

Fire Chief Harvey Carothers said one, a small fire under the hood of a car in Westgate shopping center parking lot, was put out by one of his volunteer firemen who operates a service station across from the parking lot. The car is owned by Edith Long, 2019 Martin lane, Rolling Meadows.

Monday firemen answered a call to S. Vail and Central rd. where four buildings were being demolished. The demolition squad had started burning the buildings instead of tearing them down, and the fire got out of hand. Firemen quickly got it under control. (A

WANT ADS are for EVERYBODY

I practice hard every single day, because some day I hope to be an accomplished pianist. And it is all possible because Mommy read an ad which said "Want Ads Are For Everybody." I wanted a piano for a long, long time, but there were so many other things the family needed I was told I would just have to await my turn. Then Mommy started reading Paddock Publications Want Ads and it wasn't long until she found a fine used piano at a price we could afford. That's how I got my wish, and that's why I say that when Want Ads can do so much for a little girl like me, they surely are for everybody!

Fishing 'Season' In Its Final Week

As the Arlington Heights park district fishing season began its final week of angling Monday, the records showed that 945 children and 175 adults had participated.

A big weekend of fishing still remains before the Recreation park fishing season ends on Sunday.

The number of catches through the first 16 days of the 23-day season totaled 290 for an average of 18 fish a day.

TUESDAY morning the pool was restocked for the third time, and Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation, said this load contained the biggest fish stocked in the pool.

A variety of fishing tackle has been donated by Wessman-Cunningham sporting goods store as prizes for the biggest fish caught at the pool.

The Recreation park pool will be open tonight and Friday from 7-9 p. m., and Saturday and Sunday from 1-5 p.m. (A

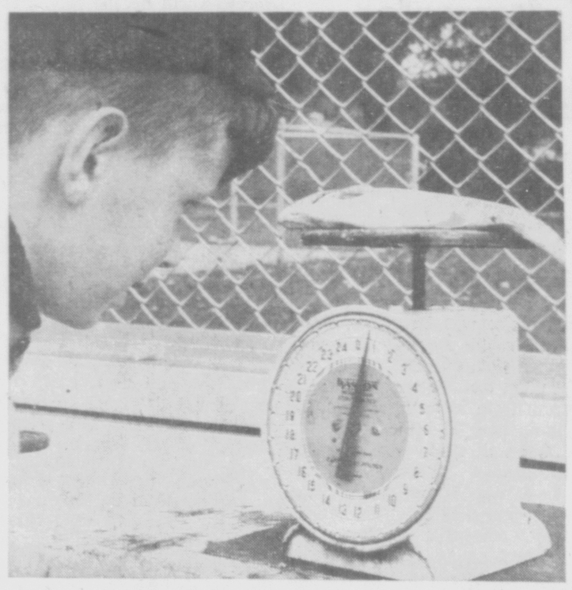
More than 7,000 separate islands comprise the Philippines.



THE SCALE READS three-fourths of a pound, and Chris Haiskey, of 441 S. Vail st., Arlington Heights, is pretty certain it will take a bigger fish than this one to win top prize in the park district's fishing contest. This is the last weekend the Recreation park pool will be open for fishing. Hours are 7-9 p.m. Friday, 1-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. There is a small charge; poles and bait are provided at the pool, or bring your own. (A

Also during the meeting, proceeds from the annual fashion show were made known. This money will be donated to the Mark Lund Hilltop House in Bloomingdale. Newcomers who modeled in the fashion show were introduced to the club. These women include: Mrs. Q. R. Sharp, Mrs. Ed Schmitz, Mrs. Bruce Ostermick, Mrs. David Kammon, Mrs. John Slezak, Mrs. Bill Carroll and Mrs. Robert Kishbaugh.

Walgreens Newest Drugstore Busy at The Market Place

Walgreens' new self-service drugstore at The Market Place, Golf rd. at route 83 is designed for super service according to Walgreen officials.

Indication of its size is given by some comparative statistics, courtesy of store manager Wallace C. Dreikosen, R. Ph.

"SHOPPERS can roam through over 7,000 square feet of sales area, and a large double entry plus three speedy check-out counters make for greater customer convenience.

"Drug and cosmetic wall displays extend to 160 feet — and thousands of other different merchandise items range from auto anti-freeze to electric can openers."

The manager said the impressive size and carefully planned decor of the prescription department reveals the prime position Walgreens reserves for its pharmacy service.

Among the items included for sale in the self-service departments will be tape recorders, ladies stadium boots, battery booster cables, sportsmen's insulated underwear, blankets, record players, furnace filters, children's pajamas, men's dress shirts, housepaints and painting supplies, and a wide variety of Halloween costumes and party items.

A liquor store operated by Walgreens has its own entrance from Golf rd. and also opens direct to the store; it features a wide variety of distinguished names in fine wines and liquors, along with large refrigerated cabinets offering an extensive assortment of chilled beers, carbonated mixes and other party beverages.

"Our main concern," added Dreikosen, "is to make shopping as easy and convenient as possible, and to bring our customers maximum value for minimum money." (BB

WALGREEN SHOPPERS eye-view of 56 different self-service departments! As seen in this typical view, a vast variety of family health and home needs on open display—in sight, in reach—greets shoppers in Walgreens new self-service drugstore at the Market Place Shopping Center, Golf rd. and Elmhurst ave.

Schedule Course On Civil Service

For the first time in northwest suburbs, a thorough Civil Service and Job Improvement course will be offered on Saturday mornings.

The course is sponsored by Ellis Business college in Elgin and will meet Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon for nine weeks.

THIS WILL NOT be just another home-study type of course where students are given a book and told to go home and study, states the college announcement. In addition to complete text material furnished with the course, experienced instructors will cover the majority of subjects and questions most often asked on Civil Service examinations.

Purpose of the course is to prepare men and women to successfully pass examinations for practically every type of position offered by city, county, state, federal or private employers. The training will also be valuable to those already employed who wish to prepare for examinations for higher ratings or jobs with greater pay.

Realtors Make Survey Of Vacant Land Prices

The annual survey of suburban vacant land prices conducted by R. J. Anderson, Inc., Palatine realtors specializing in the sale of vacant land, indicates a downward trend in industrial and subdivision land and an increase in land prices for multi-family property.

The survey revealed that the largest drop was in land zoned for light industrial use.

R. J. Anderson, president of the firm, attributed the price decline to the fact that many suburban communities anxious to reduce their tax base have rezoned large land areas to a light industry classification. As a result, supply now exceeds demand with a downward pressure on prices.

THE SURVEY also indicated a slight drop in prices for residential subdivision land. This reflected the continued absence from the market of the small builder and land speculator.

The great bulk of land investment capital is currently being channeled to participation with large builders rather than outright purchase for future speculation.

Property suitable for multi-family development has reversed the trend of the early part of 1960 and has risen rapidly in value during the last year. The survey indicated prices as high as $3,000 a dwelling unit being paid for extremely choice locations.

COMMERCIAL land prices remained fairly stable during the period of the survey which covered the last half of 1960 and the first six months of 1961. (BB

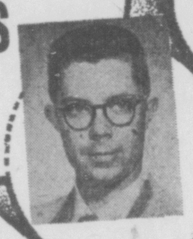
HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor



Alert Homeowners
Dial Daily 392-3060

Whether you are planting a new home, adding to established plantings or replacing overgrown plants, this is the time to plant trees and shrubs. Purchase your plants from a reliable nursery. Make sure large plants and evergreens are balled and burlapped. The ball should be firm and in proportion to the size of the plant. Many bushes and small trees can be bare root.

If the plants cannot be set out immediately after purchase they should be put in the shade and watered. Dig holes for planting at least one and one-half times the diameter and at least the depth of the ball on the plant. If the drainage is poor, some provision must be made to get excess water away from the plants. Set the plant in the hole so that the top of the ball is at ground level. Cut any ropes around the stem of the plant but do not remove the burlap. Replace the rest of the soil, tamping to firm it as the hole is filled. When the hole is filled to the level of the ball, use the remaining soil to form a ring around the edge of the hole. This ring will help to hold water during rains or when the plant is watered. Immediately after planting, soak the plant, even though the soil may already be wet. This is to settle the soil around the ball. The plant should be watered carefully for the first year including during the winter, if there is no snow or rain. But also be careful not to over water yews, pines, and spruces.

SOME YOUNG deciduous trees such as hard maples are susceptible to sunscald which cracks the bark of the trunk during winter. Wrap these trees with a good treated paper and tie it securely.

Stake tall trees to keep them from blowing over during high winds. It is usually necessary to support large trees from all sides. Small trees can be held with two tall stakes driven into the ground on either side of the trunk. Whatever method is used, be sure to protect the trunk of the tree from the support wires. One of the best methods is to run the wire through cut up sections of garden hose any place they contact the tree.

Keep in mind that all plants lose roots in transplanting. Removing one third of the branches of newly planted trees and shrubs will make them quicker to start in spring and when properly done, won't change the shape of the plant.

Cure for Doldrums

Dear Peg:

One of the best remedies I know for the suburban-doldrums which hit all of us at one time or another is a quick trip into The City. Here, in "fantasyland" which is about as much like the suburbs as a Lily Dache chapeau is like a babushka, you can get your mind off of lunch boxes, scouts, PTA and dancing lessons for a while and absorb a little of the excitement and glamour of Michigan Boulevard or State and Madison or perhaps that little neighborhood of contrasts known as the "near north side."

I had a very good excuse to slip away for an evening recently when the Feingarten Galleries on Oak Street presented a preview of the work of Elias Friedensohn, a young and rather new addition to the field of contemporary artists. A holder of many awards, among them a Fulbright Grant, University of Illinois Purchase award and a Guggenheim Fellowship he has a permanent collection in the Whitney Museum, the Lowe Foundation, Sarah Roby Foundation and the University of Illinois.

I must say that sometimes it's quite taxing to keep an open mind when seeing a new artist's work for the first time, however, I keep trying. It seems difficult to say much about Mr. Friedensohn's work. It's the sort of painting that you either like instantly or dislike just as instantly. Most of his paintings were done on huge canvases and all were concerned with people. At least, I think they were people — it was a little hard to tell since they had no distinguishable features other than the shapes of heads, bodies and arms. The lack of faces gave them a spectre-like appearance. In several of the canvases it seemed that some huge ghost or spirit was sitting in judgment as he peered straight out from the painting in others several more shadowy figures were present.

His use of light and dark to cast deep shadows over his subjects was very striking although it added to the eerie atmosphere of the pictures. I would like very much to see more of this artist's work — perhaps earlier work in order to see the progression he seems to have made.

At any rate, the therapy of a trip into the city is wonderful, whether you look at paintings you don't quite understand or window-shop for clothes you can't quite afford!

My love,
Patty

Rita Benedetti Married To Chicagoan September 16

Baskets of pink and white carnations decorated the altar of St. James Catholic church in Arlington Heights September 16 for a double ring service in which Miss Rita Benedetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Benedetti, 202 Ridge, Palatine, became the bride of Dennis E. Staten, son of Mrs. Marie Staten of Chicago.

Fr. John Lane officiated at the 11:30 nuptial mass which was followed by an evening reception and buffet dinner for 150 guests in Schorsch village hall, Chicago.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of candlelight peau de soie with French imported lace trimming the bodice. The petal skirt of her gown ended in a chapel train. Imported French lace also trimmed each petal of the skirt. Her illusion butterfly veil was held in place with a blossom wreath headpiece and she carried white carnations with pink rose buds.

HER ATTENDANTS were in light blue silk linen sheaths with blue chiffon overskirts. Their flowers were of pink carnations and rose buds in a lighter pink. Mrs. Janet Ryan of Palatine was her sister's matron of honor while bridesmaids, both of Arlington Heights, were Sharon Danes and Marcia McMullen.

Also in the bridal party were the bride's niece and nephew, 5-year-old Vicki Lunardini of Chicago as flower girl and 6-year-old Raymond Benedetti, also of Chicago, as ring bearer. Vicki's dress was fashioned similarly to the other attendants' but with full skirt.

The groom's best man was his brother, Gerald Staten of Chicago and ushers were another brother of the groom, Dick Staten, also of Chicago, and Bill Ryan of Palatine.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Benedetti chose a champagne beige silk linen sheath with bodice of beige lace. Mrs. Staten chose a light blue lace with underskir. and bodice of blue taffeta. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations with pink rosebuds.

The newlyweds honeymooned for a week in upper Michigan and at Mackinac Island and are now at home at 6352 W. Melrose, Chicago.

The new Mrs. Staten was graduated from Arlington high school and attended Mundelein college. She is now with the DoAll Co., Des Plaines. Mr. Staten was graduated from Cathedral boys' high school in Springfield and also from Northern Illinois university. He is with Continental Can Co., Chicago. (Jenart Studio (S

A Laugh on the Menfolk

ALL THEY WERE GOING TO DO was go to the football game. A simple enough outing. But by the time they drove off, all of us women were limp just from watching them back and fill.

When the first phone call came in, Father said he would be glad to go. Then he thought about it and decided he wouldn't be glad to go. Then he decided that he would be glad to go. About this time another phone call came through saying that one of the crew was ill and he couldn't go. What to do with the extra ticket.

What else but get back on the phone and start scouting around for another buddy who just loves football. Who also was not home. Twenty-nine phone calls later, they ran him down. He would be glad to go. He would be right home. I thought the whole problem was solved. A mistaken notion.

As the members of the expedition were caucusing out in the middle of the street, I felt that it was safe to use the phone. After all, I have buddies, too, and wanted to see what us widows were going to do. I no sooner dialed a number when Father crept up behind me and asked if this call was necessary.

Feeling that time was running out and his call undoubtedly should have priority, I hung up. Swiftly he dialed a number that I recognized immediately as belonging to one of the fellas he had just been caucusing with. Which struck me as being the height of something or other. And, what was the burning question? Father wanted to know what old buddy boy was wearing. About this time I collapsed with laughter.

Meanwhile, next door, another buddy (the one who was lost) was trying on jacket after jacket before finding one that suited either his fancy or his mood. This tidbit of information I gleaned from his wife who was acting as one of my spies.

Shortly, they all popped out their respective front doors like shots from a popgun and began to haggle over which car they were going to take. Not being able to stand it if we didn't find out what the ending of the story was, all the widows gathered and started placing side bets on the outcome. The girl next door won, and it was with happy smiles that we bid them a fond farewell and retired for a cup of coffee. And a good laugh.

Grandfather's Summer Home Is Honeymooners' Retreat

A young newlywed pair who first met four years ago while Choralier members of the Arlington high school singing group, chose the summer home of the bride's grandfather in Portage, Wis. for their 2-week honeymoon site.

They are Mr. and Mrs. George Franklin Beasley, now of 118 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, the town in which both sets of parents reside. The bride, formerly Nancy Margaret McComb, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. McComb of 710 S. Dunton. Her groom is the son of Mr. and Beasley, 311 N. Douglas.

SCENE OF THE September 9 rites was the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, decorated for the occasion with two candelabra and four altar bouquets of seasonal white flowers and peach gladioli, which matched the flowers of the attendants.

Performed by Dr. Paul L. Stumpf at 3:30 p.m., the ceremony was double ring. Two wedding songs: "The Lord's Prayer," and "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee," were provided by Robert D. Wolff, organist, and William Elker, soloist, both of Arlington Heights.

FASHIONED OF white silk organza over taffeta, the bridal gown had a nylon lace bodice with front center lace panel accenting the panier styled floor-length skirt. Other details were sweetheart neckline and ¾-length sleeves, trimmed with bows at the wrists.

Completing Miss McComb's ensemble was a pearl tiara fastened to a fingertip nylon net veil and a cascade of white tea roses and lily of the valley. She was escorted to the altar on the arm of her father.

THE BRIDE'S cousin, Marcia Born of Arlington Heights, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Diane Burke of Lockport, a former roommate at North Central college; Janet Trever of Arlington Heights and Lynne Schultz, another cousin of Barrington.

All were dressed in frosted peach taffeta gowns with matching nylon organza overskirts in bell shape, rounded necklines and ¾-length sleeves. In the same color were the bow clip hats with veil, satin shoes and camellia bouquets. Jewelry consisted of pearl earrings and bracelets.

SERVING AS acolyte was the groom's brother, 13-year-old John Jr. Best man was Homer Beasley of Long Lake, his cousin; George Stoil, Rolling Meadows; Richard Leckband, Arlington Heights; and another brother, Dwaine, all of whom were groomsmen.

Immediately after the ceremony 250 guests congratulated the pair at a reception held in the church parlors. Assisting the newlyweds was Mrs. McComb, attired in a sapphire blue satin sheath, tunic overskirt and matching accessories.

FOR HER SON'S nuptials Mrs. Beasley selected a dusty blue silk organza outfit with matching hat and gloves. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Following graduation from Arlington high school, the bride attended North Central college in Naperville and is now employed at Baxter Laboratories, Morton Grove. Mr. Beasley is a salesman. (Times (S

Good Diet Pays Off For Mothers-to-be

Young mothers-to-be may especially need to brush up on their diet habits, says a University of Illinois nutrition specialist.

Mrs. Julia O. Holmes says that the "under 25" set especially may have picked up some poor eating habits that may be harmful to both themselves and their prospective babies. Although research results are inconclusive, more and more evidence in animal studies suggests a strong positive correlation between poor diet in the mother and congenital abnormalities in the newborn animals.

THE RESEARCH with animals also points out that, where newborn infant soundness is at stake, the mother's diet immediately before pregnancy starts may be just as important as proper diet during pregnancy.

In view of the fact that many human babies are born with deformities, both visible and within the body, it is more urgent than ever that girls eat an adequate diet throughout childhood and the teen years to prepare their bodies for pregnancy. This diet should be continued through pregnancy and, of course, into later life.

Young women cannot afford to cast proper diet on and off like the fashions they follow if they want the ultimate in health and well being for themselves and their children.

AN ADEQUATE diet during pregnancy, as always, is one that has sufficient quantities of all the essential nutrients. Normal pregnant women need no special diet provided that they are eating adequately at the beginning of pregnancy. Unless under doctor's orders, a pregnant woman needs no foods added and she doesn't need any foods taken away. And, if she eats an adequate diet, she doesn't need vitamin pills or calcium tablets. Furthermore, many doctors believe that pregnancy is not the time to take off extra pounds.

Many patterns have been suggested to guide food selection for an adequate diet. The basic 4 is the most recent plan.

OF THE FOODS on the recommended list, perhaps the most important is milk. Pregnant women need three or four 8-ounce glasses daily during the first six months. During the last three months, one quart a day is recommended.

Nutritionists also recommend that pregnant women eat at least two eggs a day and meat, poultry or fish twice a day. They should also be sure to eat enough green, leafy vegetables: the deeper the green color, the more nutritious the vegetables are.

IN ILLINOIS it is particularly important that pregnant women use iodized salt in order to get sufficient iodine in their diet. The requirement for iodine goes up during pregnancy.

More information about what constitutes an adequate diet may be obtained in such publications as USDA home and garden bulletin number 1, "Nutrition — Up to Date — Up to You," and USDA home and garden bulletin number 5, "Food for the Family With Young Children." (S

Poolside Reception Follows Merrill Pomey's Wedding

A poolside reception and buffet dinner followed the September 2 wedding of Miss Merrill Lynn Pomey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Pomey of Elk Grove Village and Sebastian J. Eger, son of the Edward Egers of McKeesport, Pa. The reception was held at the Villa Park residence of the bride's aunt where the pool was laden with water lilies illuminated with lanterns and flood lights.

Surrounding the pool were round tables, each decorated with a 12-inch bird bath which held white candles and an array of all white flowers. Immediately following the 11 a. m. high mass nuptials, guests brunched in the home of the bride's parents.

The service was held in Queen of the Rosary church, Elk Grove Village, with Fr. Morrison performing the nuptials. Gladioli decorated the altar and white ribbons and greens marked the pews.

THE BRIDE chose a gown of white silk peau de soie with rounded neckline, long fitted sleeves, fitted bodice embroidered with seed pearls and a bouffant skirt ending in a chapel train. A tall pearl crown held her waist-length illusion veil and her bouquet was a cascade of amazonia and stephanotis.

Mr. Pomey gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's cousin, Nancy Ann Woodson of Tucson, was matron of honor and wore a silk peau de soie ballerina gown in turquoise with matching picture hat and shoes. The bridesmaids, Cathy Eger, sister of the groom, and Diane Ellenberger of Mt. Prospect wore gowns fashioned identically to the matron of honor's but in blue and orchid. All wore pearls and matching earrings and carried cascades of glamellias.

ANOTHER COUSIN of the bride, 8-year-old Diane Highland of Elk Grove Village, was flower girl and was gowned identically to the matron of honor and carried a basket of white roses. The bride's younger brother, Thomas Pomey, 10, was ring bearer and wore a white coat tuxedo. He carried the rings on a satin pillow trimmed with chantilly lace.

Edward Eger Jr. was his brother's best man and ushers were the bride's brother, George Pomey Jr., and Anthony DeCola of Villa Park.

FOR HER daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pomey chose a sheath dress of champagne crepe with matching picture hat and shoes and pearl jewelry. Mrs. Eger was in a blue silk sheath with matching cloche hat and shoes. Both mothers had corsages of white amazonia.

The bride, a United air line stewardess, was graduated from St. Teresa college in Winona, Minn. Her bridegroom, a graduate of St. Mary college in Winona, is with Eger Motors in McKeesport.

The couple honeymooned at the Wisconsin Dells for two weeks before making their residence in McKeesport.

Juniors Plan Cocoa Parties To Benefit Brain Research

Part of the work that the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club will do for the Brain Research foundation, other than the usual large monetary donation, will be a public informational service concerning the need and value of the foundation.

Members are planning a series of cocoa parties for friends of their children following "trick or treat" on Halloween. Small pamphlets will be sent home with the children for their parents. "It is hoped by this method that the community will become fully aware of the research that will be conducted in the fields of epilepsy, cerebral palsy, encephalitis, feeblemindedness, insanity, multiple sclerosis, cerebral arteriosclerosis, parkinsonism, drug addiction, alcholism, mental retardation, psychosis, migraine and neurosis, said club members.

"ONE OUT OF every 10 persons falls victim to brain disorders. At birth a child can be born with a brain injury. The brain can be hurt in many ways later on—a blow on the head, infections, and lack of oxygen are just a few of the causes," they continued.

The foundation is a non-profit organization incorporated in 1953, and will be housed in the former Chicago Memorial hospital. The organization is composed of scientists and laymen, headed by Dr. Frederic Gibbs, professor of neurology at the University of Illinois.

"THE INTEREST and financial support of the junior clubs of the Illinois Federation was one of the determining factors that helped establish the foundation in Chicago, the medical center of the world," said the Juniors. The Illinois Federation has donated to the cause since 1956 and given approximately $100,000. Last year the Arlington Juniors donated $305 and this year hopes to give a greater amount.

The Kettering foundation offered $75,000 in challenge money if the foundation could raise the additional $175,000 necessary for the opening of the first division of the hospital, epilepsy clinic. To date the foundation has approximately $125,000. Its immediate goal is $50,000 by December 31. If this can be attained, the epilepsy clinic may be operating sometime within the next year. The entire project will cost over a million dollars.

"THE SOUND of Music," a benefit theatre party, is planned for December 8 at the Shubert theatre, featuring Florence Henderson. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Ray Haltenhoff, CL 5-1565.

Several members of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club are planning to work with other federated clubwomen selling Brain Research "trick or treat" candy in downtown Chicago office buildings October 27. (S

Area Auxiliary Joins In Huge Benefit Dance

Saturday, Nov. 4, the North Shore, Northwest, and Amity auxiliaries of the Chicago Foundlings home will give a "Harvest Dinner Dance" to raise funds for the home. The benefit, featuring the music of George Fanelli's orchestra, will be held in Mt. Prospect country club and will begin with a cocktail hour at 7 p. m., followed by dinner and dancing.

Tickets are $12.50 per couple. Honored guests will include the home's professional staff, the board of trustees, auxiliary presidents, and special friends of the home.

For the first time, these auxiliaries, composed of adoptive parents from Chicago to Lake Forest, from Park Ridge to Barrington, are combining to give one big benefit to help the home carry on and expand its work.

FOUNDED IN 1871, the home is now part of the West Side medical center. There, with its new and expanded medical, nursery and research facilities, it offers expert care to those who come through its doors regardless of race or religion. This help has always been offered free of charge to those who need it and has been made possible entirely through private, voluntary contributions.

Because of the increasing need for the kind of help offered by the home, the auxiliaries are uniting to give their "Harvest Dinner Dance." Tickets may be purchased from Gerald Eckhard of Amity auxiliary, 900 Na-Wa-Ta, Mt. Prospect.

Dear Sue

A TEENAGER'S POINT OF VIEW
BY SUE McDONALD

Hats off to you boys out there in teenland. You are the fastest growing segment of the retail clothing market. Boys are now taking more interest in their appearance and the clothes they wear.

Designers have found what the teen-agers likes and are catering to his tastes this fall. Expect to see your fellow teens dressed in poplin, corduroy, or khaki slacks topped by a bright sport shirt—often of the pullover variety with the tab opening.

THE EVER-popular crewneck sweater will be on the scene, but the shawl collar and the boatneck are coming into their own. The shawl collared cardigan was a big seller last winter and promises to be better this fall.

Teen-age boys have expressed dislike for white dress shirts, so the emphasis this fall is on shades of bamboo, blue, and green. The shirt with the narrow stripes is also popular among the younger set.

The new look for sport coats this fall is away from the basic solids of olive and brown and toward tweeds. Combinations of shades of blue and gray are in the news in the male fashion world.

Fashion experts say that most teens are well dressed, but criticize them for sticking to the very narrow tie. The narrow tie just isn't "in" this fall. Boys, take note!

DEAR SUE,

I am 13 and very much in love. Is there any place where they will marry very young teenagers? The boy I want to marry is 15.

Janet Frankfort, Ky.

Dear Janet,

Most girls aren't even dating by the time they're 13—much less thinking about geting married. Wait until you are old enough to choose a lipstick before you start choosing a mate.

DEAR SUE,

I'm a 17-year old girl and go steady with a 20-year-old boy. His mother doesn't like me and tells all of her friends that I keep him out until two or three o'clock every morning and that I'm trying to get him to quit college and marry me. None of this is true. What can I do to stop these rumors.

Mary Katherine
Kansas City, Kansas

Dear Mary Katherine,

It sounds as if this mother is afraid that she is losing her son. Why don't you have an honest talk with her? Explain that you have no intention of marying so young and ask her to quit talking. If this doesn't work, have your mother call her. Gossips should be squelched; and, besides, you have to think about your reputation.

Sue

Two Receptions Honor Pat Weinrich, Groom

Not one, but two receptions gave friends and relatives an opportunity to greet newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. David Bray Jr. The first was held for 135 guests in Palatine's Immanuel Lutheran church school hall after their August 26 wedding in the church and the second was held Labor day weekend in Kansas City, Mo., for 100 friends and relatives of the groom, unable to attend the wedding.

The bride is the former Patricia Rae Weinrich, daughter of the Adolph E. Weinrichs, 54 N. Rohlwing rd., Paltine, and the groom is the son of the senior David Brays of Kansas City.

Pastor Robert Sauer officiated at the four o'clock, double ring service amid a setting of white gladioli. Soloist for the service was the bride's former college roommate, Mrs. Barbara Brunworth of Long Island, N. Y. She was accompanied at the organ by the bride's uncle, Fred Troyke of Cincinnati.

FOR HER marriage, the bride chose a gown of silk organza fashioned with princess bodice, victorian neckline and chapel-length train. A seed pearl headpiece held her fingertip veil and she carried white carnations and stephanotis.

Mr. Weinrich gave his daughter in marriage.

Sandra Lynn Weinrich was her sister's maid of honor, while the groom's brother, Mark Bray, was best man. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Judith Bichl of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Joy Birck of Des Plaines and Mrs. Brunworth, the soloist. Ushers were James Service of Arlington Heights, Richard Hilgendorf of Milwaukee, a roommate of the groom, and Len Birck of Des Plaines.

The bride's attendants all wore identical gowns of copen blue silk organza and their head bows were of matching material. Their bouquets were mums of tangerine tones.

THE TWO youngest members of the bridal party were the groom's 7-year-old sister, Deborah Bray, who was flower girl and the bride's 7-year-old brother, Scott David Weinrich, who served as ring bearer. Deborah's dress was of white organdy with blue organza cummerbund and she carried a miniature crescent bouquet. Young David wore a miniature tuxedo.

The bride's mother chose a powder blue nylon lace sheath with matching jacket and accessories while Mrs. Bray chose a beige silk organza sheath with matching accessories. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages to complement their ensembles.

THE NEWLYWEDS honeymooned for three days at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton and are now at home at 748 Fifth Court, Des Plaines. The bride, a graduate of Arlington high school and Concordia Teachers college in River Forest, is a teacher at St. Paul Lutheran school, Mt. Prospect. Mr. Bray has studied at St. Paul college in Concordia and also at Concordia at River Forest.

Wheeling Juniors Plan 'Music and Modes' Show

"Music and Modes" is the appropriate title the Wheeling Junior Woman's club has given to its fifth annual fashion show to be held this year on Wednesday, Nov. 8 at the Amvets hall in Wheeling at 8:30 p.m.

The modes will be the ensembles worn by the club member models. Featured in the selection chosen from Strass Apparel of Mt. Prospect will be clothes suitable for holiday parties and holiday entertaining. In addition, a section will be devoted to "at home" clothes and sportswear. The apparel shown will be appropriate to suurban living as well as special "trips to the city."

"THE 'MUSIC' will be in the form of intermission entertainment," announced Mrs. Edwin Wahlquist, ways and means chairman. "We have always tried to make each intermission period different from preceding years, and I believe we have again succeeded.

"While 'fantasy' was the theme two years ago, a 'circus' atmosphere prevailed last year. This year we will journey to the musical stage and present a hit which was later made into a movie," added Mrs. Wahlquist.

THE "HIT" will not be revealed until November 8, but Mrs. Wahlquist did advise that it would be presented by "Music on Stage," a mixed choral group, complete with costume.

Completing the "music-mode" theme will be the table decorations being planned by Mrs. Robert Johnson and members of the social committee. Programs are being done by Mrs. Edwin Matus and Mrs. George McMahon. (S

The REFORMATION

October 31 is generally observed as the birthday of the Protestant Reformation. It was on that day, in 1517, that Martin Luther nailed his 95 propositions on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg.

What was Martin Luther's great discovery? It was the chief teaching of the Bible: "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith, without the deeds of the law." Romans 3:28.

For hundreds of years the established church had taught that man was saved by faith plus deeds. Luther discovered that the Bible taught salvation is by faith alone.

"By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God, not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8.

It was the Reformation of Martin Luther that brought this vital teaching to the attention of the world once again. Through doing so he, in a sense, gave Christ back to the world.

God can bless you through Christ only when the Gospel is preached in the churches and—believed by you.

Why Jewel Pork Roasts Are Best!

Jewel Food Stores

Jewel Pork Roasts are best because they're cut from smaller, leaner loins with less fat and more tender, sweet meat. Lightweight 8 to 10 pound pork loins are the best quality—and that's all that Jewel buys!

That's why smaller, leaner, Jewel Pork Roasts make a better meal for your family!

Pride Of Autumn, Western Bartletts, In Plentiful Supply

Fairest fruit of the harvest, fresh Bartlett pears are in the markets all over the country signaling the abundance of pear orchards up and down the Pacific Coast.

This has indeed been a plentiful year, for the pear trees have produced a luxuriant crop of bell-shaped Bartletts, plump, juicy and sweet as honey.

FRESH PEARS find favor in many households in a variety of ways. The first and foremost is for out-of-hand eating.

In many homes, in addition to being eaten "as is," fresh pears find their way into tasty pies, quick cobblers, other baked dishes, fresh fruit cups, salads or the popular pear and cheese tray as a dessert or snack.

NOT ONLY will you find fresh pears abounding in fine delicate spicy flavor and sweet juice, but they are a wonderful source of levulose sugar for quick energy, and yet low in calories, about 70 calories per medium-sized pear.

Fresh pears are just the thing for dieters—satisfying their sweet tooth, and yet not adding pounds. In addition, fresh pears contain important amounts of essential vitamins and minerals.

PEARS, UNLIKE other fruits, develop their best flavor and texture when ripened off the tree.

Experiments have proven that when fresh pears are picked at the proper stage of maturity and then are allowed to ripen at 60 to 70 degrees, they develop their characteristic sweet, mellow flavor and tender, smooth texture.

Many pears purchased this year will still be green in color. The ripening process is simple. Store the fresh Bartletts at room temperature until they develop their distinctive yellow skin and yield to a gentle pressure.

AFTER THEY ripen, pears may be stored in the refrigerator and kept at their peak of flavor until you are ready to use them.

Week's Best food buys

Retail foods are a continuing treat for consumers this week even though some firmness in poultry meats might be a trick by suppliers having trouble squeezing more supplies into bulging freezers.

On the University of Illinois consumer service weekly survey, fryers shot up 2¼ cents and tom and hen turkeys from ½ cent to a full penny at wholesale.

Total supplies, however, presage a short-lived firmness. Some slightly higher retails will fall back to prevailing levels well before Thanksgiving buying decisions have to be made by consumers.

THE SUBJECT of retail poultry prices can be wrapped up by noting slightly stronger 35-39 cent quotes for fryers, stewing hens a bit higher at 39-43 cents and turkeys holding generally the 29-39 cent range for grade A birds.

Wholesale eggs fell abruptly by three cents a dozen on more realistic marketing factors with medium size grade A reflecting the full discount to post 43 cents as the competitive top.

Large size eggs were down not as much at a 59 cent competitive top. The storage deficit compared to last year now is only 113,000 cases.

IN OTHER staple foods, for the marketing period ending October 28, pork costs dropped the lowest in four weeks on largest supplies since June, wholesale beef declined slightly at wholesale on an irregular market situation to establish some better buys at retail and lamb costs dropped sharply on slow trade.

In a second consecutive week of lower costs, pork fell ¼ cent to ¾ cent at live markets and at wholesale translated into a full 2 cent drop for loins.

Bacon fell fast to post a better value, widely ranging 49-69 cents retail bargain opportunities for top brands, the lower side of the range being the more promotion oriented.

CHICAGO CATTLE receipts were comparable to week-ago, but the 12-market volume exceeded both week-ago and year-ago live market supplies—the total being enough to weaken local quotes.

Wholesale beef responded with carcass beef off ½ cent, rounds off one cent and loins weaker on average. Ribs were most active at steady to higher quotes.

Lamb receipts were 1/3 below year-ago in Chicago, with quotes falling ½ cent. Wholesale reflected a full 1½ cent drop on general buyer indifference and normal supplies for the period.

RETAILERS, after making the previously noted adjustments in poultry, egg and bacon prices, held most other meat lines steady for another week in a continuing attitude of "wait and see." The U of I consensus value column includes the following:

Meats—beef rib and chuck roasts, pork roasts, bacon and lamb shoulder roasts; poultry—turkeys and medium size eggs; produce—apples, bananas, lettuce, cucumbers, potatoes and green beans.

In produce, the "when" and "if" of frost becomes the question around which cost decisions orbit. At the moment, the value list is more restricted, apples being extremely cheap and abundant line—almost as if to accommodate consumers for Halloween.

Cucumbers, lettuce, beans are other cheap staples, supplemented by apple cider, squash and pumpkins in keeping with this time of year.

CITRUS CROPS are late in midwest arrival, but volume is increasing sufficiently in Florida oranges and grapefruit to have stabilizing effect in terms of size, quality and price. Salad greens are ample.

Canned and frozen foods reflect fresh produce seasonal abundance, better bargains immediately available in such demand lines as sugar, orange juice, tomato products, corn and peas. The grocery wholesale index responds 0.2 points below year-ago. (SH

Gobblers, Gobblins Team Up For Pre-Holiday Party Fare

"Gobblers and gobblins" go well together and you needn't wait until November to enjoy turkey, for turkey growers have turned out an abundant crop this year for America's dinner tables.

"GOBBLERS AND GOBBLINS" will team up this Halloween — thanks to a nation-wide promotion of turkeys this month. Illinois Farm Bureau marketing and women's committee members are backing an effort to boost the sale of turkeys locally by distributing brochures on "How to Carve Chicken and Turkey" at local food stores.

Although traditionally the bird is served at Thanksgiving, turkey is good all the time and is available in all kinds of size to fit every family.

Turkey is easy to prepare and runs at a price to make even the most budget conscious housewife comfortable in using it anytime.

AND TURKEY is a versatile bird. It can make its first appearance on your dinner table as a roast and dozens of recipes for leftovers make turkey as delectable the second and third time as it was the first.

As a tip you might like to combine turkey with a Chinese vegetable recipe for a unique taste treat. Chopped with hard boiled egg, pickle and celery, it makes a wonderful sandwich spread for school lunches.

Left over broth and the last few pieces of turkey are fine teamed with noodles or rice in a rich, hearty turkey soup.

AND WHILE WE are swapping recipes, don't forget that you can save time by roasting a whole turkey and freezing half for use later. Wrapped in aluminum foil it can be taken directly from the freezer to the oven, heated in the same covering.

Food retailers throughout the nation are cooperating with farm men and women this week in boosting the sale of turkeys. Representatives from Farm Bureau marketing and women's committees, who have promoted other food products throughout the year, are distributing brochures on "How to Carve Chicken and Turkey" at local food stores. Hobgoblin Punch, Cakes For Halloween Trickery

Halloween, the evening preceding Allhallows or All Saints' Day, has always been one of the favorite holidays of the younger folk. On a clear night they may be able to see the witches astride their brooms, and the black cats stealing across the path!

Planning a Halloween party? Hobgoblin Punch and Orange Cupcakes are two quick tricks for treating the kids. The punch is both refreshing and nourishing with its high vitamin C content. Float orange slices in the punch bowl, but first let the children have fun decorating them with clove "faces."

HOBGOBLIN PUNCH

¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 cups cider
¼ cup sugar (optional)
6 cups Florida orange juice
Orange slices
Cloves

Heat spices and cider to boiling point. Remove from heat; stir in sugar if desired. Cool. Add orange juice. Serve chilled with ice cubes and clove-studded orange slices as decoration. Yield: 2 quarts (16 ½-cup servings).

HALLOWEEN ORANGE CUPCAKES

1 package spice cake mix
Florida orange juice
1 package white seven-minute frosting mix
1 tablespoon grated Florida orange rind
Food coloring (optional)

Prepare spice cake mix according to package directions, substituting orange juice for the required liquid. Turn into small paper-lined cupcake pans and bake according to directions for cupcakes. Cool.

Prepare seven-minute frosting mix, substituting orange juice for liquid called for and adding 1 tablespoon grated Florida orange rind. Add food coloring to tint orange if desired.

Spread over cupcake tops and decorate with candy Halloween figures. Yield: Approximately 3 dozen. (SH the Loaf that became a Legend . . .

WAY BACK IN 1856, St. John's Abbey and University were founded. From the start, the monks baked a wonderful grain-rich bread from an age-old monastic recipe. The thick, brown, hearty loaves became a tradition. . . . a special trade-mark to the thousands of St. John's men who enjoyed it. Graduates write for it, come back for it.

NOW, this old-abbey bread, with its rare, natural flavor and quality, is being baked for you. You'll find it fresh at most good food stores, in the original ROUGH-GRAIN DARK loaf, and in WHITE. Ask for it, try it, you'll agree:

It's what bread was meant to be!

ST. JOHN'S "natural" BREAD

Cook's Italian Menu Features Chicken Breasts, Sauce Poulet

SUPREMELY GOOD is the recipe for Spinach Supreme being prepared by Mrs. Peter B. Erikson of Arlington Heights. This good cook devised this recipe herself to make spinach a more palatable vegetable, and now it is a family favorite as well as delicious company fare. (SH

"Don't let our name confound you," laughed Mrs. Peter B. Eriksen of Arlington Heights when asked for her favorite recipes. "Although our name is Danish," she continued, "we love Italian food!"

And not only does this good cook enjoy preparing Italian dishes, but she also likes to use Francois Pope's recipes that are elegant company fare.

One of her favorite menus features Chicken Alfredo accompanied by Spinach Supreme, a tossed salad with an Italian dressing and rolls, with a delectable cheese cake for dessert.

"I LIKE to enjoy my guests," commented Mrs. Eriksen, so I try to avoid recipes with last minutes fuss and prepare everything I can in advance.

The chicken may be made in the morning and re-heated before serving, while the dessert must be made the day before."

Chicken Alfredo is prepared by first marinating chicken breasts (one per person) in an herb-seasoned sauce. It is then coated with seasoned flour, browned and steamed until done.

"What really 'makes' this recipe is the Sauce Poulet," said Mrs. Ericksen, "a rich wine-flavored chicken gravy which is served as an accompaniment to the chicken and spooned over wide noodles."

TO SERVE this delicious dinner, she places the chicken on a large platter surrounded by a ring of noodles, and the sauce is served in a separate bowl.

The Spinach Supreme, which she serves with this meal, is a recipe which Mrs. Eriksen concocted herself and which has become a great family favorite.

Spinach has so little appeal that one seldom serves it to guests. However, her idea of combining it with cream of celery soup and baking it in a casserole topped by Romano cheese, dresses up this vegetable and turns it into tempting company fare.

THE CHEESE CAKE is a combination of several recipes that Mrs. Eriksen has tried over the years. She combined the better parts of each of these and now has a recipe that suits her taste.

Made in a spring-form pan, this delightful cake has a graham cracker crust with a cream cheese filling and sour cream topping.

"Although this cheese cake is work, it's worth it," commented this capable homemaker, who loves to bake but doesn't really care for desserts. But this refreshing cake would tempt the most confirmed non-dessert eater, and Mrs. Eriksen cautions that because it is quite rich the cake should be cut in small wedges to serve.

WHEN MRS. Eriksen served this excellent dinner to guests recently, there wasn't a "smidgin" left. You are sure to find it equally successful in your home, too.

In addition to her culinary interests Mrs. Eriksen enjoys church work and bowling. She is a member of Circle 7 of the Womens' association of the First Presbyterian church and is president of the Monday Blues Bowling league.

Mr. and Mrs. Eriksen and their daughter, Judy, who is a high school freshman, live at 5 W. Orchard in Arlington Heights.

CHICKEN ALFREDO

4 large chicken breasts
4 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 slivers garlic or ½ teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons Romano cheese, grated
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Beat together the oil, lemon juice, garlic, cheese and seasonings and marinate chicken in sauce for one hour, turning once.

Combine in a paper sack:
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons paprika
1 teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients and beat until very smooth. Pour into pan. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 20 minutes. Let cool for at least 30 minutes.

TOPPING:
1 pint sour cream
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix ingredients together and place over filling. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Place in a 475 degree oven for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and let cool for at least 6 hours or more. Remove from pan and store cake in the refrigerator overnight. Serves 12.

Urges Clinic Zone Support

Last Saturday I attended the Soviet Republic Medical Exhibit at the Science and Industry Museum in order to see why the soviet authorities seemed to have a change of heart and display their medical accomplishments.

Just a year ago a California urologist on a tour thru USSR complained that he was barred from making any inspection tours of their medical facilities. Some of the feeble excuses made to him are too childish to repeat. The theme of this exhibit that one gets is that the government is striving to improve the health and medical facilities of their country.

I THINK that this view should be projected to the American people that it is most essential to the continuance and progression of our Democratic form of life that we do improve and double our efforts to overcome the lead of our mercilous opponents. Not to be repetitive, I suggest that you thoroughly read the Oct. 16 issue of Newsweek, the article under Medicine entitled "Tomorrow's Doctor."

This is a critical question that is just a vital point in our armor of self defense and it will become more acute with time. This is the kind of article that the Roselle zoning board and village authorities should have read before deciding against Dr. Oberschneider's petition.

UNFORTUNATE as it is for the working class people of Roselle not to have a clinic in Turners' Woods, the consoling fact is that there are a herd of White Elephants in the grove. Witness every other house for sale there and picture the misery that the occupants must survive every time a jet plane zooms over their stand of trees. Yes, let them enjoy their reverberation from these planes over the sound of their expensive hi-fi sets. They do deserve to be segregated from us if they so choose, where else can they enjoy such freedom?

Now getting back to the peoples' side of the track, let's all get behind the new proposed medical center and clinic. You, ladies in candy stripe, grey, blue and white get together and attend those zoning meetings and that of the village board and demonstrate to those who are supposed to guide your village affairs that they can be easily replaced if they continue to sabotage your community's health. The present site has no white elephants to be idolized.

Edwards Earns Chapter Thanks

On behalf of the Wheeling chapter of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health association, we wish to extend our sincere thanks for the tremendous cooperation and support given us by the Wheeling editor, Tom Edwards.

In addition to an excellent reporting job, he has had a genuine concern and interest in promoting the concept of mental health as an individual. This has resulted in far greater participation by our community towards the establishment of a Mental Health Clinic than would have been possible without his efforts.

His activities on our behalf are greatly appreciated.

Graham Challenges 'Critic' To Appear Before Committee

I was most interested in a recent edition of your paper, in a letter which appeared over the signature of Mr. Lawrence Kusek who publishes himself as the executive director for the Committee of Congressional Reapportionment of the 13th district. This is indeed an impressive title and if taken seriously, carries heavy responsibilities.

During the past nine months, in my capacity as chairman of the elections committee of the Illinois State Senate, I have worked virtually night and day on the problem of Illinois Congressional reapportionment. In complete candor, I must say that no district in the state has caused more concern in reapportionment than our own 13th. Being the largest district in the state and one of the largest in the nation, this district has undergone a tremendous population explosion within the last decade.

AS CHAIRMAN of the committee in the Senate which took endless hours of testimony on reapportionment, I can assure you that my committee afforded a chance for all to be heard; many times at considerable inconvenience to both the committee and the witnesses, but we were bound and determined that all should be heard. The Committee for Congressional Reapportionment of the 13th district at no time whatsoever made any request or attempt to appear before our committee. This committee must be considered, by all who have investigated the matter, as purely a phantom committee dedicated to the repetitious chore of writing a few letters with the fond hope of having them occupy some newspaper space in several of the publications in the 13th district.

I take personal exception to Mr. Kusek's remarks about my colleagues and me. I do this, fully realizing that Mr. Kusek is of the opposite political philosophy that I have, for surely it must be known to all who care to concern themselves with the fact, that Mr. Kusek was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in the 1958 campaign when he attempted to unseat Mrs. Church.

I, like Voltaire, though disagreeing with what a man says, shall defend to the utmost his right to say it, but I resent criticism which is offered from a platform of bad faith. This man simply has not exercised his right of government and appeared or expressed his views to the statutory body which will resolve this matter.

I CALL UPON Mr. Kusek, now that we are in Special Session and considering the matter of reapportionment, to appear before our committee and present his views or forever hold his peace.

Representative Arthur Simmons and I are elected officials. Our record is an open and public book. We have to justify what we do. When we serve on committees we have to serve and serve with patience, but my patience is not of unlimited endurance.

I do hope that this letter will serve the purpose of drawing him out where his views and opinions might be placed in the public record. In my opinion, good faith compels him or some member of his so-called committee, to journey forth to Springfield so that he might be heard by all members of my Committee.

Letter Spurs Realtor Reply

In response to a libelous letter in the "Fence Post" last week signed by "Disturbed" and attacking Mr. Harold Carlson of the Arlington Heights plan commission, it is only right that I, the un-named real estate broker, accused of collusion with the plan commission chairman, Mr. Carlson, make this statement.

I have, (and will so state under oath) never spoken to Mr. Harold Carlson concerning my request for zoning or any other matters except in the two meetings held for this purpose.

I did not know Harold Carlson personally, having only met him at the first hearing. Further, I have not contacted or asked any favors of any member of the plan commission or village board concerning this zoning. In no way is Harold Carlson, or any member of the plan commission or village board obligated to me or me to them. I regret not knowing Mr. Carlson up to this time and in the light of seeing him in action and the fairness in which he conducted the two meetings on my zoning case, I believe him to be a man of his convictions and one not easily influenced by mass objectors dedicated to the principle that the rights of an individual can be taken away when there are more against than for.

"DISTURBED" says that for the past six months he has attended zoning matters in this area and if so he probably feels like an expert and anyone having the nerve to vote against the mob should be slandered and therefore put in his place and so conduct himself more carefully in the future.

This same slanderer doesn't have the nerve to sign his name to the libelous letter and it could be that his neighbors are not of the same opinion concerning Mr. Carlson. Why didn't he also accuse me of collusion with the Kincaid organization whose comprehensive zoning plan recommended my property be zoned for high density multiple — or why not accuse me of collusion with the new zoning consultant, Mr. Eugene Baughman whose two page report on my property also recommended high density multiple — or why not accuse me of collusion with the 13 realtors that, under oath signed a statement that they had inspected the property and that its highest and best use was for multiple dwellings — or why not accuse me of collusion with the owners of 160 apartments that stated there were only seven children of school age in their buildings and thereby proving without a doubt that the objection petition stating that apartments were causing undue burden on the schools, parks and police was erroneous. Instead, the evidence in favor of multiple zoning was so overwhelming "Disturbed" tries to belittle it by stating that it was shallow and should not be allowed to be presented.

NOT BEING content with a vote in his favor by the plan commission (each of which must search his own conscience as to the fairness of his vote) he must go further and rub salt in the wound. Each one of our public servants are subject to such an attack by unthinking or unscrupulous individuals but it is not the duty of or a public service to the village for the local press to publish such letters without signatures or deny to give the people so attacked the name of the writer as has been done in this instance.

It is to be regretted that a great weekly newspaper such as Paddock Publications cannot establish an editorial policy that any article attacking our public servants must be signed and the writer's name published.

Sports Staff Aid Is Cited

We wish to take this opportunity to express our gratitude and thanks to you and those on your sports staff for your help and cooperation in making our professional wrestling show of October 13, a tremendous success; for it was through your publication we were able to reach many of the business men and citizens of the northwest suburbs. We also wish to thank the many local business men who contributed and supported our organization in this benefit.

We found your sports department most cooperative in using our news releases and photos. We also appreciate their consideration in listing the places of business where tickets could be purchased in advance of the show.

As you know, this show was sponsored by the Square and Compass club of the Palatine Masonic Lodge, in their efforts to help with the youth groups (Order of DeMolay and Job's Daughters) in this area.

Citizen Offers Police Praise

HOORAH! ! for the Palatine police force, in showing an irate Chicagoan that there are still some honest policemen and judges, that will not succumb to bribery or threats of political influence.

I feel certain that the village of Palatine would much prefer to have their tax paying citizens still taxable at the end of the year, rather than a vital statistic, just for the sake of a meager purchase in the shopping center by such citizens as E. K. of Chicago. After all, how much would a person like this ever spend, when they put so little value on their own well being and that of others? ?

THIS TYPE of person apparently fails to understand what a traffic fine signifies. These are penalties applied in proportion to the risk one brought upon their own life and that of others. These fines are really small in comparison to the valuation of a human life! !

Were our mistakes allowed to flourish unnoticed, just how many would take it upon themselves to obey the traffic rules and posted speed limits just for the fear of getting killed, instead of getting a $15 or $25 fine?

Fortunately, there are those who realize this and are content to pay for their mistakes (which we are all capable of) and swallow their medicine in gratitude to God that they did not bring bodily harm either to themselves or others.

Yet, it is quite alarming when you really think about it; that there are many E. K. who are stubborn and proud and will not admit to their errors. Therefore, will continue to jeopardize your life and theirs! !

FOR THOSE who question the ability of the younger generation, let's keep in mind the youthfulness of the President of our country, and that we rely on youth to preserve our freedom! ! !

Incidentally, could E. K. of Chicago be the same party mentioned in an article appearing on page 1, column 8, in the October 19 issue of the Palatine Enterprise?

Police Chiefs' Courage Hailed

The "Fast Buck" boys are in orbit again, peddling pornography and crying "Freedom." It's high time the people told them off. To probe the concepts of liberty is the right of anyone. To tamper with morality in a brazen, public manner gives the people a right to express their deep indignation.

Black is not white. Evil and the invitation to evil remains just that. Sex is God-given and good and is not to be hidden in a closet, but there are differences in the manner of writing about sex. The intent of authors becomes obvious to readers.

The public, and by that I mean the fundamental unit whereby society is perpetuated, namely the family, has a right to protect itself, and to protect its young.

MAY I speak for one segment of Arlington Heights, unofficially of course, the St. James parish high school of religion. Last Sunday, Oct. 15, there were 206 high school boys and girls from the public high schools of this area who attended a 65-minute course of instruction in religion, a weekly instruction. This means that their families subscribed to the Ten Commandments, and other tenets of their faith. As principal this year of the Sunday School, I know that there are 70 men and women who voluntarily and eagerly contributed their time, regularly, to keep this school operating in the capacity of teacher, home visitor, etc. In addition, there is an overflow of 300 public grammar school children who attend similar instruction weekly at St. James because of overcrowding. This certainly shows a deep interest in the morality of the young by parents and families in this area.

I can also tell you of my own knowledge that similar religious instruction for public school students is given at Our Lady of Wayside, Arlington Heights, St. Raymond in Mount Prospect, St. Theresa in Palatine, and St. Alphonsus in Prospect Heights. Some of the other faiths have schools of religion also.

Now here is some additional and weighty evidence from another segment. Monday, Oct. 16, at a meeting of 300 delegates to the Inland Daily Press association in the Drake hotel, Chicago, Editor Jenkin Lloyd Jones of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune said in a speech, "Let's have the guts to say a book is dirt if that's what we think of it, or that a painting is a daub if you can't figure out which way to hang it."

ALSO, JONES praised W. D. Maxwell, editor of the Chicago Tribune, for ordering his newspaper's book department to quit advertising obscene books by including them in the best seller lists.

Tolerance can be carried past the point of virtue, if these rabid enemies of society are allowed to kill the spiritual forces of the weak or the young.

Hats off to Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood and the 10 other suburban police officials for their moral discernment, their leadership and their courage.

Letter Raises Reader's Ire

I am absolutely astonished at the letter which you have published in today's newspaper (Oct. 19) which is critical of Harold Carson, chairman of the planning commission. It was obviously written by an irresponsible, short-sighted individual who withheld his name. When you allow a person to be unjustly attacked, as you have Mr. Carlson, I think that you are obligated to provide space to defend him. As the spokesman for the group of citizens involved in the hearing referred to, I believe a reply from me is called for.

Speaking on behalf of myself and the vast majority of my neighbors, I want your newspaper and Mr. Carlson to know that the opinions of the individual whose letter was published are not the opinions of the majority of the neighborhood. Most of us are mature enough to understand and realize that there are "two sides to every story."

MY NEIGHBORS and I have appeared at numerous meetings involving applications for multiple zoning in our area. We are all home-owners with substantial homes and are genuinely concerned about our property values. We feel that Mr. Carlson has always conducted the hearings in an eminently fair manner and his morals and integrity are beyond reproach.

Mr. Carlson is a dedicated public servant and has devoted countless unselfish hours of his time to the betterment of the village of Arlington Heights. I would be willing to wager that the low-minded individual who wrote the vicious letter has devoted little, if any time, to civic matters and has rarely been involved in civic functions.

I HAVE written a letter of apology to Mr. Carlson on behalf of myself, my neighbors and your newspaper. If you are going to allow such irresponsible attacks on dedicated public servants, we will never obtain men of high character to handle the thankless village jobs.

I hereby call upon your newspaper to publish a statement of apology to Mr. Carlson.

John L. Kirkland
Arlington Heights

(EDITOR'S NOTE; We share Mr. Kirkland's high regard for Mr. Carlson and his work as chairman of the planning commission. However, Mr. Carlson is a public official and, as such, is a legitimate target for comment on the performance of his duties. While we do not agree with the opinions expressed in the Oct. 19 Fence Post, we do feel that all citizens have the right to express an opinion. We do not "censor letters to make sure they reflect our editorial viewpoint or concur in our judgment of men or issues. The purpose of the Fence Post is to provide readers with the opportunity to express their opinion, and as long as such opinions are not libelous, vulgar, or slurs on an individual's personal life, they will be published. All letters to the Fence Post must be signed; no anonymous letters are considered for publication. Names are, however, withheld from publication on request of the writer).

Police Action Worries Reader

The letter written by an annonymous contributor from Palatine on the subject of police censorship of literature deserves a response and a confession. I, too, resented having my reading material censored and frankly considered it an insult to my intelligence. I said nothing. This was cowardice. I confess it and regret it.

I am not familiar with Henry Miller's works, but the idea of censorship per se shocks me. Does our Chief of Police approve of Boccacio? Of Rabelais? Of Cabell? Am I to be allowed to read Engels, or Welch? May I read the encyclicals, or Ingersol? Or how about the story of the white rabbit and the black one? Forbidden or permitted?

If censorship other than personal decision is to become general, the next development will be the growth of a black market in book selling such as has flourished in Europe and elsewhere as the result of zealots who sought to prevent free expression of opinions and ideas. Heaven forbid this should occur in the land of the free, the home of the brave.

Library Merits Better Support

As a border resident between Bensenville and Wood Dale, I take great pleasure in watching the progress of both libraries in this area. Mr. Doane, as a man who takes full credit for divorcing the two units, I am shocked that you are still advocating the penny support system as indicated by your barrel bank, while Bensenville people have already shown their approval of a library by paying a modest tax for its support.

Are you saying in effect that the board for which you speak is not sufficiently appreciative of the efforts of the women who do the work without a penny of pay to grant them no word of approbation?

TRUE, WE NEED publicity for this cause but not for one man holding a barrel, but for the entire community. Didn't they all help to accomplish that fine building? The children, mothers, churches, girl scouts, various veteran organizations, the business men and the Women's club? Why not a picture of a little boy named Kenneth who saves his pennies to buy a Dr. Suess book for all the children to share. Or the elderly retired couple who just about 10 days ago dug two trenches across the south driveway to run off the water from the library gutters.

They forgot to call the photographers in their eagerness to keep the building from floating. And, Mr. President, a few weeks before that that same couple applied two coats of water proofing to keep the bookcases along the wall from mildew.

It is a shame to resort to begging to keep in operation a library that should benefit all the people and especially their children.

Realtor Is 'Dishonored'

The superintendent and the board of school district 214 are to be commended for recognizing the past professional services performed for them and for retaining the same realtor's services for their future work, as outlined at their recent meeting and reported on the front page of your newspaper.

But at the same time, they dishonored a member of the profession by not using his title of realtor, and by the inference that his fee needed qualification and apology.

Will the same hold true for the architect, the contractors, the craftsmen, the book salesman and so forth, far on down the line?

Plan Chief Is Given Accolade

It hardly seems fair that writers such as the one who signs himself "Disturbed" should be permitted to hide behind the skirts of anonymity while attacking the integrity of a public servant. I presume however, that appropriate legal action can be taken to force the disclosure of the name of the individual so that he can be called to account for his libelous remarks.

The rewards of public service are few and the sacrifice of time and energy, which could be devoted more properly to personal interests, is great. I am quite sure that neither Mr. Carlson nor any other member of the government expect to win any popularity contests in doing their civic duty, yet somehow they should receive better treatment at the hands of the public than to be exposed to the ill-tempered, ill-informed and unsubstantiated accusations of people such as "Disturbed" who lack the courage to sign their own name.

HAROLD Carlson has served our community in many capacities for many years. The responsibilities he has shouldered have been important ones; requiring judgement, insight, courage and unselfish devotion to the best interests of the community. I would be proud if I could match his record of conscientious service and important accomplishment.

I know of no one who has done more to make and keep Arlington Heights a fine place to live and it is unfortunate that it takes an incident like the publication of "Disturbed's" letter to make us realize the debt of gratitude we owe Mr. Carlson.

Mt. Prospect Combined Appeal President Answers Criticism

Last week the Fence Post published a letter from a volunteer worker for the Mount Prospect Combined Appeal expressing concern over the confusion on the degree of involvement among the Combined Appeal, the Northwest Suburban Mental Health Association, and the Mental Health Association of Greater Chicago.

This letter touched on three main points. I should like to express the attitude of the Combined Appeal regarding these points.

FIRST: the writer commented on the embarrassing situation in which Combined Appeal workers found themselves because of this confusion. The directors of the Combined Appeal agree that there was some confusion, sincerely regret any embarrassment to those who worked on the campaign and appreciate the efforts made by many workers to handle this situation in the most diplomatic manner possible.

The Mt. Prospect Herald has very kindly reported in its editorial columns the facts, but certain elements bear repeating.

Several organizations purport to work in the interest of solving the mental health problem. Specifically, two came to the attention of the Combined Appeal this spring: these are the two mentioned above. Other things being equal, the Combined Appeal prefers to lend its support to the organization most closely tied to the community: in this case, the northwest suburban group. However, when plans for the 1961 drive were being formulated, this group had not yet definitely organized to the point where it could qualify as an organized, tax-exempt body. Consequently, believing that the Combined Appeal should support some form of mental health activity, the directors voted to support the established greater Chicago group, pending a resolution of the status of the suburban unit. When the Chicago unit, however, expressed their preference to conduct their own drive rather than accept the support proffered by the Combined Appeal, the seeds of possible confusion were sewn and it is obvious that we have not yet been able to answer all questions on this matter.

In the last three weeks, however representatives of the Northwest Association and the Combined Appeal have sought in every way to clarify the following points: first, the Combined Appeal is not collecting on behalf of the Northwest Association; second, both groups realize that the accident of time contributed to the regrettable confusion that exists; and third, that both groups are mutually interested in working out the present problem in the best possible fashion so that future relations will be on a level of maximum cooperation.

THE SECOND point cited by the writer of last week's letter asks what will happen to funds earmarked by donors for mental health purposes. The by-laws of the corporation of the Combined Appeal state that the Combined Appeal cannot distribute funds to organizations not previously screened and accepted.

There is only one purpose for this stipulation: to protect the tax-exempt status of contributions by individuals to the Combined Appeal, and by the letter, to the charitable, health and welfare organizations. However, the Combined Appeal clearly recognizes its responsibility to the community and in the event that funds are designated for the express support of mental health activity, the directors will make every possible effort to recognize the wishes of individual donors in this matter.

As in the past the Combined Appeal will release a public statement regarding its distribution of funds at an open meeting in January, at which time this distribution can be discussed further if necessary.

FINALLY, the writer expressed concern over the attitude of people who, in future years, are asked to contribute to, or work with, the Combined Appeal. In commenting on this, I have only this to say: The directors of the Combined Appeal are not professional fund-raisers: they derive no benefits — tangible or intangible — from the success of the Combined Appeal effort.

In conducting their extra-curricular activities as directors, they recognize that they are likely, from time to time, to make errors, creating confusion in the conduct of their affairs. However, we respectfully wish to remind the community that, in the first year of our activity, we successfully combined 11 independent drives into one, and turned over to the 11 benefitting agencies contributions which in no case represented less than 98 per cent of the amount requested, and, in the aggregate, averaged out to better than 101 per cent. While the returns for the 1961 drive are not yet in, we see no reason why we cannot come close to duplicating this record in future years.

To do this, however, we need the continued and loyal support of citizens whose interest is as high as that of the lady who wrote the letter last week, a degree of support which recognizes that occasionally elements of confusion will arise, but that in the long run the interests of Mount Prospect will best be served by a whole-hearted endorsement of the principles and practices of the Combined Appeal.

Dade County Experiment Faces Its Severest Test

growth in recent years.

The debate over Dade county's metropolitan experiment was climaxed this month in a hotly-contested election for a list of charter amendments that would have taken away the powers Metro holds over municipalities within the county.

Residents voted by a narrow margin to retain their controversial government.

COMMENTING ON the closeness of the vote, Metro County Manager Irving McNayr said it means Metro must continue a "hard sell" approach for centralized government.

The "hard sell" approach may soon be tried on Cook county, which can benefit from the experience of its block to such an approach in Cook county is the legitimate concern of suburban citizens fearful that a super-government will shatter home rule and self-determination, and deliver them into the all-powerful grip of a corrupt and hoodlum-riddled city political machine.

Metro has been offered as a panacea for the ills of metropolitan Chicago, which urgently needs aggressive leadership in regional planning and a realignment of governmental functions as well as elimination of overlapping and duplicating services.

Dade county may not have found the final answer, but it at least indicates the direction in which will inevitably move. The future demands of America's urban centers will necessitate increased consolidation of governmental functions and some relinquishing of local control.

Writing in a recent Stanford Research Institute publication, Dr. J. Knight Allen warned that "a strictly town hall or small-town suburban government, divorced from the central city government, is not equipped by jurisdiction, political power, interest or competence to deal adequately with most of the unmet governmental needs as they exist in the metropolitan setting."

The Way We See It

Boundary 'Disputes' Confuse Main Issue

High school district 214 faces a problem with serious consequences in the pending furor over boundary lines for the new Forest View high school. Knowing the community's concern over such fundamental educational concepts as boundaries, the board of education has proclaimed Monday night, Oct. 30, as Most Hallow E'en and has invited all of bad spirits to vent their righteous indignation and saintly outrage.

In the role of the "bad guys" of the 8 p.m. theatrics will be the high school district's administrators, the hapless professionals who have presumed to insert reason into the matter. It is their proposal, based on measurable growth and an unaccountable concern for efficiency, which has touched off the controversy. They have instigated an argument similar to a family fight after the slicing of the pie, but they have no knife for a weapon.

Although the administrators will point out that the time when all high school children from Arlington Heights or Mount Prospect cannot be fitted in one building is fast approaching, they will be accused of breaking up football teams, high school romances, locker partners, and other such important aspects of education. While the educators went through the same "emotiorama" when Prospect high school's boundaries were defined, no one likes to see a grown taxpayer cry.

The board of education, which has so far found the neutral position an excellent vantage point from which to view the fireworks, must make the unavoidable decision. How the board members will evaluate most Hallow E'en testimony can only be conjectured; perhaps they will regard it as lightly as the Wheeling youth's epistle of appeal which was based on Prospect's won-loss record in athletics. But board members are most dangerous when confronted with unhappy constituents.

If there is some flaw in the administration's proposal, it certainly should be pointed out. If, however, as we suspect, protests are based on emotion stemming from no small amount of snobbery, the E'en could be most distasteful.

The board and the administrators have dedicated themselves to quality education for all district 214 students, even at the expense of parents who may consider themselves unequal. One third of the faculty for the new school will come from Arlington's present staff; another third will move from Prospect. The administrative staff will be experienced personnel. Two years from now Forest View students will be squawking about a split for a new school in Wheeling.

Cook County Governmental Agencies 'Uncoordinated'

Two occurrences of the past week involving Cook county government have left the disturbing thought that its many parts are operating independently of one another.

Raymond M. Hilliard, director of public welfare, showed considerable irritation over being questioned by the county board of commissioners as to the location for a welfare department branch office.

Dr. John B. Hall, director of the county department of public health, displayed chagrin after Board President John J. Duffy dressed him down for not bringing to the board's attention the fact that Hall's department did not have the authority to inspect restaurants and taverns within its area of influence on a regular basis.

Duffy bristled over Hall's letter which stated that a licensing inspection ordinance was "long overdue," and drew the admission from Hall that he had never presented the board with facts of the matter before.

Hilliard didn't attempt to hide his pique at being questioned by Commissioner Charles F. Chaplin (R., Northbrook) on suitable locations and rental costs for welfare department branches.

Asked how the department determined if rentals were fair, Hilliard replied: "By our own considerable experience."

The exchange showed that: 1) many department heads seem to think they can operate independent and autonomous little Duchies of their own; 2) that the county board is not being consulted and advised as often as they should.

But it probably also illustrates that the commissioners are not pursuing their duties as vigorously as they might. The board's standing committees include: finance, public service, roads and bridges, building, legislative, civil service, rules, tax delinquency and zoning.

Subcommittees of the public service committee are: county hospital and Cook county school of nursing; Oak Forest hospital; department of public aid; county jail, criminal court and courthouse; and Family court and Arthur J. Audy home for children.

It seems obvious that if all these committees were functioning regularly, the county board would not be faced with the task of having to ferret out facts by quizzing department heads or of being caught unaware of a serious situation.

The fact that there is no inspection requirement for food handling establishments on a regular basis (the health department will investigate individual complaints) is cause for concern. With the exception of several communities which have their own health departments, the county is responsible for incorporated as well as unincorporated areas throughout Cook county. It involves a jurisdictional section encompassing 1,400,000 persons.

A more constant liaison should be maintained between the county board and the many offices for which it is responsible, and the board should exercise closer supervision of their many functions. For the county is running a venture which represents sizable investments made by the taxpayer. Total cost of public assistance for September reached $14,376,000; there are 3,000 persons on the county payroll just to administer the welfare program where costs are shared by the county and state. Cost of running the county hospital comes to around $21 million a year.

The aggregate age of the county board is close to 1,000 years, and represents an average of about 66 years per member. While we do not wish to debate the merits of youth and energy versus age and experience, it does appear that the commissioners might expedite business at hand somewhat by showing a little more vigor and initiative.

Understanding for Peace

The United Nations, which observed its 16th anniversary Tuesday, was designed to save generations; its success depends upon the will and understanding of peoples everywhere.

The great majority of mankind represented by the delegates of 50 nations resolved on June 26, 1945, "to combine our efforts" to make a secure and better world through "an interpational organization to be known as the United Nations." On that day, at San Francisco, they signed the United Nations Charter, which became effective October 24, 1945. From 1946 to 1959, 31 other nations were admitted, and in 1960, 17 — 16 of them African — were added, bringing the total membership to 99.

Nations signing pledged to settle their disputes by peaceful means and in such manner as not to endanger peace, security, and justice. Our hope for peace makes it imperative that the public gain more understanding of its purposes and potentials.

Is Metro Plan Final Answer?

by CHARLES HAYES

The growth of metropolitan areas has created new needs and the necessity for new answers.

Problems of jurisdiction, tax and debt limitation have led to a multiplicity of boards, commissions, authorities, districts, and trustees to handle new jobs ranging from bug abatement to sewage disposal.

Too often this governmental hodge podge attracts mediocrity because of the limited scope of responsibility and challenge. It hashes any prospect of efficiency because of duplication of services and operation on a scale too small to be economic. It also results in neglect of area-wide problems — and worse conditions are ahead for these metropolitan regions unless machinery is created, not only to deal with broad-scale issues, but to foresee future problems and take preventive measures.

METROPOLITAN government has been widely touted by students of government as the answer to the jumble of county and municipal units that now rule big metropolitan areas such as Chicago.

The merit of such a proposal remains untested except in Dade County, Florida, which has the only true metropolitan government in the country and is considered a national experiment.

Dade county has a million residents and 27 municipalities, including Miami, Miami Beach, Coral Gables, and Hialeah. Its unique government, called "Metro," was established in 1957 as a local super - government superimposed over the individual municipalities within the county as well as the unincorporated areas. It was designed to provide efficiency and tax-saving in local government by coordinating services provided by the individual municipalities within the county.

EVER SINCE Metro came into being, however, it has been faced with a constant stream of problems.

The municipalities have resisted Metro's efforts to take over their functions, and critics claim Metro is proving neither efficient nor economical.

Metro has fallen far short of its original goal of replacing a multitude of separate municipal service departments with cheaper, more efficient county-wide arrangements. With only a few exceptions, the services it now provides are those previously handled by the old county government, new ones which no level of government provided before, or ones that parallel existing services. Only to a limited degree has Metro assumed services provided previously by municipalities.

ALTHOUGH IT is endowed with broad powers to supercede town authorities in such fields as road building and maintenance, regulation of taxis and buses, zoning, traffic control, and urban renewal, Metro officials have moved cautiously because of strong opposition from officials and residents of many towns.

Metro has been faced with the problem that these towns are not going to go out of business voluntarily, and with property taxes and governmental outlays rising at the municipal level, many Dade county taxpayers have become distinctly unhappy about footing the bills for the new and expanding Metro government.

One civic leader traced its limited success to a "bad start," because at first Metro thought in terms of consolidation of municipalities rather than federation. The original Metro officials aggravated already-ruffled feelings of municipal leaders.

DESPITE ITS difficulties, Metro can claim accomplishments. It has created a metropolitan court to handle all traffic violations within the county; set up a uniform traffic code; established a county-wide planning board; unified the area's bus lines into a mass transit system; drawn up a uniform building code; set up a port authority and proceeded with a new $20 million Miami seaport; spurred a lagging expressway program; expanded and modernized the county hospital; and established a county-wide garbage collection system.

Metro's gains have cost money, however. The cost of operating the government has grown from $45.2 million in its first year to $59.9 million in the current year. This compares with a county budget of $38.9 million in 1957 and $14.6 million in 1950. To help pay these costs, county property tax revenues under Metro have increased from $25.3 million in 1958 to $36.3 million this year.

Much of the budget increases are in the areas of public works, police, fire, welfare, traffic, and mass transportation. Financing such capital items as new sewer lines has helped to push tax needs higher, and Dade county, like most metropolitan areas, has experienced rapid population

Issue of Propriety

Behind 'Book Ban'

by DICK HOFFMANN

I haven't read "Tropic of Cancer," and it doesn't look as if I'm going to get the opportunity to do so. This is the book that suburban police chiefs have determined is pornographic, and they have "asked" book distributors to ban from their shelves.

I'm not particularly anxious to wallow in pig-pen prose, but I would like to read Henry Miller's 1934 effort since a number of critics consider the work a contribution to literature.

From what I've learned from acquaintances who have purviewed the contraband, some of its passages are similar to that which you would find scrawled on toilet walls.

BUT A BOOK has to be viewed in toto to consider its ultimate worth. You do yourself, and the author, a disservice by just reading select parts in order to arrive at a judgment.

Whether Miller is declaring his independence by shouting obscenities in print, or whether he is as depraved as the unfortunates who feel compelled to scribble their sickness on the privy's sides, I have no way of knowing.

Even granted the occasion for reading the work, I couldn't make such a determination. I'm not a psychologist. But police chiefs aren't acknowledged as being literary critics either.

I think the chiefs could have spared themselves notoriety, and their villages the time and costs of litigation, if they had requested book dealers to place an "adults only" limitation on sale of the publication. This, of course, is not as foolproof as sweeping the shelves.

THE EFFECT even obvious pornographic literature has on young minds is difficult to measure. I would suspect that the young, reasonably healthy person whose upbringing was not soiled by an unhappy home life would not suffer unduely from such exposure, although he would probably be repelled.

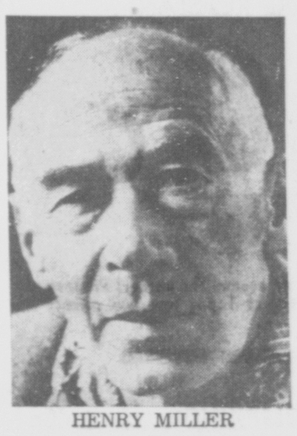
This does not mean that we should cease in our efforts to prevent pornography.. Teen agers already are confused by and have too many temptations to resist in a culture saturated with commercial sex. I don't think Henry Miller's Parisian pilgrimage, smudged as it is with Old English epithets and pockmarked by demented descriptions (from what I'm told), is fit reading for those under voting age.

But adults should be free to set their own literary standards, even if they are unfortunately of the lowest common denominator. It can be argued that this book or that picture triggers a crime of violence against virtue or innocence. But to the sick mind, it can also be maintained, even the lingerie ads in a mail order catalog appeal to the "prurient interests."

AL CAPP, the creator of the cartoon, "Li'l Abner," always answered critics who saw comic books as a source for sullying young minds by reminding them how fairy tales contain a fair share of violence. Little Red Riding Hood's grandmother becomes the wolf's dinner before a woodsman caves in the beast's head with an axe. Hansel and Gretel had to resort to the drastic expedient of cooking the bad witch alive.

The "adults only" ban might not be sufficient to satisfy a policeman's sense of efficiency. I have sat through "adults only" movies surrounded by a bevy of snickering bobbysoxers. But in enforcing such a restriction, the police, at least, are on solid ground.

Police chiefs in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Des Plaines were among the 11 suburban chiefs hauled into court last week to answer their actions in a suit prepared by the American Civil Liberties Union.



HENRY MILLER

THE CHIEFS, who justify their move as enforcement of village anti-smut ordinances, were probably motivated by what they thought was in the best interest of their communities. But good intentions do not dismiss the fact that they have invaded an area which is the prerogative of the courts. (The Justice Department lifted the long-standing ban on "Tropic.")

And their trespass is dangerous in its implications. I remember a conversation I had with an Arlington Heights book distributor which shows the extent to which such arbitrary action can lead. She told me a local vigilante group had forced her to remove "Andersonville," MacKinlay Kantor's Pulitzer-prize winning story of the Civil War, from the book racks because it contained passages the group found objectionable.

Deerfield Police Chief David Peterson said if the local library obtained the book, he would take steps to have it banned. It is not too many steps from the library to the home across the street.

HENRY MILLER'S alleged literary excess may seem inconsequential to the issue of freedom and censorship; it isn't. Once a precedent of this sort is established, it's as hard to remove as an impacted tooth. And the next banned book could as well be one of a philosophical or political nature. This can be the result when we let the police determine what reading matter is safe for consumption.

When I finally was able to read the unexpurgated version of "Lady Chatterly's Lover" after the Supreme Court cleared it, I found it about as interesting as an exercise in plane geometry. But at least I was able to determine this to my own satisfaction.

An Objective Account

Red Bent of 1930's Writing Is Explored

By MARTIN E. MARTY

Much of the research of the 1960s will be devoted to exploring the 1930s.

Looking back, it was certainly a tragic, depressing decade in national life. It was also an exciting time for a writer to be alive: for once national issues were being presented in blacks and whites, hots and colds, and writers were asked to choose sides. Many of them chose for the political left, attracted by the Communist Party. Almost all of them lived to regret their choice.

Daniel Aaron tells their story in "Writers on the Left" (Harcourt, Brace and World, $7.50), a long, careful, objective account of the Communist-socialist bent of many American writers in the 1930s.

IT IS OFTEN said—and Aaron agrees — that Communism itself helped produce no enduring strand in American literature.

He is more sympathetic than many of us can be from our vantage in the 1960s, to the dilemma of writers. Great writing is usually written out of great passion. Communism seemed to provide the setting for such passion in their time. Many were fatally attracted.

Looking back it is worth observing that no first-rate writers joined the Party on any large scale; party members for the most part were obscure almost to the point of literary insignificance.

OTHERS WHO did not join held positions that orbited near the Party's—John Dos Passos is a good instance. As the 1930s ended and the full extent of the Stalinist terror came through most of them had become disillusioned or had come passionately to oppose their own past. Many of them, unstable characters from the first, learned that it was as profitable financially to be anti-Communist as it had been to be Communist, and still make a good living of it.

But as Aaron points out, most of the major writers were through with Communism by 1940. Even the war-based alliance and the ally-based honeymoon with Russia in the 1940s, when "everybody from Monsignor Fulton Sheen to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker had kind words for the Stalin regime" (Life magazine was there, too!) failed to reinterest most of the writers.

WHY? FOR ONE thing, they knew that Communism had turned out to be a wholly wrong answer to some very real problems; by lending their literary talents they helped obscure attempts to correct the problems. For another, Communism mistreated really good writers: it allowed no one independence. The party hacks spent much of their time tearing up deviationists.

But Aaron points out, and I believe he is right, that even more profound was the fact that Communism because it was an ideology prevented a writer from looking at life as it is, with its manifold textures. That has been an enduring problem in America. Most of its greater writers are harder to tab on the "left" or the "right."

Today, when anti-Communism occupies the place that Communism once did, it attracts numbers of writers, too.

As an ideology, it may well mean the end of their talent. Happily, American life offers more alternatives than it did in the black-and-white Thirties.

It is a sad but rewarding venture to kick around in the monuments of that unhappy decade, and Aaron's book is a serious contribution to such an outing.

Harriers Seek State Berths Saturday

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

JUST ASK AN OBSERVER of Little Seven football this fall who's the best fullback in the state and he'll nominate Sycamore's Chuck Gautcher.

Ask an Interim league fan and he'll give the nod to Prospect's Bruce Andrise.

Hinsdale's Pete Hambrick is the No. 1 choice of West Suburban followers.

Try to single out the best fullback from that quartet of schoolboy standouts and you're in for a first-class argument.

If the caliber of fullbacks performing in this area is any indication of the remainder of the state this fall, the All-State selectors are faced with a herculean task when they get around to picking the post-season honor teams.

Of immediate concern are the relative merits of the four boys in area leagues and each carries with him a handsome set of credentials.

rolled to 31 straight varsity football victories. Chuck put on a one-man show last Friday evening in Sycamore's 21-13 victory over Belvidere with two touchdowns and three extra points.

Gautcher will have the support of the Little Seven when it's time to nominate All-Staters.

Prospect's Andrise is a familiar name to readers in the Paddock Publications area with the 185-pounder a tremendous competitor both on offense and defense for the Knights.

Bruce is the second leading scorer in the Interim league with eight touchdowns and two extra points for 50 markers. He's a fine team leader and an excellent student.

This likeable senior will get plenty of backing when the Interim league presents its candidates for All-State recognition.

Palatine's Merutka made a name for himself last spring with his state record in the shot put, but Andy doesn't confine his athletic efforts to track and field. This 200-pounder is a tremendous football player both on offense and defense and the North Suburban conference's leading All-State candidate in 1961.

Andy is the roving linebacker in a 7-1-3 defense and has accounted for one-third of Palatine's tackles. In addition, the senior, an honor student at Palatine, has collected six touchdowns and approximately 550 yards rushing.

Hinsdale's Hambrick needs no introduction to most area football fans. This 175-pounder is the defending league scoring champ in the West Suburban conference who's headed for a repeat in 1961. As a junior, Pete registered 13 touchdowns in league warfare and this season he has nine with two games remaining.

In Hinsdale's key game with powerful Downers Grove this fall Hambrick collected 177 yards in 15 carries and tallied two touchdowns. In another clutch performance Pete cracked out 113 yards against highly-regarded York.

Last Saturday against Glenbard West Hambrick tallied three more touchdowns on scampers of 43, 88, and 21 yards.

In addition, Pete has been turning in some terrific defensive performances for Harvey Dickinson's state-ranked Red Devils.

Gautcher, Andrise, Merutka, and Hambrick . . . four outstanding schoolboy fullbacks on four strong teams.

Take your pick.

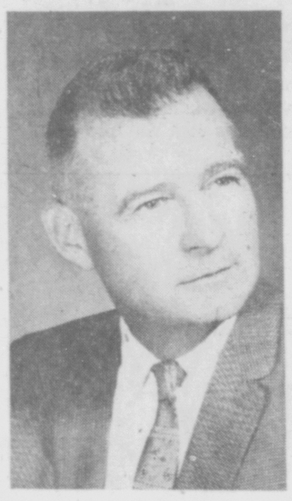
Grace Retiring at AHS

Lester, Kinneman, Beckman Appointed Athletic Directors

In a move necessitated by the retiring of Wally Grace and the opening next year of the new Forest View high school, the Board of Education of Township High School District 214 today (Thursday) officially announced the selections of Howard Lester, Dick Kinneman, and Bill Beckman as athletic directors at the three area schools.



HOWARD LESTER

DICK KINNEMAN

BILL BECKMAN

Lester, currently serving as athletic director at Prospect high, will assume the duties at Arlington in the 1962-63 school year. Grace, who has served as athletic director for 17 years at Arlington, has announced his retirement effective at the end of the current school year.

Kinneman will become athletic director at Prospect high school and Beckman will be the director at the new Forest View high school when it opens next fall.

LESTER GRADUATED from Illinois State Normal University in 1939 and came to District 214 in September, 1953. During his first four years he coached varsity basketball and baseball at Arlington. He has served as athletic director at Prospect since 1959.

Contacted at Prospect, Lester said, "It's given me a great deal of pleasure to have been associated with Prospect high school and see it grow in these building years.

"It certainly will be a challenge to follow Wally (Grace) after his outstanding contributions to athletics, but it will be a tremendous privilege to work with Bill (Beckman) and Dick (Kinneman) and the people involved with the athletic program at Arlington high school."

Prior to coming to District 214, Lester served as athletic director and coached football and basketball at Shelbyville from 1948 through 1953. He began coaching at Waterloo, Ill., and also served as athletic director at Batavia from 1942 to 1948.

KINNEMAN graduated from the University of Illinois in 1948 and came to Arlington high school in September of 1956. For three years he was the junior-varsity basketball coach at Arlington.

During that time he also served for one year as frosh basketball coach and for two years as coach of varsity baseball.

In 1959 Kinneman moved to Prospect high school where he is now in his third year as varsity basketball coach. At Prospect he has produced an outstanding record of 47 wins and four losses with a 22-2 record in 1959-60 and a 25-2 mark last winter.

AT PROSPECT he also served as frosh-soph baseball coach one year and is in his second year as frosh-soph cross country mentor.

In addition to his responsibilities as athletic director at Prospect high school Kinneman will continue to coach varsity basketball.

Beckman graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1950 and came to Arlington in September, 1951. For four years he was assistant varsity football coach at Arlington and then head frosh-soph grid coach for another four years.

FOR THE PAST three years he has been varsity football coach at Prospect high and his squads have compiled an outstanding 18-2 record.

During the eleven years he has been in the district Beckman has served as an assistant track coach, specializing in the weights and other field events. In this capacity he has produced two state champs—Dick Winterbauer, in the shot put and Bill Palmer in the high jump.

Beckman will continue coaching track at Forest View along with his responsibilities as athletic director.

Dad's Day Battle

Prospect to Tackle Proviso West Outfit

Prospect and Proviso West, two of the classiest entries in the Interim league this fall, will collide Saturday afternoon in a headliner that should pack 'em in at the Foundry rd. plant.

A Prospect victory would assure the varsity Knights of at least a tie for the coveted Interim flag.

A Prospect setback could throw the title chase into a three-way deadlock with one decisive week remaining.

In addition to their title aspirations, Coach Bill Beckman's Knights also boast an amazing winning streak that reached 18 last Saturday with an unimpressive 20-0 victory over West Leyden.

A LOT IS riding on the outcome of Saturday's tussle at Prospect. The important varsity festivities will be preceded by a junior-varsity test at 12 noon. Dads of the varsity and JV performers will be special guests at the games.

Proviso West tuned up for its meeting with the league leaders by pasting hapless Deerfield, 53-13. Logan Dugaw and Bill Silhan ran wild with four touchdowns each and the talented halfbacks have now accounted for 80 of Proviso's 91 markers in league play.

Dugaw, a 5-9, 177-pound senfor, was an All-Interim selection last fall as he sparked the Panthers to six victories in eight outings. He finished in a tie with Prospect's Tom Petrosino and Keith Voigt for the scoring crown and currently holds second in the '61 derby with the Knights' Bruce Andrise.

Prospect will have to play better football than it's shown in the past two weeks if it hopes to knock over the Proviso unit Saturday.

BECKMAN'S Knights held only a one touchdown lead heading into the final period last weekend against a West Leyden outfit that hasn't been making too much noise this fall. And it was the defensive platoon that accounted for that initial score.

Jim Hogarty, Dennis Hogy, and Ron Aukamp broke through to block a punt and Hogarty picked up the ball and raced for the six points.

With All-State candidate Andrise leading the charge the Knights collected a pair of scores in the final stanza and wrapped up their 18th straight victory.

BECKMAN doesn't plan any major lineup changes this week and will open with Hogarty and Dennis Mitchell at the ends, Hogy and John Krupa at the tackles, Steve Fossler and Dick Zell at the guards, and Aukamp at his familiar center slot.

Ken Groh will open at the quarterback berth he shared with Bob Gerrard again last Saturday and Tommy Thomas and Jim Anderson will operate at the halfbacks. Andrise will round out the backfield.

District Runs At 10 Centers

District competition for 194 downstate and suburban high school cross country squads will unfold this weekend at ten centers throughout the state.

Harriers have been assigned to district meets at Bradley, Crystal Lake, Maine West, Edwardsville, Geneseo, Herrin, LaGrange, Lincoln, Peoria Heights, and Urbana.

In addition to these 194 squads, the Chicago Public high schools will also enter runners in the competition. The 1961 total represents the largest number of entries in the history of the meet with 160 running in last fall's districts.

PALATINE. Arlington, and Prospect will hook up in the Des Plaines (Maine West) district Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, joining 19 other squads in one of the roughest meets slated in the state.

Willowbrook's Warriors will journey to La Grange (Lyons) for their district competition, joining 22 other schools, including defending state champion Glenbard West.

Each school may enter ten boys in the district runs, seven of whom may compete. Only the first five runners to cross the finish line will be counted in the tabulation for team honors.

THE FIRST FIVE finishers and members of the first and second place teams from each of the district centers will be permitted to advance to the state finals in Urbana on Saturday, Nov. 4.

Two teams and five individual runners will be advanced from the Public high school cross country meet in Chicago.

Suitable medals will be awarded to the first five runners and to members of the first and second place teams in the district meets and to the first ten runners and members of the first and second place squads in the state competition.

A TEAM trophy will be awarded to each team winning a district meet and to the winner and runnerup at the state.

Evanston's Wildkits, Suburban league champion, have been accorded the favorite's role in the rough Maine West district although Palatine, New Trier, and Highland Park all boast strong squads that could threaten.

New Trier won the 1960 title and went on for a solid second in the state run. However, the Indians lost their top two boys in Weymouth Kirkland and Tibbs Carpenter and may have trouble repeating Saturday.

HEADING the highly-regarded Evanston contingent will be sophomore Chuck Schulz who edged New Trier's Tim Wrenn for second place in the Suburban league competition. Giving Schulz some adequate support on that Wildkit unit are Dick Kuehne, Dick Brewer, and Jim Holman.

DES PLAINES (MAINE WEST)

Arlington Heights (Arlington); Barrington; Chicago (St. Mel); Chicago (St. Patrick); Deerfield; Des Plaines (Maine West); Elmwood Park; Evanston; Evanston (St. George); Franklin Park (East Leyden); Highland Park; Mt. Prospect (Prospect); Medinah (Lake Park); Niles (Notre Dame); Norridge (Ridgewood); Northbrook (Glenbrook); Northlake (West Leyden); Palatine; Park Ridge (Maine East); Skokie (Niles East); Skokie (Niles West); Winnetka (New Trier).

LaGRANGE (LYONS)

Argo; Aurora (East); Aurora (West); Berwyn (Morton West); Chicago (DeLaSalle); Chicago (St. Francis de Sales); Cicero (Morton East); Downers Grove; Elmhurst (York); Glen Ellyn (Glenbard West); Hillside (Proviso West); Hinsdale; LaGrange (Lyons); Lisle (Comm.); Lombard (Glenbard East); Maywood (Proviso East); Naperville; Oak Park; Riverside-Brookfield; Villa Park (Willowbrook); West Chicago; Wheaton (St. Francis); Wheaton (Comm.).

Topping the Suburban league meet in individual ranks and expected to head the district test at Maine is Highland Park's Jim Weinert. Auther of a new state record in the mile last spring, Weinert finished fourth in the state cross country run as a junior.

COACH Gene Laulunen has a strong squad at Palatine and the North Suburban Pirates may take home the big prize Saturday. Palatine finished third in the district last fall and boasts several talented returnees from that unit, including junior Jerry Kusek who placed seventh and senior Gene Meyer who captured ninth.

Exceptional team balance has been evident on the Palatine squad this fall and the Pirates are expected to make a strong showing Saturday.

Arlington and Prospect boast creditable units but aren't expected to threaten in the team ranks at Maine West. Senior Jim Hendricks heads the varsity Cardinals while Rog Luedke is the Prospect high mainstay.

WILLOWBROOK is hooked up in a rough district at LaGrange with the host school, Glenbard West, and Proviso West all boasting units that could claim the team title.

Glenbard's defending state champs, headed by junor Jim Isaacson, are given the nod at LaGrange but aren't expected to waltz to as easy a victory as they claimed last fall.

A terrific individual battle is shaping up with such boys as Glenbard's Isaacson, Proviso West's Barney Peterson, LaGrange's Craig Boydston, York's Fred Logan, Wheaton's Dave Bartel, and Glenbard East's Barry Moore and John Nichols vying for honors.

Cross Country Test

Proviso West Heads Interim League Run

With Barney Peterson setting a new course record and claiming individual varsity honors for the second straight year Proviso West's cross country team repeated as Interim league titlist last Friday afternoon in competition at Willowbrook high school.

The varsity Panthers have now claimed the varsity crown for the three years the Interim league has been in operation. The latest triumph was surprisingly easier than the first two with the Hillside aggregation collecting 75 points for a 28-poir bulge over runnerup West Leyden.

Peterson covered the Willowbrook course in 9:15.2 for a new standard and topped runnerup Dave Bartel of Wheaton by three seconds in the individual battle.

GLENBROOK'S Spartans headed the frosh-soph division in a blanket finish with Willowbrook and Prospect. The Northbrook entry had 58 points with Willowbrook second with 59 and Prospect, the defending champ, third with 60.

The Peterson-Bartel duel has been a highlight of three Interim league cross country runs with the Proviso West runner always coming out on top.

ROUNDING OUT the top ten finishers in the varsity competition were Bob Barber of Niles West in third, Jack Nichols of Glenbard East in fourth, Barry Moore of Glenbard in fifth, Scott Bolling of Glenbrook in sixth, Vic Oakley of Maine West in seventh, Don Lundin of West Leyden in eighth, Rog Luedke of Prospect in ninth, and Chuck Bertoncini of Poviso West in tenth.

Coach Ken Arneson's Prospect Knights finished eighth on a varsity level. In addition to Luedke, other boys scoring for the Foundry rd. school were Gary Beck in 22nd, Don Coey in 32nd, Dan Murray in 46th, and Jim Forbes in 55th.

Tom Bartlett was Willowbrook's top finisher with a 15th. Also scoring for Stacey Siders' Warriors were Bob Gehrs with a 19th, Robert Miller in 24th, Ken Phygerson in 28th, and Tom Dezur in 33rd.

BOTH WILLOWBROOK and Prospect gave Glenbrook a stiff battle in frosh-soph ranks but the Spartans managed to hang on for a tight victory.

On an individual basis, Walt Weinert of Deerfield ran away with the meet, finishing 16 second in front of Prospect's Dave Thomas.

Also landing in the top ten were Prospect's Gary York in third, Willowbrook's Bill Fischer in fourth, Glenbrook's Bruce McKinstery in fifth, East Leyden's Jim Sayers in sixth, Glenbrook's Skip Levy in seventh, Glenbrook's Tom Slettland in eighth, Prospect's Dave Carlson in ninth, and Deerfield' Jay Daspit in tenth.

SCORING FOR Prospect in addition to Thomas, York and Carlson were Jim Froemling with a 21st and Bob Carr with a 25th.

Arlington's Cards to Face York Saturday

Arlington hits the road Saturday.

The varsity football Cardinals, fresh from an impressive victory over Riverside-Brookfield, will journey to Elmhurst to meet the dangerous York Dukes.

It will be Arlington's final outing on a foreign gridiron this fall with the home finale on Saturday, Nov. 4, against the state-ranked and explosive Hinsdale Red Devils.

Although York ranks as a definite favorite in the West Suburban league tussle, Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's Arlington crew could surprise. The Cards have been an unpredictable outfit all fall in racking up three victories in six decisions.

Game time will be 2 p.m. with a frosh-soph preliminary at 12 noon. In the opener Bill Daletski's young Cards will be out to add a victory to a league record that includes just one setback but four ties.

Arlington treated the home fans to an explosive offensive attack last Friday evening with juniors Ken Layden and Jerry Totzke keying a 31-0 rout.

LEYDEN collected 132 yards in 10 carries and now boasts 339 yards in 51 cracks this fall for an impressive 6.6 per carry average. Totzke added 82 in 14 carries and has compiled 231 over the season for a 4.9 average.

It was the Cards' finest offensive show in two seasons and the victory elevated the locals into a tie for fifth place in the WSC. An upset over York

McHENRY ALL BUT wrapped up the North Suburban crown Saturday as it beat Palatine 9-6. The Warriors have a fine ball team with a varied offense and a very good defense. Even with that it was that rare score in prep football, the field goal which determined the outcome. It was a perfect shot from 30 yards out. McHenry can now lose one of the two remaining games with Barrington and Dundee and still win an undisputed championship. For all practical purposes they are the winner. Palatine (3-2) is now tied for second with Dundee. The Pirates have Crystal Lake and Woodstock remaining away from home. Dundee plays Zion and McHenry.

In the Northwest Conference Lake Forest broke the triple tie by handing Grant their first loss 19-0. Round Lake, still unbeaten, trounced Antioch 28-0 in a tune up for a coming showdown with Lake Forest. . . . Prospect rolled on to 18 straight with a 20-0 win over West Leyden in the Interim Association. . . . Rich was tied by hepped up Reavis team to stop a 11 game win streak but the Rockets still are on top with plenty to spare in the Southwest Suburban. . . . Vocational of Chicago (6-0) continues to rank as the best in the city league. . . . Lake Park whipped Fenton to remain with North Chicago on top in the Tri-County. . . . Freeport won their second 7-6 game in a row to beat Elgin and remain on top in the Big Eight. Auburn of Rockford has only a tie with Elgin to mar its record and meets Freeport in the final of the season in another week. . . . Sycamore still dominnates the Little Seven. . . . Joliet had its hands full stopping Lockport 7-2 but has a perfect mark in the South Suburban.

The best football team in Illinois is Evanston, the Suburban League leader. Saturday they held Proviso East, second rated team in the state, to one first down and beat them 21-0 in a terrific display of offensive power and defensive strength. Disputing this claim of Evanston to number one rating is Hinsdale, the West Suburban powerhouse. Hinsdale rolled over Glenbard 45-0 and has found no worthy opposition all season to test their real strength.

THE BIG EIGHT Conference has been for many years one of the strongest in Illinois in football and basketball. The top basketball teams in the league have annually been strong contenders for the state basketball championship. The Big Eight as it has been known in the past is at an end and will drop off in athletic prestige. First it was Joliet which left the league to join the South Suburban where they currently lead the standings with a 6-0 record. Now the two Aurora schools and Elgin are leaving the conference to form a new athletic setup along with a new second Elgin High school, DeKalb, Wheaton, Naperville, and East Glenbard. This will leave Freeport, LaSalle-Peru, East Rockford, West Rockford, and the new Auburn High of Rockford in the Big Eight.

We understand that a 4th Rockford school is being constructed to be known as Guilford High and that Harlem High just north of Rockford, and Belvidere will be added to the league to make it an 8 team circuit. With six teams from the Rockford area the division of athletic talent will be mighty thin. Belvidere cannot win championships in the Little Seven and Harlem is playing teams below the class of that league. It looks like Freeport and LaSalle-Peru should do right well in the league but the "Big Eight" will not be worthy of its last name for some time to come.

THERE HAS BEEN quite a furor in the Suburban League the past month over action by the high school superintendents to restrict use of school facilities by varsity athletes to the seasons in which schools compete in them. In addition the league forbids athletes to compete in events outside the high school association such as the amateur athletic union. This follows the placing of New Trier High School on probation by the state for competing in the AAU swimming meet this past summer. Athletic Booster and Dads clubs in several of the Suburban League high schools have voiced objection to the new rules limiting use of school athletic facilities. The Evanston Club has asked that the league study the matter further and wait a year before taking such drastic action. Wilfred Smith in a column in the Tribune takes sides against the school authorities, putting up quite a case against restrictions on athletics.

He feels that coaches are the best judges of such matters and can be depended on do what is best for the boys and the schools. We know that coaches sometimes become carried away with enthusiasm to build up strong teams and sometimes beyond the exercise of the best judgment. The boards of educations and superintendents sometimes need to step in and put on controls. Whether these controls exercised by the Suburban League are what is needed is beside the point. The state association and the school authorities do have the authority to make rules in the best interests of all the boys and girls.

SATURDAY THE DISTRICT cross country run is coming up at West Maine with some 20 schools competing. Last year Palatine was edged into 3rd place and did not make the state meet. With the entire team returning a better result was hoped for this year. We thought that Highland Park and New Trier were the teams to beat but Evanston won the Suburban League run and will be the favorite Saturday. Highland Park's state mile record holder in track took the Suburban League cross country individual title. The state champ may very likely come out of Saturday's meet.

20 YEARS AGO

Jim Langhoff took his seventh first place and Palatine their seventh straight cross country victory over big Suburban schools as the defeated Evanston 22-33 and Maine Township 20-35. The only loss has been to Chicago champ. Lane Tech. Friday Palatine runs in the Proviso Invitational meet for the championship of the suburban area. . . . Arlington lost 21-0 to Warren in North-East Conference football. It was Warren's 4th straight league victory. . . . Up for a vote of the principals of the state are propositions to eliminate spring football practice, allow practice to start August 25 instead of September 1, require 3 weeks practice before the first game, allow Chicago schools home rule, and to make 19 year olds ineligible.

Lincoln Registers Fifth Straight Win

Lincoln rolled to its fifth straight victory in the Mt. Prospect Midget football program with a convincing 46-19 conquest of Fairview last Sunday.

Pete Smith and Rick Henderson teamed up for three touchdowns and Robby Payn added a pretty 80-yard kickoff return. Fred Wesley and Bobby Arnold also scored.

Collecting the extra points were Pete Smith with a pair, Bob Arnold, and Tom Marshal.

GUERIN TURNED in a terrific defensive game while Butch Leonard, Daryl VanKampin, Wesley, Wiger, Garlock, R. Anderson, Jantac, and Knoll stood out in the line.

Emerson ripped Central 18-12 with Pete Jay, Jim Geocaris, and Allan Shers counting the touchdowns. Dave Render and R. Bertoglio scored the touchdowns for the losers with Render covering 60 yards.

Dennis Green and Rick Bertoglio registered outstanding line play in the contest.

IN OTHER Senior league action Lions toppled Owens 28-6 wih Grady scoring two touchdowns and Accurso and Farley adding the others. Outstanding backs were Karlovitz, Weidner, and McDonough with Skrysak, Jage, Bertz, Corcak, and Beck heading the linemen.

For the losers a Niebuhr to Traverson pass accounted for the only touchdown.

Sunset flashed its power and coasted to an effortless 31-6 victory over Prospect. Denny Wilkenson tallied two touchdowns, one on an intercepted pass.

Bill Demmert counted on a four-yard plunge and Phil Eaton collected a pair.

BOB LUND, Bob Jensen, and Jim Hardy all were credited with playing outstanding games for the winners.

Anderson scored Prospect's only TD on an intercepted pass although Meyer, White, and Bosenberg also played exceptional games.

In the Junior division Central remained unbeaten thanks to a scoreless deadlock with Emerson in what observers are calling the greatest exhibition of football ever played in this league.

STANDING OUT for Central were D. Klingberg, Ayers, Palubicki, Nehmzow, Lehrke, Hamparian, Sheffers, and E. Klingberg. Sparking the Emerson unit were S. DeHaven, Rich Burger, J. Cherwin, T. Hannon, J. Behren, B. Freck, and R. DeHaven.

Lions rolled up a 34-12 victory over Owens with Crawford and Croke both posting two touchdowns. Kohlrwt added a fifth and also picked up two PATs.

Backfield standouts were Craig, Nurdt, and Dave Farley with Hughson, Murdt, and E. Hanson sparkling in the line.

FOR OWENS 60-pound Tom Doherty scored one touchdown on a sparkling 50-yard scamper and Mark Adams counted on a 12-yard pass from Mark Lind.

Fairview and Lincoln battled to a 6-all stalemate with Ray Clow and K. Sophie chalking up the two touchdowns.

FOR THE LOSERS Sophie, Ruehrdanz, Vankampen, Anderson, Passarelli, Basquez, Tarpani, Peterson, Ericson, and Ryan were the standouts.

In final Junior league play Sunset overpowered Prospect 21-13 with Fritz Fassnacht chalking up two touchdowns on runs of 40 and 65 yards, the latter a punt return. Bob Demmert also scored on a 20 yard end sweep.

Jim Remsen, Mike Cunningham, Hexel, Hardin, Novak, Andrenski, Minitti, Casey, Dubay, Quillen, Thompson, and Crossen played fine games for the winners with Carrol, St. Dennis, Johnson, Glover, Strauch, Cown, Brady, and Krysiak drawing plaudits for the losers.

St. Dennis scored the touchdowns and Carrol was credited with a nifty 40-yard run.

Dons Blast IC in Loop Test, 27-0

by TOM TREBAT

The Notre Dame Dons moved one step closer to an undefeated season by smashing Immaculate Conception 27-0 in a big Homecoming game last Friday at Notre Dame.

The Knights, except in parts of the first quarter, never presented much of a threat in the Dons' sixth season win and third Suburban Catholic Conference victory.

Tomorrow night, the most important conference game will take place at Joliet Catholic. The Hilltoppers and the Dons, both possessing 3-0 league records, will square off in a contest that will most likely determine the Conference championship for 1961.

THE PRESENCE of a large number of returning grads added even more to the pre-game excitement last Friday night. The annual Homecoming parade, staged a few moments before game time, saw the Notre Dame Pep club win top honors for their float. After several other awards were distributed, the teams took to the field.

Immaculate Conception received the Notre Dame kick-off and got right dow nto business. A steady ground attack moved the pigskin to within the Don 40-yard line. At that point, though, the Notre Dame line toughented and took over the ball on downs. For their first play from scrimmage, the Dons unveiled a trick new offensive formation that looked like the "shotgun" offense used in pro football. It wasn't too tricky though because yardage was lost on the play. After that brief experiment, Notre Dame abandoned the formation.

IMMACULATE Conception dominated statistics in the first quarter, but it was Notre Dame who scored. Halfback Greg Schilling broke off on a sensational 67 yard touchdown sprint in the waning moments of the first quarter. It was sensational in that Schilling ran his own interference, faking several opponents off their feet. Schilling made a clean sweep of the scoring by booting the extra point to make the score Notre Dame 7, Immaculate Conception 0.

That one play seemed to take the life out of the Knights. Time and again Immaculate Conception had to punt. Three times in a row, the Dons rolled to touchdowns. Jim Prasch banged over the goal line from two yards away early in the second quarter for the Dons' second touchdown. In the third period, the Notre Dame football machine moved to the five yard line where Al Loboy plunged over. Greg Schilling booted the extra point. Midway in the third quarter, the score stood 14-0 in favor of Notre Dame.

Quarterback Dick Gorzynski led the Dons to their last touchdown as he had done in their previous tallies. Employing mostly ground plays, Grozynski led the Dons to the Knight one yard line. From that point Gorzynski plunged over for the score. Hank Gibbons booted that extra point that made the final score Notre Dame 27, Immaculate Conception 0.

Knights Claim 18th Straight Win, 20-0

by TOM McSHANE

Prospect high school's football team won its 18th straight game Saturday afternoon, beating West Leyden 20-0 in the annual Knightimes contest on the Foundry rd. gridiron.

Coach Bill Beckman's charges retained their hold on the Interim association top spot with a 5-0 conference record. The loss left West Leyden in a tie for tenth place with a 1-4 season mark.

Prospect's showing was not noteworthy. The Knights did everything they could to turn what should have been a rout into a close game. West Leyden contained the Prospect offense easily for three and a half quarters, giving up only one touchdown on a blocked punt. Prospect got its other two scores in the closing minutes by capitalizing on breaks.

IF THE Prospect offense was poor, the West Leyden attack was worse. Coach John Farney's squad made only 50 yards rushing, had both of its attempted passes intercepted, and penetrated Prospect territory only once, reaching the 42-yard line in the third quarter.

The first quarter of the game turned into a punting duel between Prospect's Jim Hogarty and West's Jim Padavic. Most of this period, and the entire ball game for that matter, was played between the Leyden 20 and 40 yard lines.

The second quarter started with Padavic punting out of bounds to the Prospect 41. The Knights moved to the Leyden 35 in two plays as Halfback Jim Anderson swept left end for 19 yards. Two plays later Halfback Tommy Thomas fumbled on the West 23.

LEYDEN recovered, moved the ball five yards in three plays, and sent Padavic back to punt. The kick didn't have a chance.

Prospect's Hogarty, Dennis Hogy, and Ron Aukamp broke through and smothered the boot. The ball rolled free behind Padavic, and Hogarty scooped it up on his way to the goal and the first Knight touchdown. Quarterback Bob Gerrard made it 7-0 with a placekick. There were eight minutes left in the half.

Prospect threatened practically every time it got the ball during the remainder of the second quarter and all through the third. The Knights were turned back on the Leyden 31, 16, 5, and 34. One score was called back on a clipping penalty. The offense simply was not clicking properly.

IN THE FOURTH quarter, a pass interception and nifty runback by Linebacker Mike Dawson gave the Knights a first and ten on the West 27. Thomas moved over the right side to the 20 in two plays. Anderson then circled left end to the 12 for a first down. A Gerrard pass to End Dennis Mitchell was good for nine yards to the three. All-conference fullback Bruce Andrise dove into the end zone on the next play with 6:41 left in the game. The point try failed.

The Knights added another touchdown the next time they got the ball after Padavic punted out of bounds on the West 44. Andrise did most of the work in the march.

The sturdy fullback cracked left guard to the 38 on the first play. Gerrard lost three yards on a keeper, then hit Andrise with a flat pass on the 35. A penalty gave Prospect a first down on the 30. Gerrard threw incomplete, then hit Mitchell over center on the 23.

ANDRISE went around right end to the 17, around left end to the five, then powered the middle for the score. Guard John Krupa booted the point that made it 20-0. with a minute in the game.

Arlington Football

could send the Cardinals high as third in league firing.

But beating York won't be easy. Coach Alex Naidenovich has a powerhouse in Elmhurst that has given both Hinsdale and Downers Grove good battles.

HEADING THE Dukes' attack is Wayne Strauch, a 175-pound halfback who is definite All-State material. Strauch has scored eight touchdowns in league play for a second place ranking in the point derby.

Naidenovich has several boys who have been playing outstanding football in addition to Strauch. The York coach is high on Jerry Moos, 180-pound tackle; Chuck Neus, 180-pound guard; Dick Wiersema, 180-pound center; Carson Schuler, 185-pound end; and Jimmy Anderson, 190-pound quarterback.

Anderson is a smooth engineer of the Dukes' attack and the senior signal-caller is a southpaw passer who has tossed for three scores this fall. Jim is also dangerous on the option play and an outstanding defensive performer.

Another standout on the York squad is 230-pound lineman Eric Avery, but the big senior has been nursing a badly sprained ankle and may not see too much service Saturday.

Cards' Sophs In Tie; What Else is New?

Arlington's frosh-soph football Cardinals were involved in another league deadlock.

For the fourth time in five West Suburban outings this fall the young Cards managed neither a win nor loss. The latest was a 0-0 stalemate with a visiting crew from Riverside-Brookfield.

Heading into the game Friday with the reputation of owning one of the best defenses in the league, Arlington backed that claim with its third shutout of the grid campaign and second in loop action.

In five West Suburban games Arlington has allowed only 28 points. But, on the other hand, the young Cards haven't been able to fashion any consistent offensive attack and that was the story again Friday.

The Cardinals had four serious threats checked by the visitors.

IN THE WANING moments of the second quarter Arlington penetrated to the R-B 15 yard line but was stopped on downs. Following Jim Ewart's 27-yard pitch to Tom Fagerson, the Cards had a first and ten on the Riverside 16 but they couldn't come up with that clutch play.

Later in the same quarter after Fred Devin had recovered a Riverside fumble on the latter's 22, the Cards were threatening again. This time an interception stepped in to halt the drive.

In the fourth period a Jeff Beckman to Arnie Koriath pass brought the Cards down to the Riverside 16 but a major penalty set the locals back and they couldn't penetrate for the important six points.

THE FINAL threat in a frustrating evening was set up following a short punt. On a second down play Beckman hit David Berwanger for a first down on the Riverside 24 with 51 seconds remaining in the game.

But Beckman's next pass was picked off by an R-B defender and the visitors had one last chance for victory.

A run and two passes pushed Riverside to the Arlington 16 yard line with four seconds remaining but a final aerial went astray and the Cards had another tie in West Suburban action.

RIVERSIDE never could get going in the game and that last drive was the closest the visitors got to scoring in the frosh-soph encounter.

Still looking for that first league victory, Arlington's frosh-sophs, coached by Bill Daletski and Brendan Flynn, will tackle a strong York team at 12 noon this Saturday.

CLAIMING AN IMPRESSIVE victory in the West Suburban conference varsity cross country run last Saturday morning at Pioneer Park is Glenbard West's Jim Isaacson. Isaacson set a new course record with a sparkling 10:19 clocking. Glenbard West won the varsity title with York topping the frosh-soph division.

Isaacson Triumphs

Glenbard West, York Head WSC Harriers

Glenbard West and York captured the team titles Saturday morning as the West Suburban conference staged its cross country competition at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

The varsity Hilltoppers, defending state champions in cross country, edged a surprisingly stubborn LaGrange unit 47-49 in the varsity class and the York Barons rolled to an easy win in the frosh-soph ranks.

Arlington's Cardinals finished a solid fourth in the varsity run and sixth in the frosh-soph.

JUNIOR JIM Isaacson, a sixth place finisher last fall, took home the top prize Saturday in the varsity meet. The bespectacled Glenbard West harrier covered the Pioneer Park course in a record-setting 10:19.

Giving Isaacson some stiff competition was York's Fred Logan who finished second just one second behind the Glenbard runner.

Rounding out the top ten on a varsity level were LaGrange's Craig Boydston in third, Glenbard West's Mike Waterman in fourth, Hinsdale's John Jaeger in fifth, Glenbard's Dick Follett in sixth, Downers Grove's Ken Rybarczyk in seventh, Riverside's George Hosso in eighth, and LaGrange's Tom Jelinek and Walter Richter in ninth and tenth respectively.

ARLINGTON'S top finisher was senior Jim Hendricks who claimed an eleventh with a 10:44 clocking. Also scoring for Russ Attis' unit were Ralph Law with a 16th, Gary Brodnan with a 23rd, Rog Fredrickson with a 31st, and Robin Auld with a 32nd.

York's talented freshman, John Woods, captured the individual title in the frosh-soph meet with a fine 9:10 clocking. The Barons also boasted the third and fourth finishers with Jim Nash and Joe McAnarney.

Other finishers in the top ten were Larry Kraut of Downers Grove with a second, Craig Upton of LaGrange with a fifth, Glenbard's Ed Kalsbeek with a sixth, Maine East's Ted Zillmer with a seventh, Glenbard's Bill Agger with an eighth and Gary Gray with a ninth, and York's Rog Nelson with a tenth.

Second Loop Win

Cards Explode, Rock R-B Bulldogs, 31-0

by BOB FRISK

Arlington had a ball playing football last Friday evening.

In fact, the varsity Cardinals haven't had so much fun on offense and defense since the 1959 powerhouse romped on area gridirons.

Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's outfit treated some loyal fans who braved the cold to a convincing 31-0 victory over Riverside-Brookfield's outmanned Bulldogs.

It was Arlington's best offensive show since a brisk September evening in 1959 when Mike Dundy, George Bork, Gene Dahlquist and company humbled East Leyden, 34-13.

IT WAS ARLINGTON'S first shutout since that same aggregation blanked York high school, 13-0, on October 17, 1959.

The West Suburban victory, achieved on "A" Men's Night, was a refreshing triumph in view of that disaster at Glenbard West the previous week. The Cards now stand 2-3 in conference warfare and are tied with Maine township East for fifth place.

Whereas Riverside had rolled past the Cardinals last fall with a sharp passing attack keyed by quarterback Steve Morse, the visiting Bulldogs found this same aerial game working against them Friday.

A COMBINATION of three passers could find the range on just three of 14 tosses and an alert Arlington defense picked off two for good measure. Morse, who hit on eight of nine for 151 yards against the Cards as a junior, connected on one of eight for seven yards in his latest outing.

In addition, the Cardinals' ground attack that was so quiet at Glenbard West had a field day against the Bulldogs with 259 yards. Juniors Ken Layden and Jerry Totzke rambled for 214 of those yards with Layden averaging a fancy 13.2 on ten carries.

Totzke was the bread-and-butter ball carrier in the rout with his bursts contributing six of Arlington's ten first downs. He consistently claimed the clutch yardage and also counted a pair of touchdowns.

LAYDEN was author of three electrifying sprints, one for 56 yards and a TD in the opening stanza and one for 50 yards on the last play of the game. In additon, the 172-pound speedster returned the opening kickoff 47 yards to the R-B 37 yard line.

Ken's 56-yard scamper was Arlington's longest run from scrimmage this season.

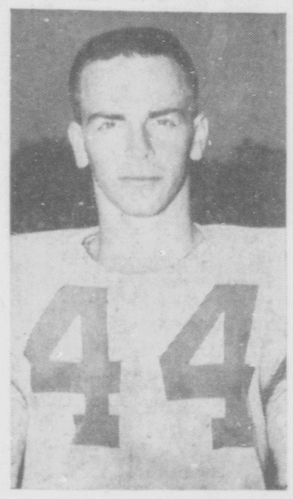
Arlington initiated its scoring midway through the first period. On a third down play Layden shot through the center of the line, shook himself free from several defenders, and outdistanced the secondary on a nifty 56-yard run.

A FUMBLE opened the door to the Cards' second touchdown in the second period. Bill Svrluga bobbled the ball on the Riverside 32 and in three plays Arlington tallied, Totzke racing from left end from 18 yards out.

That third touchdown was set up thanks to Ray Miller's interception of a Morse pass. Reliable Ray returned the ball to the Riverside eight and in three plays Roy Woodruff was banging in from the four with 1:21 remaining before halftime.

Ormsbee's charged-up Cards continued to delight their fans in the second half although the two final touchdowns both came in the fourth stanza.

ARLINGTON initiated its fourth score on its own 42 yard line and scored in 14 plays. Key maneuvers in the drive were an 11-yard pass from Woodruff to Bob Laughlin and an eight-yard pickup by Totzke on a fourth and three situation.



JERRY TOTZKE

Totzke carried in from the four with 10:44 remaining in the game.

It took just five plays to cover 52 yards for that final Arlington touchdown.

WOODRUFF slammed for one but Layden was nailed for a one-yard loss. Ross Retterer and Layden teamed up to the Riverside 44 and then Totzke claimed the first down on a big six-yard carry to the 38.

With 1:39 remaining in the game Retterer tossed a strike down the middle to Laughlin who stumbled but managed to hang on to the ball and race over with the six points.

Riverside took to the air in the closing seconds but Rog Freise intercepted a pass to check a drive on the Arlington 15.

ON THE game's final play Layden set sail on another beautiful run and almost got away before being hauled down deep in Riverside territory.

In addition to the five touchdowns, Arlington picked up another marker on Joe Wertheimer's extra point. Wertheimer, usually reliable this fall on his PATs, experienced an off night and connected on just one of five.

Prospect's JVs Capture Second Interim Victory

Prospect's junior varsity football team beat West Leyden 21-13 Saturday to record its second victory in five conference starts.

Coach Bob Hoese's junior Knights scored the first time they handled the ball and added two more in the fourth quarter to post the victory.

The first Prospect counter came on a six-yard dash by Halfback Chuck Halverson, culminating a drive that started at midfield. Quarterback Bill Mutert added the point with a sweep of right end.

Prospect saw its advantage fade to 7-6 with two minutes left in the third quarter when West Leyden Halfback Jim Groh capped a 51-yard drive with a six-yard plunge over right tackle. The try for point was not good.

The Knights stretched their lead to 14-6 in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter when Tackle Norm Dahlgren recovered a fumble on the Leyden nine. Four plays later Halverson blasted over from the one. A Mutert pass to Halverson added the point.

The final Prospect score came on the series of downs that followed the kickoff. With 5:23 left on the clock, Prospect's Kent Taylor intercepted a pass thrown by Quarterback Rich Agness and raced 55 yards down the east sideline to score. Mutert booted the extra point, and Prospect had a 21-6 lead.

West Leyden made it 21-13 with 16 seconds left in the game when Agness punched over from the one and booted the extra point.

Cards Stop R-B in Loop Cross Country

After dropping three straight dual meets Arlington high school's varsity cross country team rebounded with an impressive 27-30 victory over a strong Riverside-Brookfield squad last week.

The decision was Arlington's third in five West Suburban outings this fall. The Cards were slated to meet York's Dukes yesterday (Wednesday) in their final tune-up before the district run.

Senior Jim Hendricks paced the Cards with an easy victory in 10:28 over the Pioneer Park course. Hendricks finished 19 seconds in front of runnerup Roger Albert of Riverside.

THE BULLDOGS also claimed a third thanks to George Hosso but Arlington's Ralph Law and Gary Brodnan picked up the fourth and fifth slots.

Also scoring for Arlington's Cards were Rog Fredrickson with an eighth and Robin Auld with a ninth.

Arlington had an easier time of it on a frosh-soph level as Frank Bohac's Cardinals raced to a 15-55 decision.

THE YOUNG Cards claimed the first five positions thanks to Potter, George Sladek, Ray Schmeiser, Greg Buczynski and Bill Moore.

Potter was an easy winner, finishing eight seconds in front of teammate Sladek. Riverside's top finisher captured an eighth.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph carriers will conclude their West Suburban competition this coming Wednesday, Nov. 1, against Hinsdale. The meets will be staged at Pioneer Park.

Riverside Edges Arlington Frosh

Riverside - Brookfield turned an intercepted pass into the only touchdown Monday afternoon in a 7-0 frosh "A" football victory over Arlington high school.

The young Bulldogs picked off the Cards' aerial in the second quarter and returned to the two-yard-line. They counted on a quickie pass and ran for the extra point.

Arlington dominated the statistics and was within the R-B six yard line on five occasions without scoring.

Coach Julius Fliehler praised the play of Dale Chapman, Bill Wright, John Rybski, Charles Hood, and Mike Frase in the defeat.

Arlington's frosh "As", now 2-4 for the 1961 campaign, will host York next Monday, Oct. 30, in their final game of the season.

Score by quarters:

Prospect Frosh Tie West Leyden

Prospect and West Leyden battled to a 7-7 deadlock last Saturday in a frosn "A" football encounter.

Both clubs counted in the second period but Prospect had a chance to break the tie only to lose a score on an unusual play.

Jim Renner received a short pass from Bill Phillips and raced 60 yards for what appeared to be a touchdown. There were no flags at the end zone and the goal posts were about one yard behind the goal line.

RENNER threw the ball into the air as he thought he had scored but a Leyden defender caught it and was immediately tackled. The official ruled Renner had not crossed the goal and Prospect lost its chance to break the tie.

The young Knights scored their only "official" touchdown on a 5-yard run by Bill Henry. Phillips and Keith Bergen teamed up on the extra point.

Prospect's frosn "A" Knights will travel to Proviso West this Saturday, Oct. 28, for a game at 9:30 a.m.

Bowling Tests

Two Tourneys May Attract 160 Squads

Approximately 160 teams are expected to vie for the two team titles in the 1962 Paddock Publications Inter-League handicap bowling tournaments.

That was the announcement this week by Bob Paddock, tournament promoter, as he released preliminary details for the bowling spectaculars.

Paddock expects anywhere from 90 to 100 teams in the men's competition at Gunnell's Bowling Lanes in Mt. Prospect with 50-60 in the women's action at Pioneer Lanes in Addison.

THE MEN'S tournament will be held on two days, Jan. 13-14, at Gunnell's with the gals rolling on Sunday, Jan. 21.

First place teams in the various leagues as of December 23, 1961 will be eligible for the men's tournament. First place teams in the various divisions as of December 30, 1961 will be eligible for the women's action.

Leagues included in this plan are Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine; Beverly Lanes and Arlington Bowling Lanes in Arlington Heights; Jack Gunnell's Bowling Lanes and Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes in Mt. Prospect; Jeffery Lanes and Wheeling Bowling Lanes in Wheeling; Bensenville Bowl; Bowlwood Recreation in Wood Dale; Pioneer Lanes in Addison; Rolling Meadows Bowl in Rolling Meadows; Casares Pro Bowl in Buffalo Grove; and Hoffman Lanes in Hoffman Estates.

IN ADDITION, there may be entries from a few other single leagues with local membership bowling elsewhere through permission of tournament promoters.

Abbinanti Insurance of the Men's league took home the men's prize last January with Geils Funeral Home of the Tuesday nite ladies loop at Bensenville Bowl heading the women.

Additional information on the two tournaments will appear on these sports pages in succeeding weeks.

The first successful sardine cannery was established at Eastport, Maine, in 1876.

DRIVING FOR SHORT yardage is Prospect high school's All-State candidate Bruce Andrise in first half action of the Knights' 20-0 victory last Saturday afternoon. In dumping West Leyden Prospect collected its 18th straight varsity football triumph over three years.

Midget Football

Lions, Eagles Claim Arlington's Crowns

The Lions and Eagles reign as champions of Arlington Heights' Midget Football program for 1961.

Coach Charlie Ewart's Lions pounded the Rams in their latest outing to finish with a 4-2 mark in the Senior league and one game bulge over the two squads tied for second.

The Eagles completed an unbeaten campaign in Junior league play with a tight, 7-0 victory over the Cardinals.

IN WINNING the Senior league crown the Lions of the South East side of Arlington routed the Rams 25-6, playing their finest game of the season.

The aerial combination of Theroux and Smeed clicked for two scores and Theroux also carried over twice on quarterback sneaks. Gregory counted the PAT on a pass.

Bencic was outstanding for the Lions and John Johnson and Epperly also played fine games. For the Rams Brophy counted the only touchdown and Jarvis and Dix also played fine games.

Score by quarters:

Lions	7	6	6	6—25
Rams	0	0	6	0— 6

THE 49ERS pushed over a second period touchdown and edged the Browns, 6-0.

LeStarge and Mike Grant clicked on a 15-yard pass for the only six-pointer.

Tucker and Grant were standouts for the victors while Mark Frase played another fine offensive game for the Browns, picking up 100 yards rushing.

Score by quarters:

49ers	0	6	0	0—6

IN THE JUNIOR division the Eagles had a rough time against the Cardinals but still chalked up a 7-0 decision.

The Cardinals outplayed the Eagles in the first half and penetrated to the 10 yard line twice only to lose the ball on fumbles after hard tackles by Ray Peal and Maury Loeffel.

After being held for short gains in the third quarter, the Cardinals were forced to punt. Dave Sauter took the punt at midfield and raced down the sidelines behind the excellent blocking of Gary Korte.

Sauter, who has been a standout throughout the grid campaign, also ran for the PAT.

Roger Schuler and Billy Van Sky recorded excellent runs for the Eagles and Steve Leet played some hard football.

Score by quarters:

Eagles	0	0	7	0—7

THE COLTS trounced the Giants 19-0 as Dean Schmelzer scored three touchdowns and Paul Harth added the extra point.

Timson, Wadzita, and Pat Zeller played effective defensive games for the Colts.

At the end of the game the Giants were on the Colts' five-yard line after a pass from Dan Selleck to Dennis Meachem.

Score by quarters:

Colts	7	0	6	6—19

IN FINAL Junior league action the Packers and Bears battled to a scoreless deadlock.

Heading the Packers were Lloyd, Sklencar, and Douglas Although sidelined most of the game because of illness, Phil Bencic entered late and ran exceptionally well.

Score by quarters:

Paddock Classic League

Wheeling Furniture Claims Big Win; Pern a Records 704

Wheeling Furniture defeated Pro Sport Center in the big match in the Paddock Classic Traveling League Saturday night at Bowlway in Elgin, but last place Beverly Lanes provided the fireworks with a 3016 series.

Pro Sport Center, after dropping the first two games, tried to make it a first place tie again by taking the final game and high series, but the Mt. Prospect team fell short of taking high series by five pins while winning.

As a result, S. M. Kahn Electrical Contractors of Chicago, by taking three points from Nelson Realty, slipped into second place and earned the right to meet Wheeling Furniture in the first position round match of the Paddock Classic season at 9 p.m. Saturday at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine.

PACED BY THE first 700 series of the year, a 704 by Jim Perna of Rolling Meadows, Beverly Lanes of Arlington Heights captured all four points in its match against Moyle Construction of Carpentersville and vaulted from last to sixth place.

Perna, who fired games of 236, 243 and 225, was assisted by Warren Walter of Arlington Heights with 607 and John Seidel of Palatine with 604 to push Beverly Lanes within four pins of the league's high series.

Beverly's opening 1036 triumph, on Perna's 236, a 211 by Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights, 202 by Walter, and 201 by Dick Nickol of Palatine, came within five pins of the league's high. George Radke's 220 for Moyle, which calls Country Lanes in Lake Zurich home, almost went unnoticed as much as a 206 by Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich.

MOYLE Construction came within 15 pins in the second game, but a 243 by Perna and 217 by Seidel did the trick. Then, in the last one, Walter had 233 and Perna 225 as another 220 by Radke, who had a 645 series, was to no avail.

Although the scores were lower, the battle was more furious between Wheeling Furniture and Pro Sport Center, which went into their engagement tied for first place. Team balance, headed by a 202 by Ron Fogarett of Palatine, gave Wheeling Furniture, bowling out of Hi-Way Recreation, the first game, 914-865, despite a 215 by Earl Fenimore of Arlington Heights. The same held true in the second game, Irv Hahnfeldt's 200 being high as opposed to a 228 by Al Walter of Arlington Heights for Pro Sport Center, which represents Gunnell's in Mt. Prospect.

KAHN ELECTRIC, representing River Rand Bowl in Des Plaines, wasn't doing badly either, rolling a 2962 series, paced by a 672, one pin off the year's previous high, by Tony Sasso of Des Plaines, and a 634 by Whitey Hefferan of Elk Grove Village.

A pair of 208's, one by Don Christensen of Arlington Heights and the other by Mike Wagner of Des Plaines, didn't help as Nelson Realty of Mt. Prospect won the opener, 994-958, on a 212 by Casper Dewitz of Barrington and 204 and 202 by a pair of substitutes, Joe Bissing and Ralph Herman.

A 238 by Sasso helped Kahn Electrical Contractors up its pin production by four pins, but Nelson Realty, bowling on its home Bowlway lanes, couldn't keep pace despite a 202 by Dewitz. Kahn wrapped up the final game and high series by rolling a 1032 game, just nine pins below their own league high, thanks to a 237 — second high in Paddock Classic play this year — by Hefferan and a 239 by Sasso.

Then Wheeling Furniture almost lost everything it gained in the first two games in the final game. Pro Sport Center bowlers, having wrapped up the game conclusively, needed a strike in the last frame, but it never came and Wheeling Furniture went home with high series by four pins and first place.

MARTINETTI'S Restaurant of Crystal Lake jumped a position to fourth by taking three points from Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling. Martinetti's, bowling out of Ten Pin in Barrington, bowled a pair of 939's, winning the first game on a 214 by Al McMillan of Crystal Lake, and losing the second as Bill Harris of Wheeling bowled 238 and Chuck Gibson of Bensenville 221 for Jeffery.

Then Martinetti's, paced by a 208 by John Majewski of Barrington, totaled 966 to win the game by 100 pins, high series, and three points.

Steve's Restaurant Regains League Lead

Steve's Restaurant of Wheeling, stunned last week, vaulted to the top again with three triumphs over Northfield Bowl Saturday night at Country Lanes in Lake Zurich.

Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights, which had stunned Steve's by taking three last week to tie for first, won two after dropping the opener to fall one game off the pace.

Northfield Bowl, which shocked the league a week ago with a 2655 series, didn't have it against Steve's Restaurant, which bowls out of Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling.

AFTER losing the opener by nearly 100 pins when Delores Harris of Wheeling fired a 221 game, Northfield Bowl made a game try, losing the last two by margins of 35 and 23 pins. Ceil Borre of Wilmette was the mainstay for Northfield, firing games of 236 and 194, but it wasn't quite enough. Delores paced Steve's with a 591 series and Ceil had a 567 triplicate for Northfield Bowl.

With Fran Altergott of Mundelein firing a 198, Moyle Construction of Carpentersville beat Morton Pontiac by 18 pins. Then Morton got rolling to win the last two easily and maintain its league-leading 861 average. Jo Lindahl of Arlington Heights was three pins over 200 and a fellow townswoman, Pat Proebstle, was three pins under 200 as Morton, representing Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights, totaled 914.

Then Morton Pontiac upped its score to 953 thanks to Jo hitting 216, and ending the night with a 588 series.

RIVER-RAND Bowl of Des Plaines got out of the cellar by taking measure of Ridge Motors of Des Plaines twice. Alice Ulrich of Chicago was the main reason as she rolled the night's high individual series, 599.

Alice posted a 212 opener to give River-Rand a 30 pin margin. River-Rand then won by 54 pins as Joyce Walker and Doris Taylor of Waukegan offset one another with 200's.

Ridge Motors, bowling out of Sims Bowl in Des Plaines, salvaged the final game, 894-866, when Maxine Moehling of Mt. Prospect, having a rough night, found the range for 220. However, teammate Doris Taylor had high series for Ridge Motors, 572.

BOB Players Earn Accolades For Production of 'Annie'

By JIM PHILLIPS

There's something blossoming in the hills of Barrington, and it ain't new "moan" hay. It happens to be the Best - Off Broadway-Players, Inc., who, with the cooperation of Irving Berlin made quite a go of it last weekend via "Annie Get Your Gun."

I found the Sunday performance crisp, professional, and for the most part surprisingly well-handled from orchestra pit to backstage rifle shots.

And I promise not to use the word 'surprisingly' any more.

This is a hard-working gang that can do a job on tough musical material. Of course, there were the usual ups-and-downs during Sunday's run-through. Some of the cues weren't picked up on time, a few blank cartridges proved too blank, and some lines were missed—all these things shouldn't surprise anyone, whether on Broadway (Ethel Merman had her troubles too) or in Barrington.

"ANNIE" is a difficult musical to produce. It takes a lot of time to come up with sets that are striking, yet within cost range of an Off-Broadway group. But. let's take the criticisms in order.

A more perfect pair you'll never find—the leads, that is: Karyl Jacobsen as Annie and George Palmer as Frank Butler. Karyl's voice is as well - suited to gun-slingin' singin' as it is to dialogue delivery. Mr. Palmer is everything a Frank Butler should be. And his voice is full of authority, especially in the he-man-singing category. He carried himself with just the cockiness called for by his part. But when the love scenes were at hand, he was cool, calm and un-hamlike, if there is such a word.

Miss Jacobsen was at her best in the shooting scenes, and the "Anything You Can Do" number with George was the high point of the second act. Her version of "I Got Lost In His Arms" was tender, and really showed she could deliver a ballad when called upon.

THE SUPPORTING players, were for the most part, very capable. Burton Neuner was a very upstanding Sitting Bull. He's got the face and the voice for it! (That is a compliment!)

Ed Joyce was a free-wheeling picture of the oig press agent-manager, the fast-talking Charlie Davenport. George Lee's Pawnee Bill was as pompous as demanded, and Floyd Collins, although he looked more like a Western version of Chris Kringle, came on strong as Buffalo Bill.

There are so many others to give compliments to, I won't even begin the task; suffice to say the children were as good as the grown-ups. Wendell Christine and Mary May were an attractve "secondary lead" couple, although their voices still need work in the singing category. Miss May has a sweet melodical delivery, but lacks the necessary power to go with the vibrato. If she works for the deep breath, she'll get that power. Mr. Christine's voice needs some work in the volume area, too. With effort, there's nothing stopping him from doing a good job in other musicals put on by Best Off Broadway.

ONE OF THE things that can botch up a musical is the orchestra. B.O.B's musicians were excellent, not to mention the director, Remo Chiorgno, who knows a tempo when he hears one. In fact, this is one of the few times I've ever heard the "Show Business" number played "up" and not at a drag. It's a rugged number for the singers when performed at a crisp tempo, and it gave Annie, Frank, Davenport and Buffalo Bill a hard time in spots — but that's the way the violin string snaps. A great deal of credit should be given to scene design and to costumes. This was a gay, colorful "Annie," and the people who worked night and day on the painting and sewing can be very proud of themselves.

The biggest weakness of the show was timing—"Annie" is typical of the American musical—it's put together to be clipped-off at a quick pace. There can be little room for late lines.

A VERY BIG improvement in pace could have been made by introing the orchestra numbers as background for some of the lead-into-the-song lines, instead of out - and - out cues from those lines.

Taking the whole show into consideration—that's just what most of you who missed it should have done. Best Off Broadway Inc. looks like no mere attempt at quality musical theater. This gang of Paddocklanders has scored a point in favor of such happy goings-on. They work feverishly —(I know about those rehearsals in church basements, etc!) and should be rewarded. Go see them. And if you think this is a commercial, you're right. The next production is Jerome Kern's "Showboat," which should keep the musical year on an even keel (OUCH!)

Self-Expression Not Only Reason for Art

By LUCILE ERNST

A few weeks ago I wrote feelingly, or at least tried to, about the importance of awakening an interest in art. I believe I was blunt enough to say we should sell art.

I have been discussing this problem with artists and art educators and I am sorry to say that, aside from a general agreement on how pleasant it would be if everyone were art conscious, there are no two people who can even agree on what art it. It strikes me that it is impossible to sell something if you are this vague about what it is you are trying to sell.

EVERYONE KNOWS that art is self expression, don't they? Is it? A baby screaming at the top of his lungs for lunch is certainly expressing himself. He is even communicating to his harried mother. Communication is considered by some to be within the province of the arts. Are we to equate the squalling of a hungry baby with the writings of Hemingway, the music of Mozart, the paintings of Rembrandt? This would be idiotic. There is a great deal more to art than self expression. There are years of hard work and self discipline. We don't use these words much anymore but there has never been anything accomplished without application of both.

If I were teaching children 50 years ago I would fight like a tiger to use art as a form of self expression. Heaven knows Victorian children needed some form of self expression. They were not allowed to form an opinion, much less express one. All their learning was formal and rigid. I would try and achieve one free avenue of fanciful escape for those restricted children.

Actually, this is just what happened. Children were freed from artificial standards of right and wrong, in art as well as in manners and morals.

Surely I can't be all alone in noticing that children in 1961 are not inhibited? They need art as a form of free self expression about as much as they need another head. There are a few retiring children, bless them, and I can count them on one hand. The biggest problem of our time, as I see it, is to get both children and adults to quit expressing themselves long enough to learn something.

QUITE OFTEN we quote from books which were written 20 years ago by people who did their observing 40 years ago. In the meantime, things have changed.

If the only reason we study art is to express ourselves, there is no reason to study it at all. One form of expression is as valid as another.

For thousands of years there have been standards by which art may be judged. Because these standards became too rigid, not only in art but in social behavior, they were thrown over. In my opinion, we threw the baby out with the bath. Isn't is time we brought the baby back in again? Life or art without standards is as barren and sterile as life or art with nothing but standards.

IT WOULD BE a rare moment in time if we could find a middle ground. Let us give our children the knowledge of 5,000 years of trial and error in art and allow them to be creative. We give them this knowledge in every other field except art. In this particular field we leave them at a cave man level. It is not so strange that most people know nothing of art and couldn't care less. It is downright amazing that so many show any interest at all.

Let us be concerned with art because it teaches us proportion, balance, self discipline, and an acute awareness of the world we live in. After we learn this, we may express ourselves for we have then something worth expressing.

Set Tryouts

Attention actors: Open tryouts for the Village Theatre children's play this season will be held Sunday, Oct. 29, 2 to 5 p.m. at the community room of the bank of Rolling Meadows.

"Grandmother Slyboots," Charlotte B. Chorpenning's version of Little Red Riding Hood, has a cast of seven, including Young Wolf, Old Wolf, Red Riding Hood, Nicholas the woodcutter, Peter, Mother and Grandmother. No children will read at the tryouts.

THERE IS just the right touch of sophistication in the Young Wolf who keeps saying, "I'm not an ordinary wolf," to appeal to children; the secret passwords, the plans of Grandmother Slyboots and Red Riding Hood to outwit the wolf, the hiding, the disguises will enthrall them.

Village Theatre member Harriet Smith will direct the play which will be given three matinee performances December 3 in the Prospect high school.

Spook Show Planned For Oasis Drive-In

A barrel of fun is in store for movie goers Saturday Oct. 28, when a giant Spook-tacular takes place at the Oasis Drive-In theatre at Touhy, Higgins and Elmhurst rds.

For the first time in movie history, an air show and outdoor spectacular is being combined to create a spine-tingling and laugh provoking evening. An invasion from Mars will take place in which a helicopter will throw out weighted ghosts and 50,000 imitation crickets over the cars.

A ground barrage will frighten off the invaders and phosphorous painted skeletons on invisible wires tied from the giant screen all over the grounds will slide up and down over the cars.

TWENTY actors dressed as full grown gorillas, apes, skeletons, ghosts, will pop all over the place trying to scare the wits out of the audience and then make up for it and hand each adult a free mask and a free souvenir package of Oasis Cigarettes.

Each child will receive a free mask and a real pumpkin. To round out the evening, twenty minutes of an old fashioned community sing . .screen slides have been arranged.

Before the show starts at 5:30 p.m., there will be a costume parade for the kiddies between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. A costume contest at 6:45 p.m. with dozens of prizes (free) follows.

THE REGULAR double feature will then be shown and the horror show and invasion of Mars will start at 11:30 p.m. This will be followed by horror movie, a technicolor classic, "Phantom of the Rue Morgue."

The driver of every car with a 13 in the license will be admitted free. All of the occupants in every car with a black cat will be admitted free.

The management of the Oasis has retained a trained nurse for the weak of heart, but promises you an evening filled with thrills and laughs. (Bill

TIGER BAY, a suspense thriller starring John Mills, Horst Buchholz and introducing Hayley Mills, will open at the Catlow theater in Barrington on Friday. Set in one of the most colorful areas in Great Britain, the tumultuous dock section of Cardiff, "Tiger Bay" is a spellbinder involving a murderer, a girl who witnessed his crime and an Inspector dedicated to the law.

Farmers' Outlook

End Soybean Harvest, Yield Disappoi nting

by L. H. SIMERL

The soybean harvest is almost completed in Illinois, but has been a little later than normal in most other states. Acre yields were disappointing in some spots of east-central Illinois and other areas where late summer drought was serious.

The official crop estimate was trimmed slightly on October 10. The crop total was listed at 710 million bushels, or one per cent less than the estimate made a month before. But the new figure is still big by any past standard. It is 27 per cent more than last year and 22 per cent more than the previous record crop harvested three years ago.

Compared with last year, the acreage being harvested this year is up 15 per cent, and the per acre yield is up 7 per cent. Those are national figures.

ILLINOIS, WITH a yield of 29 bushels per acre, is in a four-way tie for top yield. Other states with 29-bushel averages are Iowa, Indiana and Texas.

Illinois farmers produced 160 million bushels of soybeans this year, or 22½ per cent of the nation's crop. With the price figured at $2.20 a bushel, the value of the Illinois crop is 350 million dollars.

On the same basis the national crop is worth about 1,500 million dollars—or 1½ billion. Just 30 years ago there was practically no soybean industry in the United States. The soybean is surely the most important new crop to be developed in the United States in many years.

IN 1960 soybeans ranked an easy fifth among the nation's cash crops. Only wheat, cotton, corn and tobacco brought more money to farm communities. Now soybeans have moved into fourth place, ahead of tobacco, as a money crop. And this has come about with relatively little help from the government in the form of price support.

There was practically no carryover of old soybeans, so the new crop is the total supply. It appears to be large enough to meet all needs for seed, crushing and exports—and still have at least 10 per cent of the crop left over next fall.

The price support for last year's crop was $1.85 a bushel, but farmers sold their beans on the open market and received prices averaging about $2.20. The price support for the 1961 crop has been raised to $2.30 a bushel. Processors and exporters will have to pay near the support level to get beans from farmers.

FARMERS appear to have stored more beans on farms this fall than ever before. This puts them in a good position to bargain with buyers.

If farmers put, say, 20 per cent or more of their beans under price support, the market price would likely rise to several cents over the support level.

The take-over date for any soybeans placed under price support, loans will be June 1, 1962. The selling price for any beans taken over by the CC will be the county support rate plus 16.5 cents a bushel.

Faced with this prospect, buyers seem likely to buy what they need at lower prices even if they have to pay more than the support level. (FM

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

SOMETIMES WHEN WE LOOK at the amount of money we spend for groceries, we get alarmed about the cost of food. Did you ever stop to think just how much the food costs and what the other costs are when we buy prepared or partly prepared food, we pay for factory, labor, management, and other costs, in addition to prices the farmer received for his crops.

We are, of course, buying convenience—freedom from kitchen chores. We also are buying food with less waste, that needs less trimming, sorting, or washing.

Three "ready-to-serve" meals costing $6.70 for a family of four for one day could be prepared in the home kitchen for $4.90, or $1.80 less. But the "ready-to-serve" meals cost the homemaker only 1½ hours of her time, compared with about 5½ hours for the three homecooked meals.

The food cost saving of $1.80 in the three home-cooked meals represent an hourly wage of about 50c for the 4 extra hours of work in preparing them.

Those are the two extremes. Most families use a combination of foods—unprepared, partly prepared, and ready to heat and serve.

Now we pay about $7½ billion a year more than we did in 1940 for the convenience of having some of the work of food preparation transferred from the kitchen to the factory or restaurant, and for more transportation, packaging and processing.

Of every $20 we spend for groceries, we pay from $1.50 to $2 for the packaging that helps to keep food in good condition and attracts our attention.

Packaging costs vary greatly. Sometimes the package may cost as much as the food itself. The trend is toward smaller packages to meet the food needs for one meal, and thus reduce waste.

We expect and enjoy fresh vegetables and fruits all year. Modern refrigeration and transportation ended our seasonal eating habits and provided balanced diets the year around.

The cost of shipping an average-size head of lettuce from California to Boston adds about 5 cents to its selling price. Growers received an average of slightly more than 6 cents a head for lettuce in 1960.

THERE ARE SCORES of danger points on a farm where prize cattle can get seriously injured: a torn flank from a loose piece of barbedwire; a splinter wound in the stall; a rope burn from a loose halter; an injured leg from an old piece of rusted machinery. Prevent injury to your prize cattle by good house-cleaning on your farm. Remove all loose pieces of barbed wire; smooth down rough areas in stalls; remove all broken-down, rusted machinery from your grazing areas. When accident does happen—especially cuts, torn flanks, leg injuries, burns from rope, chemicals or fire—apply petroleum jelly in generous amounts as the breeder is doing in the photo above.

Seek Method to Cut Evaporation

Each acre of Illinois land receives annually from 3,000 to 5,000 tons of water. About 80 per cent of this water returns to the atmosphere, most of it in the form of evaporation.

University of Illinois soil scientists are looking for practical methods to reduce evaporation losses from the soil. Then water would rarely be problem in crop production, since most Illinois soils hold enough water to meet moisture losses through plant leaves, said M. B. Russell, University of Illinois agronomist.

STUDIES AT the University of Illinois show that increasing the number of plants per acre did not greatly affect total water use when there was an ample water supply.

As the plant population increased, transpiration losses—moisture lost from the plant surface—were greater, but they were largely balanced by smaller evaporation losses, explained Russell.

But when the soil surface had been dry for some time, evaporation was already so low that it could not be reduced much more. Increasing the plant population under such conditions increased water use to the point of becoming critical, Russell said.

UNDER NORMAL conditions, 50 per cent or more of the water lost during the growing season is due to evaporation from the soil surface. Cutting down on evaporation would mean more efficient use of both summer rainfall and subsoil-stored water.

Reducing water losses in this manner would spare Illinois farmers some of the moisture management problems that were common in some northwest Illinois areas this summer. (FM

Set Short Course Date at Illinois

February 5 to March 16, 1962, are the dates for the University of Illinois College of Agriculture's Winter Short Course, according to Warren Wessels, assistant to the dean.

The winter short course, to be held on the Urbana campus, offers young farmers an opportunity to attend college classes for six weeks of study, Wessels said. The courses present up-to-date information on farm problems and techniques in a fast-changing agriculture.

Most of the students are young farmers who wish to expand their knowledge about agriculture. Anyone 18 years old or older may apply: ages have ranged up to 65 years. Women also may attend.

BESIDES ATTENDING discussion and laboratory sessions, short course students take part in many campus activities.

Short course costs range from $198 to $238, including tuition, fees, books and supplies, housing and meals.

A number of $100 scholarships are provided by the Illinois Future Farmers of America Foundation and member banks of the Illinois Bankers Association.

Dean Louis B. Howard, College of Agriculture, says: "Our Winter Short Course provides a fine opportunity for young farmers to keep abreast of recent developments in agriculture through 21 interesting and helpful courses."

LAST YEAR'S enrollment of 102 was a sharp increase from 84 in 1960 and 76 in 1959. Forty-four Illinois counties and the state of Pennsylvania were represented at the 1961 Short Course.

For more information, write Warren Wessels, Assistant to the Dean, 104 Mumford Hall, College of Agriculture, Urbana, Illinois. (FM

Pear 'Fire Blight' Cure Being Sought

Plant breeders in the University of Illinois horticulture department continue to fight a relentless battle against fire blight—the scourge of the commercial pear industry.

Because of the disease, it is almost impossible to grow high-quality pears in Illinois on a commercial basis, reports H. C. Barrett, in charge of much of the pear research conducted at he University of Illinois.

At present there is no good chemical control for fire blight, so the only practical method of combating the disease is to grow resistant varieties.

And this is a long-time process, Barrett points out. So far, a variety called Farmingdale—a seedling pear—offers one of the best sources of resistance, but the quality of the fruit is poor, so the variety has no commercial value.

TO ENHANCE the quality of pears and yet combine fire-blight resistance means cross-breeding. More than 10,000 seedlings from 160 controlled crosses have been planted in the orchard and nurseries at Urbana where the most promising types are being selected.

Over 30 selections combining fire blight resistance with desirable fruit and tree characteristics will be observed and tested further, reports Barrett.

As in most research, there is no quick or easy answer. But to date results have been encouraging, and it seems reasonable to expect that fire-blight - resistant, high - quality pears will be grown in Illinois before too many years. (FM

Supply Is Up

Soybean Rate Hinges Upon Government

Higher support prices, a record-sized crop and a huge oil surplus means that soybean prices in the year ahead will greatly depend on government actions, a University of Illinois agricultural economist believes.

T. A. Hieronymus reports that the 1961 feed grain program and a higher support price of $2.30 a bushel have boosted the soybean supply for the coming year about 25 per cent over a year ago.

He feels that the market cannot absorb this many more soybeans in one year with the price support of $2.30.

So the result will be an accumulation of beans in the commodity Credit Corporation stockpile. The amount that the government wants to stockpile will determine what action will be taken to dispose of oil and meal through subsidied export programs.

Here is how Hieronymus appraises the situation for the year ahead:

ANY FORECAST on future soybean prices has many uncertainties. At the present time he assumes that the Berlin situation will remain tense, but no worse.

The total supply beginning October 1 will be about 700 million bushels. Bad weather might change crop conditions somewhat, but that doesn't seem likely.

Any soybeans the CC takes over will be offered for sale next summer at $2.46 ½ bushel for No. 2 soybeans. This is the maximum price. But this price will be reached only if growers forfeit their beans to the CC. This will happen only if beans remain below the loan next spring.

GOVERNMENT programs could involve oil buying to encourage a large crush to avoid a soybean surplus. The real question is the amount of beans the CC wants to hold as a desirable reserve.

Assuming government holdings of about 50 million bushels of soybeans a year from now, the crush could run about 450 million bushels and exports about 155 million bushels.

Considering some increase in demand for meal and the level of livestock and poultry prices, meal could average about $52.85 a ton for bulk 44 per cent meal at Decatur for the marketing year.

SOYBEAN OIL is in surplus. The increased crush of soybeans would release additional oil supplies on a world market already well supplied. But government programs will probably result in higher prices to prevent a soybean surplus from developing.

In terms of seasonal price movement, futures could reach a peak in November or December and decline during the spring months. War would of course change this picture.

Meal buyers, remembering last year, may overbuy during the fall months, and higher prices could reduce use just as last fall a low price stimulated use.

MAJOR BOOSTS in soybean supplies have occurred before as a byproduct of programs for other commodities, particularly in 1954 and 1958. In both years the crop was kept out of serious surplus trouble by a reduction in the support price.

Price supports low enough to avoid accumulation of a surplus have been a vital part of the successful growth of the soybean market in recent years, Hieronymus concludes.

Let us buy your old "Spook" and put you in a new 1962 Buick. You will be pleasantly surprised that you can purchase a 1962 Buick from us for just a few dollars more than it would cost to buy a new '61 elsewhere.

Wheeling Township 1961 Quadrennial Assessment List

REAL ESTATE ASSESSMENT FOR 1961

OFFICIAL ASSESSMENT LIST

This publication list is the official notice to property owners of the 1961 Quadrennial Assessments of Land and Improvements in the Township of Wheeling. The 1961 assessments as published herein are those determined by the assessor of Cook County.

LAND VALUATIONS

The land valuations as set forth are the 1961 appraised full values of land per front foot for all city and suburban lots or per square foot or per acre for industrial and farm lands. The determination of full value of a rectangular lot is obtained by multiplying the unit front foot value of the lot by the number of feet frontage, modified by the shape, depth, corner or other influences which affect any individual lot or tract of land.

BUILDING VALUATIONS

Similar development of sound data and procedures were used in valuing buildings under the conditions as of January 1, 1961. Simplification of the rules and careful revision and application of unit building costs based on sound data, which included determination of reproduction cost (new) of different types of buildings with allowances for age, condition and obsolescence produced equitable and uniform assessment of buildings of all classes.

PROPERTY VALUES

The figures listed herein for the lands and improvements are the assessed full values of such property as of January 1, 1961, as determined by the assessor of Cook County.

It is the duty of the assessor to assess all taxable property on a uniform basis of valuation so that the assessed full values of the various properties are a just and equal assessment of such properties, according to law. The assessment roll recording the values of property determines only the distribution of the total tax load among the individual property owners. The assessor of Cook County has no control over the amount of taxes levied, nor the public expenditures. The amount of these assessed values does not determine the amount of your tax bill. The established tax rate does that. The assessor does not make the rate, he merely finds the value of your property.

PERMANENT REAL ESTATE INDEX NUMBER

The permanent Real Estate Index Number System was designed for the purpose of simplifying the very complex assessing, tax collecting and tax distribution problems in Cook County, Illinois. In this system areas and sub-areas are established. Generally, areas substitute for townships and sub-areas represent sections. These sub-areas are divided into blocks, as follows:

Blocks 100 to 199 are located in N.W. Quarter
Blocks 200 to 299 are located in N.E. Quarter
Blocks 300 to 399 are located in S.W. Quarter
Blocks 400 to 499 are located in S.E. Quarter

INFORMATION ON ASSESSMENTS

Any property owner who has any question in regard to the assessment of his property should inquire at the Office of the Assessor of Cook County, Room 312, in the County Building, Clark, Washington and Randolph Streets, Chicago. Information on the above, as well as the general basis and methods of determining the assessment of the land and improvements thereon will be furnished without cost.

P. J. CULLERTON, ASSESSOR OF COOK COUNTY

"Good thing we saw these bargains advertised in Paddock Publications"

Your Newspaper Is YOUR SHOPPING GUIDE

In newspapers the news of better products and services is as important to today's modern family as that of current events or features concerning home and family, food and fashion, hobbies and health.

For newspapers are the medium by which most people shop. No other medium supplies the variety and detail of advertising by which one may compare prices and benefits and choose the comforts and conveniences that make for a full living standard.

There's much significance in this for local advertisers. For only in the newspaper can people of all age and income groups find the information and inspiration so necessary for good citizenship and for the enjoyment of a better way of life.

And because newspapers gain their friendship and regular readership, newspaper advertisers are provided the most productive medium of communication with customers.
